FBI ALERTED ON JAP ATTACK 10 DAYS BEFORE

Effort to Shield F. D. R. Charged

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—With the opening of the joint congressional inquiry into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor only 48 hours away, individual committee members today brought forth these developments:

1. Representatives Keefe [R., Wis.] and Gearhart [R., Cal.] revealed that J. Edgar Hoover had placed the FBI on a "war imminent" basis on Nov. 27, 1941, 10 days before the Japanese attack.

2. Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] assailed the committee's counsel, former Atty. Gen. William D. Mitchell, for adopting a protective attitude toward the late President Roosevelt. Brewster also blasted Mitchell for selecting an "utterly inadequate" legal staff and said the committee was unprepared to sift the evidence thoroly.

The Keefe-Gearhart revelation was made after the two legislators had interviewed the FBI chief under the authority of the latest Presidential directive permitting individual committee members the right to interview potential witnesses, a privilege they had sought unsuccessfully for weeks before President Truman granted the permission.

After talking to Hoover, Gearhart told reporters:

"If the army and navy had alerted the commanding officers, Gen. Short and Adm. Kimmel, at Pearl Harbor in the manner in which Hoover alerted his men, there would have been no Pearl Harbor disaster. All the information upon which Hoover based his emergency order was available to high authorities in Washington, but they kept Kimmel and Short in ignorance of the impending danger of an attack."

Keefe said Hoover's Nov. 27 order carried the implication that war might break any moment.

Entire FBI Alerted

"It put the entire FBI machinery in Hawaii, in the United States, and everywhere else on an absolute alert," he told reporters. "All leaves were canceled and agents told not to leave their posts or a telephone, where they could be reached for more than 30 minutes at a time.

"It wasn't a request or a suggestion and there were no weasel words in it such as the information being given Short and Kimmel about the same time upon which only an alert against sabotage was ordered. Hoover said he based his order upon several factors, the issuance of the ultimatum to Japan as well as the information possessed by high Washington authorities of Jap intentions as gleaned from decoded messages. His testimony will be highly significant in view of the manner in which the army and navy refrained from giving a similar alert."

Mitchell Fears "Insult"

In his blast at Mitchell, Brewster quoted the committee counsel as refusing to explore a phase of the inquiry affecting Mr. Roosevelt's international operations because it was "an insult" to think the late President would have committed an illegal act.

"That is not exactly an assurance

Give Preview of Nazi Trial; It's Futuristic

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 13—Looking like supermen of the millennium, with clumsy, adjustable earphones and with wires dangling from their heads, men of five nations convened this afternoon in mock session of the international military tribunal. It was the final test of the mechanics for the four language trial of 21 nazi leaders scheduled to open a week from today.

The impression of futurism was enhanced by the telephonic translation device. Speakers in English, French, Russian, or German could be heard in almost instant interpretation talking in any one of the four languages selected with a control key.

For a test a GI sat in the prisoner box where Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop, et al. will hear evidence against them of having waged aggressive war, persecuted races and allied nationals, and committed atrocities against persons and peoples. The evidence will be presented by the winners of World War II., the United States, Great Britain, Russia, and France.

Defense Takes Part

Fifty prosecutors were at their tables in the center of the courtroom for the mock session. On a bench opposite the prisoners' box were four representatives of the tribunal, consisting of an American, Englishman, Russian, and Frenchman. Twenty-four German defense lawyers also participated in the test.

The court tomorrow will decide whether to excuse as a defendant the critically ill Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, 75 year old head of the Krupp munitions works. The American prosecutor, Justice Robert H. Jackson, is asking that Krupp's son, Alfred, 38, president of the Krupp works, be indicted as a substitute. Great Britain, Russia, and France oppose this and it is expected that Gustav Krupp will be tried in absentia.

Won't Ask Postponement

Defense attorneys, including some of Germany's most prominent law professors and lawyers, met with the press this morning. They indicated they would not request any postponement in opening of the trial, but might ask for recesses later to produce defense evidence and rebuttal witnesses, possibly from outside Germany.

The German lawyers, while protesting against the difficulties they are experiencing owing to the tribunal's juridical novelties and rules foreign to German practice, said they expected to obtain justice and hoped the full truth of World War II. would be written for history. Their hope, they said, was founded on their experience to date before various military courts trying atrocity cases.

Hess Only Insanity Case

The attorneys also announced that they did not anticipate any insanity pleas other than a motion already filed in behalf of Rudolf Hess, formerly Hitler's number two favorite who has exhibited amnesia symptoms, real or pretended, since his mysterious parachute jump into Scotland in May, 1941.

The lawyers said that the defense will be "very interesting." The indictment charges crimes against international law, in conspiring and waging aggressive war, and crimes against humanity in mass enslavements and mass murders.

"If you are not in sympathy with the defendants' doctrines whom do you represent then?" asked a New York newspaper woman.

The Germans huddled with their interpreter, Dr. Robert M. Kempner of the American prosecution staff, 15 years ago counsel for the pre-Nazi German police and later professor at the University of Pennsylvania and state department aid in trying spy cases in the United States.

"Their answer," said Kempner, "is that they are performing professional service in the interest of justice and truth. Furthermore, this service is necessary for a tribunal to function in accordance with its charter. They say it is not so important whom they defend as it is that the principles of law shall prevail."

Japs Sue U. S. for Return of Citizenship

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 13 [Special]—Contending they were "victims of duress by the government and seditious groups," nearly 1,000 Japanese at the Tule lake segregation center today filed suits in federal court seeking to regain United States citizenship they charged they were forced to renounce during the war.

United States Atty. Frank Hennessy, named in the suits as a defendant, declared the citizenship renunciations were sworn in when the "Japs thought they were winning." Under a statute enacted a year ago, 4,300 persons of Japanese ancestry renounced their citizenship between January and March of this year.

The suits were filed as the government prepared to start deportation on Thursday of all those who renounced citizenship. Petitioners asked the District court to declare them United States citizens and to grant an injunction to restrain the justice department from deporting them to Japan as aliens.

Charge Duress

Their renunciations were compelled by the government, they declared, under duress that consisted of "unlawful imprisonment in concentration camps for three and a half years, denying citizenship rights by treating males as aliens under the selective service act, and by leading the petitioners to believe the government intended to break up families by deporting alien parents and retaining citizen children."

The government also "knowingly allowed fanatically pro-Japanese groups to carry on a campaign of violence, terrorism and sedition" calculated to "force loyal American citizens to renounce their citizenship," it was charged. The suits named three Japanese nationalistic organizations as "pressure groups" allowed to carry on "criminal activities" against the petitioners.

Authority Questioned

It was also charged that altho the government was without authority to accept citizenship renunciations from minors, the list of those renouncing it includes hundreds of boys and girls between 18 and 21 years.

Atty. Wayne M. Collins of San Francisco, representing the group, said all the petitioners were born in this country. He explained that two separate actions are involved. One is a habeas corpus action charging intimidation by the justice department's Tule lake administrator.

The second is a civil suit attacking constitutionality of the federal law permitting citizen residents in this country to renounce their citizenship during war time.

BODY OF YOUTHFUL WOMAN DISCOVERED IN INDIANA FOREST

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special]—Coroner H. A. Flynn of Porter county said tonight he will attempt by means of a dental examination to identify the body of a young woman found today in a dense woods in Jackson township. An autopsy has been ordered in an effort to determine the cause of death.

The body was located by a posse of deputy sheriffs who had been searching the vicinity for two days following reports by three hunters from Gary, Ind., that they saw the body Saturday. Flynn said the body was badly deteriorated and had apparently been in the woods several weeks or months.

The body was fully clothed and a cardboard box containing clothes was found near by, Flynn said. He said the place was about a quarter of a mile from the nearest dirt road and a mile south of state highway 6.

GIRL DRIVER, 18, INJURED TRYING 'SUICIDE CRASH'

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 13 [Special]—Wanda Colleen Billings, 18, formerly of Chicago, was reported recovering in a hospital here tonight from an attempt to kill herself by crashing her automobile into a downtown building. Police planned to question her tomorrow.

Mrs. Billings drove her car toward the building at 60 miles an hour, police said, but struck and wrecked another car before hitting the building. The first collision slowed the car so that the impact with the building gave her only cuts and bruises. Police said she had been drinking.

Mrs. Billings told hospital attendants she wanted to die because her sweetheart, Herbert Marceau, 22, of 2202 W. 112th st., Chicago, had been killed the previous day in an automobile accident in Kansas City. She had hoped to marry Marceau, she said, altho she has a husband, Dan Billings, now in the navy and on duty abroad.

Haw Haw Asks Right to Appeal to Lords

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Attorneys for William Joyce [Lord Haw Haw] applied today to the attorney general for permission to appeal to the house of lords his sentence to hang for high treason. The house of lords is the last tribunal that could review the sentence.

U. S. Wheat Ship Strikes Mine; Sinks Off Trieste

TRIESTE, Italy, Nov. 13 (AP)—The American Liberty ship Abbot Mills, loaded with 8,500 tons of bulk wheat for troops in Austria, hit a stray mine outside Trieste harbor yesterday and sank while being towed to a wharf. The crew was taken off safely.

Hired to Show Vets That One Leg Is Plenty

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special]—An amputee who can ski, swim, dive, play golf, and ice skate was named today to supervise the rehabilitation program of legless men for the veterans' administration.

He is Walter Bura, 31, who lost his left leg as the result of a diving accident five years ago. A native of West Orange, N. J., he is a resident of Miami, Fla.

Ready to Work

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, acting surgeon general of the veterans' administration, announced Bura's appointment at a news conference. Bura, already consultant to Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army, will take over his new job as soon as he has closed his house in Florida.

Bura's face is known to many wounded veterans, as he acted anonymously the leading role in a movie showing the fundamentals of walking with an artificial leg. Besides being proficient in sports, Bura pilots his own airplane.

Also an Inventor

A graduate of New York university, Bura lost his leg when a poorly timed dive caused the breaking of a blood vessel and subsequent amputation. Taking up engineering after his graduation, Bura invented a device for making machine tools. It made him independent financially.

The new amputee director will have charge of research on artificial limbs. He said he would establish contact with veteran amputees in order to learn their problems and provide corrective measures. He explained that he developed some of his theories by applying engineering principles to the art of balancing on his own artificial leg.

He's Made Up of Bounce, Doctor Says of Truman

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 13 (AP)—President Truman "has a terrific amount of bounce—he's made up of bounce," the President's personal physician, Col. Wallace H. Graham, said today. After six months in office the President's health is "excellent and he has stood the strain of events perhaps better than the average man," Dr. Graham declared in an interview here today.

Old Tanks to Help Put Japan Together Again

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 13 (AP)—The bulldozer is coming to Japan for reconstruction work. Allied headquarters today granted permission to convert 115 old Japanese medium tanks and 50 old armored cars into bulldozers and trash haulers.

ATTLEE SEEKS TO DIM FEARS OF SOCIALISM

Tells Congress Not to Worry

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—As the head of a nation seeking a multi-billion dollar gift or loan from the United States, British Prime Minister Attlee told congress today that his Socialist Labor government is nothing that capitalist America need fear. He sought to make the Socialist regime look almost conservative.

Seeking to allay apprehensions that a loan to Britain's Labor government would underwrite nationalization of industry and promote extinction of private enterprise, Mr. Attlee said that there will be no interference with business unless it gets too big and powerful and monopolistic. Only then, he said, would private enterprise be taken over by the government.

Concerning Economic Systems

He couldn't see why the two countries should not get along with perfect tolerance for each other's economic system—the British proceeding with nationalization of business enterprise and embarking on "all-embracing schemes of social insurance," the Americans continuing in their "more individualistic methods."

The prime minister also sought to disarm criticism of Britain's colonial policies. He said India had been offered self-government and that eight or nine colonies are getting democratic constitutions.

He pictured Britain as pretty well knocked out by the war but determined to get on its feet, and in the next breath, as if thinking of the loan, bespoke the "increasing cooperation and friendship" of the United States. He did not see why there should be an "undue rivalry" commercially between Britain and America in meeting the demands of the world for products that will raise the standards of living. Instead of fighting for larger individual shares of world trade, the two countries, he thought, should collaborate in furnishing the goods and services.

Confers with Keynes

Altho the gift, or loan, was not mentioned, it hovered over the occasion and figured in the negotiations behind the scenes. Mr. Attlee conferred with John Maynard Keynes, ace British economist, who has been here more than two months pressing for American financial aid. The American negotiators have declined an outright gift and proposed instead a 4 billion dollar 50 year loan at nominal interest.

The appearance of Mr. Attlee before a joint session of the senate and house at 11:30 a. m. Chicago time was an interlude in his conference on the disposition of the atom bomb for which he came to Washington. He made but passing reference to the bomb in his address. Speaking of the destruction by the airplane of the sea power

ARRIVAL OF HITLER'S ARMORED TRAIN AT BOSTON REVEALED

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP)—Hitler's armored train, on which he made many spectacular trips while the Nazis gobbled up Europe, is in Boston aboard the Liberty freighter Wallace Tyler.

The vessel arrived here Saturday with a small body of troops from Antwerp, but presence of the train aboard the craft did not become known until tonight.

Army spokesmen were not available immediately, but a ship's officer who insisted on anonymity confirmed that the train had come here. He said he did not know the purpose for which it was brought to this country. The train consists of two diesel locomotives and four cars which are crated on the deck of the ship.

Rival Stabbed to Death in Sister's Home

John [Jinks] Taubery, 16, of 1456 W. 18th st., who was charged with the murder of Charles Dryden, 14, of 2919 Quinn st., in a fight over a girl, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of manslaughter. He was sentenced by Judge Leonard C. Reid in Criminal court to 10 to 14 years in the penitentiary.

Dryden's mother, Frances, and his sister, Mrs. Catherine Brudnicki, in whose home at 3150 S. Green st. the fight occurred and Dryden was stabbed to death, consented to the court arrangement between defense counsel and the state by which Taubery escaped prosecution on the murder charge.

Defense Offers Compromise

"All I lived for was Charles and all I want is to have him back," Mrs. Dryden said. "His two older brothers might give trouble when they get back from the army."

The manslaughter plea was proposed by Taubery's attorney, Thaddeus C. Toudor, and was recommended to the court by Assistant State's Attorneys Alex Napoli and William Brumlik.

Napoli and Brumlik said the plea would be a satisfactory disposition of the case in view of the "undependability" of the state's principal witness, Dorothy [Betty] Albrecht, 15, of 1837 S. Loomis st., whom Dryden defended with his life against Taubery's advances.

Girl Joins Slayer's Family

Miss Albrecht, a high school sophomore, originally told police that Taubery attempted to rape her when she was caring for Mrs. Brudnicki's three children, and that Dryden defended her. She disappeared from her home Oct. 28, and when she returned Oct. 31 from the home of a sister in Warren, O., she told Brumlik that she loved Taubery. She said she also loved Dryden.

In court she sat with Taubery's family, and a group of high school bobby socks girls sat in the rear rows, prepared to hear the trial that never developed.

U. S. WILL PERMIT BUSINESS MEN TO VISIT GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 13—Germany will be opened for American business men on Dec. 1, the USFET [United States forces, European theater] said today in relaying a Washington, D. C., directive. The military government in the American zone was informed that the state department will issue passports and visas for an average of 100 civilians a month.

The business men will be entitled to transportation, billets, mess privileges, finance operations, post exchange, and all other facilities available for officers.

Priority will be given to representatives of firms formerly having business interests in the reich. The next category will be for firms not hitherto represented in Germany but desirous of investigating market conditions.

21 HOUR TRIP OPENS WEEKLY EUROPEAN RUN

Chicago Becomes World Port

BY WARD WALKER

Chicago to Europe air service on regular schedule will start from Chicago airport at 9:45 a. m. next Monday.

As the wheels of the giant American Airlines' Flagship Chicago lift from the field, a new era of world communication will come into being. Classed as the logical transportation hub of the world, Chicago will be within one day's flying time of the capitals of Europe.

This one step, long-planned and brought to fruition by war time experiences in the battle areas, will eliminate the "land locked" label from Chicagoland, the world's most productive area.

First Step in Program

This initial flight, which will land in London Tuesday at 12:50 p. m. [London time], a total elapsed time of 21 hours and five minutes, will be the first step in an air expansion program that soon will include Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Russia, Poland, Germany, and Holland. Plans are also under way for flights to the orient.

The announcement of the service was made last night by Harold R. Harris, vice president and general manager of American Overseas Airlines, Inc., part of American Airlines, at a press conference in the Drake hotel.

"Chicago is the world center of aviation," Harris said. "Chicago is now next door to the other great cities of the world. It is the first city not on the seacoast to be linked directly with foreign lands."

Beyond all Expectations

Harris said that only a little more than 10 years ago the air lines were scurrying to meet their pay rolls.

"At that time," he said, "even we in the business couldn't envision this — giant planes, international service, complete travel comfort, and a safety record of which a horse and buggy could be proud."

The Flagship Chicago, a new four motored commercial version of the C-54 Skymaster, which proved itself in every theater of war, including the hazardous Hump operation in India, will be christened at Chicago airport Sunday.

Until the service is expanded, the flights will be made on a weekly basis—from Chicago Monday, into London Tuesday, and back to Chicago on Wednesday.

Will Fly Circle Course

Flagship Chicago will fly a great circle course directly to Gander, Newfoundland, for a refueling stop. Gander, on the northeast tip of Newfoundland, is in the center of a flat, spruce covered area with lakes. It is 25 miles from the ocean and during the war was the takeoff spot for bombers being ferried to England. The plane will cover the 1,740 miles to Gander in 7 hours and 45 minutes, landing at 9 p. m., Newfoundland time.

After a 45 minute stopover, the plane will head for Shannon airport, Rineanna, Eire, 1,973 miles and 9 hours and 40 minutes away.

This airport, which like that at Gander has two 6,000 foot runways, was built recently by the Irish in a bid for international traffic. It lies in the center of a flat, marshy area where planes can approach at altitudes as low as 50 feet.

First Leg of Flight

From Shannon field, it is but 347 miles and 2 hours and 10 minutes to London.

On the initial leg of the hop the flagship will fly over Detroit, Montreal, Millnocket, Me., Prince Edward Island, and then to Gander.

Harris described the ship as follows:

With a 68,000 pound load its present maximum, the Flagship Chicago will cruise at 223 miles an hour, with a normal rated top speed of 273 miles an hour at 10,000 feet. Its four Pratt Whitney engines develop a total of 8,000 horse power.

All of the flagships in overseas service will carry a crew of seven —captain, first officer, navigator, radio operator, flight engineer, purser, and a stewardess.

The first flagships will carry 20 passengers in four rows of seats, two on each side of the center aisle. These seats, like those of a luxury train, are reclinable and may be turned 180 degrees.

Will Serve Meals

On the trip to London, luncheon and dinner will be served the first day and breakfast will be served the next morning—all prepared on an electric grill in a tiny galley.

Tables, complete with linens, silver service and wine glasses, will be set in the aisle. Pasengers will be served either manhattans, martinis, or dry sherry wine, and on all flights these will be on the air line, with a limit of two to each passenger.

The first month's menus are being prepared by the chef of the Ambassador East's Pump Room and will include fresh vegetables, cooked in a pressure oven, and steaks grilled on the electric range.

There is a smoking room, complete with wash basins, and two toilets. Since the plane will fly at moderate levels, the cabin is not under pressure. The heat can be controled by the stewardess for passenger comfort.

Smooth Flight Assured

Air line officials said that flight crews of both American Airlines, Inc., and American Overseas Airlines, Inc., have worked overseas flights to a precise smoothness formerly thought impossible. The organization's crews have made more than 10,000 round trips across the Atlantic in the same type plane, without "dunking" a cargo, or losing a passenger.

Those flights, made during the war, were under the command of the army's air transport and the naval air transport service.

One way passage to London will cost $605, to Shannon airport $558, and to Gander, $143. Round trip to London, the fare will be $1,089, a 10 per cent reduction. No provision is made for half fares for children.

Passengers contemplating the flight are warned that they need passports and visas, which require from five to eight weeks to obtain.

Temporary Offices Open

Temporary offices for customs, immigration, public health and the department of agriculture have been installed at the American Airlines hangar, 4848 W. 63d st., the point of origin for the company's international flights. Permanent offices will be included in the new passenger terminal to be built at Chicago airport, Harris said, and also will be in the city's new airport, now under consideration.

Pilots who have flown the route for American during the war said the air over the North Atlantic is the smoothest in the world. They explained that in the north reaches, the cold air moving southward does not reach heat waves and turbulence until it is farther south, in the vicinity of Bermuda.

Most Modern Equipment

All modern equipment, developed during the war, is in operation at the air fields en route, including radio beams for landing.

"While this is the first, the biggest step forward in international commercial aviation," Harris said, "we will soon have bigger, faster airplanes in service. In fact, soon we'll be able to boast of 11 hour service to Europe."

He said he has a "very real expectation" of jet assisted flights in the immediate future and said that free competition over the air routes will insure rapid progress.

At present, the airline is not emphasizing the cargo carrying capacity of its planes because of the tremendous demand for passenger service.

However, Harris added that planes carrying nothing but frate could be expected.

"Chicago has quite a stake in this operation," he added. "The airplanes we're using are built here, the arrangements for international flights were made here, and the Chicago area has more to sell the world than any other area.

"This will open new vistas for our business men."

ALLIED COUNCIL GETS CHICAGO'S INVITATION FOR HEADQUARTERS

Corporation Counsel Hodes yesterday received a cablegram stating that Chicago's invitation to the allied nations organization to locate its permanent headquarters here has been received by the executive committee of the international group. Brochures illustrating Chicago's advantages are expected to reach London today.

Hodes said that he has asked Paul Gerhardt Jr., building commissioner, to appoint a committee of leading architects to arrange for a request to world famous architects to plan buildings for the headquarters in the event Chicago is chosen. The council will be asked to approve a prize for the winning designs, Hodes added.

Hodes, Leverett Lyon, Curtis MacDougall, and William L. McFetridge, four members of a five man committee to present Chicago's plea to the allied nations group, will leave New York Thursday to fly to London. James M. Cleary, the fifth member, will fly to London Monday.

N.Y. TO BUFFALO ROAD BUILDING TO BEGIN SOON

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13 [Special]—Gov. Dewey announced here tonight that construction of the $202,000,000 thru-way from New York City to Buffalo will start next spring. While making it clear no final decision has been reached as to whether the super-highway will be financed directly by the state or thru the imposition of tolls the governor indicated that the toll method is preferred.

The announcement was made in a speech before the Buffalo City Planning association.

The thru-way has been planned as an express highway, with opposing lanes of traffic separated and no crossings at grade. It will start in New York City, run up the west bank of the Hudson to a point near Albany, then turn west thru central New York, by-passing the large cities to Buffalo.

TRUMAN NAMES NEW CHEMICAL WARFARE CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—President Truman today nominated Brig. Gen. Alden Harry Waitt for chief of the chemical warfare service, with the rank of major general. Gen. Waitt will succeed Maj. Gen. William Nicholas Porter.

The President also nominated Rear Admiral Oswald S. Colclough to be judge advocate general of the navy.

Waitt, 52, of Orlando, Fla., has devoted virtually all his 28 years in the army to chemical warfare study. A gas warfare officer overseas in 1918, Waitt has been in the office of the chief of chemical warfare since October, 1942.

Adm. Colclough succeeds Rear Adm. Thomas L. Gatch, who has been assigned duty as commander, service force, Atlantic fleet. Adm. Colclough has been assistant to the judge advocate general since August. His home is Catasauqua, Pa.

More Potency Seen

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Alden H. Waitt today predicted toxic agents for military use "thousands of times more powerful than any we know today."

Waitt said in an interview the army was concerned with developing "more effective smoke agents over large areas for the protection of cities."

CHINESE REDS TRIED TO GET JAP ARMS—HURLEY

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 13 (AP)—Chinese Communists attempted to "set up a separate government in China or to destroy the government of the republic of China" by obtaining arms from surrendering Japanese, Patrick J. Hurley, United States ambassador to China said in a statement here tonight.

Commending America's assistance in disarming the Japanese army, Hurley asserted, "the Communist armed party attempted to have part of the Japanese army surrender to them. The purpose of this was to procure Japanese arms . . . to attempt to set up a separate government in China or to destroy the government of the republic of China.

"It would assure prolonging civil war in China if the united nations permitted the Japanese to surrender or transfer their arms to war lords, bandit organizations, or to any armed political party," the ambassador's statement declared.

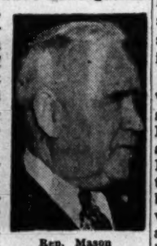
SEEKS TO FREE NEWS GROUPS OF TRUST SHACKLES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—A bill to exempt coöperative news gathering agencies, such as the Asciated Press, from the operations of federal anti-trust laws was offered in the house today by Rep. Mason [R., Ill.]



Rep. Mason

Mason told reporters the purpose of his measure is to nullify a United States Supreme court decision last June holding that the Associated Press by-laws governing admission of new members are in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The court directed the AP to amend its by-laws to relax the requirements for admission of new members.

Suit Backed by F. D. R.

The decision was handed down in a suit brought by the federal government against the AP after Marshall Field had sought unsuccessfully to get an AP franchise for his Chicago Sun. The late President Roosevelt ordered the case instituted to aid Field's effort.

Mason's proposed bill would amend the Sherman act as follows:

"For purposes of this act, the ordinary and usual operations and activities of mutual news gathering coöperatives shall not be considered to be in restraint of, or to monopolize" trade or commerce.

Necessitated by Suit

"This change in the anti-trust laws is made necessary by the Marshall Field inspired suit against the AP," Mason told a reporter. "The courts have rendered their decision in the case and have done their duty as they see it.

"It must be clear to congress now, however, that a law intended to protect the people against monopoly has a result never intended when it is applied to a mutual news gathering coöperative such as the AP. Hence, I have introduced this amendment."

Mason said he will elaborate on his views and his proposed bill in a speech to the house tomorrow.

PILOT AL, AGED 6, LANDS PLANE LIKE A VETERAN

Al Bennett Jr., 6, first grade pupil of Middletown, O., landed a light two seater plane at Chicago airport yesterday on the final lap of his "paper route."

Al flew here, accompanied by his father, to make the last deliveries of a new children's magazine. He had flown other copies from Middletown to Fort Wayne, Ind., Monday.

Bennett Sr., an experienced pilot, has been giving his son lessons for about a year. Still too young to read, Al has his father tell him what the instruments show.

The plane came to a three point landing and the youngster emerged beaming. The only concession to his youth in the plane were extensions of the rudder pedals and a couple of soft pillows on the seat.

EXPECT TYLER KENT TO BE SENT HOME BY BRITAIN NEXT WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 13—Tyler Kent will be en route to the United States early next week, it was believed here today. The authorities handling Kent's deportation said the ship on which he is scheduled to sail is now loading and will be ready in a few days.

The American embassy said no word had been received from the state department in answer to Kent's plea, filed almost two weeks ago, that his country free him from British detention pending deportation. Kent's prison term, imposed by a British court in May, 1940, for violating the British official secrets act while working as a code clerk in the American embassy here, expired Oct. 9.

British officials denied a report circulating here last week that Kent could go home any time he is able to provide transportation for himself. They insisted he will have to be deported in the regular manner, meaning he will remain in official custody until he passes beyond the three mile limit off the British coast.

AMERICAN CITY OFFICIALS OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

Reconversion problems faced by municipalities will be studied by more than 500 city officials from all parts of the country at the 22d annual meeting of the American Municipal association, which begins three days of sessions in the Congress hotel today.

The association's program will deal with unemployment, housing, surplus property, intergovernmental coöperation, public works, airports, and streets and highways.

The sessions will be opened with addresses by Mayor Kelly, Mayor Wilson W. Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., president of the association, and Mayor Robert H. Saunders of Toronto, Ont., president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. "The Importance of Information" will be discussed by Elmo Roper, director of the Fortune Survey of Public Opinion.

John B. Blandford Jr., national housing administrator; Harold D. Smith, director of the budget, and Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator, will attend the conference.

Rosenman Will Retire as Aid to President

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—(AP)—Judge Samuel I. Rosenman will retire at the end of the year as special counsel to the President, the White House announced today. Presidential Secretary Hassett said at a press conference that Rosenman, who left a $25,000-a-year post on the New York State Supreme court, has been anxious to retire for some months to resume the practice of law.

HOLDS CHILDREN ARE UNWELCOME AT SANITARIUM

It is difficult to get children with tuberculosis admitted to the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, and this is particularly true as regards Negro children, Dr. Arthur H. Parmelee, chief of staff, children's division, Cook county hospital, told a conference on control of tuberculosis in the metropolitan area last evening in the Palmer House.

Dr. Parmelee charged also that the follow-up work, which is the responsibility of the sanitarium, is not prompt, nor is it thoro in respect to case finding in the homes of children reported, and in respect to instructions for the protection of other members of the family.

"Tuberculosis in an infant or a young child means more than just the illness of that child," he said. "Its implications constitute a major public health problem. "It means that the infected child must be removed from that environment in order to prevent frequent reinfections which would make his recovery almost impossible."

ARMY STILL HAS 38,000 TROOPS IN NORTH AFRICA

They're Stuck with Many Cleanup Jobs

BY WILLIAM STRAND
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—The United States still has nearly 38,000 men scattered across North Africa and 9,000 men in Brazil manning posts far away from any of the war's latter day battlefields, inquiry disclosed today.

The army insists that the presence of these troops in the backwash of war is necessary to perform myriad cleaning up tasks and to handle supply and maintenance problems for the various headquarters units and the air transport command.

Speedy Reductions Claimed

These distant garrisons are being reduced as speedily as possible, said the war department. At the peak of the European war, men assigned to permanent establishments in Africa from Marrakech to Cairo numbered nearly 500,000. In Brazil, according to the department, the figure was never so large, altho there was a heavy concentration of ground and air units along the South American coast until after the victories in Africa and Sicily which ended any designs the enemy might have had upon South America.

In Africa the men remaining are largely service troops detailed to the salvaging and evacuation of American ordnance and other supplies. They are collecting ammunition and field equipment which was dispersed in supply dumps across the northern half of the continent. Other items, which the nation intends to save, include those being taken back to Africa from Europe, or those which were on the way but never got to Europe because of the end of the war.

Guards for Prisoners

There are also prisoner of war camps containing both Italians and Germans which have to be guarded and maintained, while other Americans are assigned to skeleton organizations of the base command units which are supervising the service activities.

As in Brazil, a large proportion of the men in Africa is accounted for by the operations of the air transport command across that continent, composing a vital link in the ATC's globe girdling routes. Theirs is the job of maintaining air fields in Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, and the middle east, servicing planes, and handling all ATC supplies.

The 9,000 men in Brazil are concentrated largely at bases in Belem, Natal, and Recife which occupy important positions in the ATC system. Brazil already has taken over one of the war time ATC bases and presumably will receive the others from the United States as soon as the native authorities signify their readiness to assume responsibility for operating the establishments.

LEGION TO GIVE IKE AND NIMITZ ROARING HELLO

American Legion officials, preparing to open their four day national convention in the Coliseum Sunday, yesterday began to formulate plans for a roaring welcome for Adm. Nimitz and Gen. Eisenhower.

However, plans for a Victory day parade originally scheduled for Tuesday, the day of Gen. Eisenhower's arrival, were abandoned last night when the war department informed the Legion the general's commitments while in Chicago would not permit him to participate in the parade.

Gen. Eisenhower will hold a press conference in the Presidential suite of the Blackstone at 2 p. m. Tuesday and will speak at a dinner for distinguished guests to be given that night by Edward N. Scheiberling, the Legion's national commander.

American Legion political thinkers agreed yesterday that John Stelle, former governor of Illinois, is an overwhelming favorite for the post of national commander.

CHARGES BRITISH ASK POLES TO PAY FOR BOMBS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 13—Poland and Britain are in dispute over who is going to pay the war bill for the Polish army overseas. Wincenty Rzymowski, Polish foreign minister, today asserted the British demand payment for Polish army equipment and weapons included every bomb Polish air men dropped on Berlin.

Another sore point is repatriation of soldiers to Poland, Rzymowski said. He blamed officers in the Polish army, who he charged were "enemies" of the present political regime in Poland. Rzymowski charged these officers are exerting pressure on the men to keep them from voting in favor of going home. He admitted that only 23,000 of the Polish troops in Britain have voted to return to Poland but charged the small number was due to pressure frmo their officers.

Rzymowski said those Poles who did not want to return home were the problem of British authorities and that his government was not going to attempt to force any one to return.

Five Make Trip

Two Carter Harrisons and three Oscar Mayers left Chicago yesterday by train for Grand Island, Mich., for a week's warfare against the deer population of that section of Michigan's forests. The elder members of the hunting party, Carter Harrison Sr., 85, and Oscar Mayer Sr., 86, have made annual forays against the deer since 1909. In recent years they have been accompanied by Carter Harrison II., 54, Oscar Mayer Jr., 57, and Oscar Mayer III., 26.

John E. Traeger Sr., member of the jury commissioners, was honored yesterday on his 87th birthday at a luncheon at Schlogl's restaurant, 37 N. Wells st. The affair was attended by his friends and city and county employes and officials. Traeger, who lives at 921 W. 54th pl., is a former sheriff and treasurer of Cook county.

WERMUTH RESTS IN HOUSE WIFE BOUGHT FOR HIM

Traverse City, Mich., Nov. 13—(AP)—Maj. Arthur Wermuth, who won fame as the "one man army of Bataan," was just a happy husband getting used to his new home today.

Wermuth arrived here Sunday after liberation from a Japanese prison camp, but few of his townsfolk recognized him as he strolled with his wife, Jean, towards the home she bought while he was imprisoned.

Mrs. Wermuth told newsmen that the major had always admired the "tiny dream cottage" on Traverse bay and she saved his allotment checks and her earnings as a nurse to purchase the home. Maj. Wermuth, credited with killing 116 Japs during the bitter Bataan battle, will spend a few days here before entering an army hospital for a minor operation.

TAX COLLECTOR'S FILES WRECKED; 1,250,000 CLEWS!

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 [Special]—W. Frank Marshall, receiver of taxes, blamed "disgruntled taxpayers" today as he surveyed the scattered wage tax records of 1,250,000 taxpayers in his office.

His office's record rooms, located on the 10th and 11th floors of an office building near the city hall, were entered by vandals during the Armistice day double holiday, and records were pulled from filing cases and strewn over the floors.

The Philadelphia wage tax is a tax of 1 per cent on the wages of all persons who work in the city, regardless of where they live, and on the wages of all Philadelphia residents who work outside the city.

"If disgruntled taxpayers did it, we've got a million and a quarter suspects," one police official commented.

BROOKS ASSAILS NAVY FAILURE TO BRING VETS BACK

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] today criticized the navy for laying up fighting ships while high point army veterans wait on Pacific islands for transport home. All available craft should be used to speed the return of veterans, he said.

Brooks' criticism came at a meeting of the senate naval affairs committee, at which navy officials were questioned about delays in bringing veterans home. It was called after Sen. Robertson [R., Wyo.] had introduced a senate resolution proposing an investigation of the subject.

Rear Adm. William Callahan, assistant chief of navy transportation, told the committee today that use of all the navy's vessels to bring war veterans home would delay the navy's demobilization plans. Further, he said, many types of fighting vessels would have to be converted for troop carrying.

Conversion Urged

"Congress is being asked," Brooks said, "to appropriate money for berths at which inactive navy vessels can be laid up. Why not convert them for carrying troops and lay them up later? I question whether we should lay up any ships while men sit around and wait for transport home."

"That is not a responsibility of my division," said Callahan. "We are responsible for operating vessels assigned to us."

"The whole trouble is that every question is divided up," said Brooks. "No one seems to have the entire responsibility for anything."

Robertson said most of the complaints received by members of congress about delays seem to indicate the responsibility lay with area commanders, who designate the men and units to be returned home.

System Termed Haphazard

Agreeing with Robertson, Chairman Walsh [D., Mass.] said that loading troops for return home was "haphazard instead of systematic."

Asked about converting Liberty ships to troop carrying, Callahan said the navy was opposed to it because of their lack of sanitary facilities for large groups of men and the time necessary for converting.

Callahan told the committee 4,443,000 army, navy, marine, and coast guard veterans would have been brought home by June, 1946, and by that date no veterans eligible for discharge would be left overseas.

"Why not move the date up to February by using all available naval vessels?" asked Brooks.

Callahan said use of all navy ships would halt navy demobilization.

81 EX-YANKS BEGIN POLICE DUTY TODAY AS CROSSING GUARDS

Eighty-one returned service men have been graduated from the police training school and will begin their work as probationary patrolmen today with crossing duty, Commissioner Allman announced last night.

They will have all the authority of policemen and should be obeyed, Allman said, even tho few will wear uniforms because of the scarcity of such apparel. All will wear regulation caps and shields, and some will be armed. They will report to their assigned districts.

A special police examining board is passing on applicants for the 200 appointments of temporary patrolmen recently authorized.

ENFORCE PEACE WITH THE ATOM, SENATOR'S PLAN

Do It Now and Do It Alone, Johnson Urges

Germans Volunteer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 13 (AP)—An official American army spokesman said today 90 German scientists, including experts on atomic energy and rockets, were being taken to the United States.

"They all volunteered and will be paid a very moderate salary," he said.

The men, not identified, are listed as in "protective custody" rather than as prisoners of war.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.] urged today that the United States take steps to enforce world peace, "now and alone." The atomic bomb, he said, had given this nation the power to do so.

The acting chairman of the military affairs committee told an interviewer that the only defense against an atomic bomb is an atomic bomb.

"It is our opportunity to compel mankind to adopt a policy of lasting peace or be burnt to a crisp," he said. "This is a terrifying responsibility but we ought to assume it at once and alone. To share it means watering it down with compromises."

Details of Plan

Johnson's plan for maintaining world peace involves the use of long-range bombers carrying atomic bombs, and a horse-shoe shaped string of bases curving up from the Philippines to Alaska, east to Iceland, and down thru the Azores to Dakar and the South Atlantic.

The air force already has blueprinted planes with a 10,000 mile range, he said. From the bases he outlined, they would bomb any point in the world.

"I believe we ought to work for a world organization and for world understanding," he said. "But I think we ought to work for this first. Only when we get this system of far-flung air bases will we be ready to talk turkey with the rest of the earth."

"Fulfilling Commitments"

Johnson, a member of the special senate committee on atomic energy and sponsor of one of the domestic control bills referred to that group, said the United States was always being told it should "fulfill its commitments" to maintain peace in the world.

"This is the realistic way to fulfill those commitments," he said.

Johnson said that the United States of course had no monopoly on virtue. But he recalled that the nation has fought two world wars with no anticipation of material rewards, and predicted that the peace-loving nations would applaud an American decision to use the bomb to prevent future conflicts.

"With vision, and guts, and plenty of atomic bombs, ultra modern planes, and strategically located bases, the United States can outlaw wars of aggression," he declared.

THREE DIE ON CROSSING

Jonesboro, Ill., Nov. 13 [AP]—Three persons were killed today in a collision between their automobile, which was pushing a stalled car, and a Gulf, Mobile and Ohio passenger train. The dead were Claud Winn, 35; Robert Carter, 16, and Edward Eugene Winn, 5, all of Elco, Ill.

BUSTER, THE TOM CAT, DIES WITHOUT WILL FOR $40,000 ESTATE

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13 (AP)—Buster, the Tom cat which was willed $40,000 last year to care for him in his declining years, was dead today, leaving a problem for lawyers to settle for Buster left no will. The late Woodbury Rand, Boston attorney who died in July, 1944, left the sum to Buster, at the same time cutting off several relatives because of what he termed "their cruelty to my cat." He also left $4,000 a year to Mrs. Margaret T. Thompson, his former housekeeper, for the cat's care. Several relatives indicated after filing of the will that they would take legal action.

Spikes Report Churchill Will Be Flandin Witness

PARIS, Nov. 13 [Reuters]—Andre Mornet, prosecutor of Pierre Laval, today denied a report that Winston Churchill would be called to testify in the trial of Pierre Flandin, Vichy foreign minister.

1,500 NAVY MEN RIOT IN HAWAII; FIFTY ARRESTED

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 13 (AP)—Inflamed, police said, by a groundless rumor that two sailors had been killed by Damon [civilian] housing area residents, 1,500 navy officers and men rioted three hours at the tract last night.

Two automobiles were overturned, a motorcycle was damaged and windows were smashed by the club wielding navy men. Police said no one was injured seriously, but Joseph Gutheridge, 75, died of a heart attack while watching the rampage.

"Tired Seeing Buddies Beaten"

Detective Capt. Eugene Kennedy said many of the 50 navy men detained by police explained they were enraged "because we are damned sick and tired of seeing our buddies get beaten by local toughies and not a damned thing is done about it."

The only navy officer identified among the arrested personnel was Lt. Blair Coleman, junior officer of the day, who was turned over to Lt. Jack Crain, former Texas university football star and senior officer of the day at the naval air station, for action by the navy.

All the navy men detained were turned over to 14th naval district authorities for discipline.

Kennedy said the immediate cause of the demonstration was a rumor, later proved false, that two sailors had been killed by Damon tract civilians.

Chief Blames Navy

Police Chief William A. Gabrielson late today insisted the riot would not have occurred if the navy had coöperated the way they said they would."

Gabrielson and Kennedy said the last report they had received from the navy that its personnel were being attacked by civilians was made Sept. 9.

"Navy officers knew there was going to be a disturbance at the Damon tract and did not give us advance information," asserted Kennedy.

Police said the demonstrators were armed with clubs, knives, and rocks.

Kennedy said he and Gabrielson conferred with the commandant of the 14th naval district and agreed to increase the police patrol at the Damon tract until the navy is able to handle the situation.

Officer Blames Police

Lt. R. M. Singer, naval air station public relations officer, in a statement blamed the police for the disturbance, charging that in the last two months more than 30 NAS personnel had been beaten but that Honolulu police had not arrested a single offender.

The assaults took place especially when civilian girls rode in jeeps with sailors or officers, Singer said. Most of the trouble was caused by civilian juveniles, 16 to 18 years old, who operated in groups of six or more and carried metal rods and clubs, he added.

Nimitz Gives Up Control of British Pacific Fleet

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Nov. 13 (AP)—The British Pacific fleet, which has been operating under the control of Adm. Nimitz, commander in chief of the United States Pacific fleet, now will revert to the control of the British admiralty, navy headquarters announced today. Nimitz messaged Adm. Bruce Fraser, the British fleet commander, his appreciation for the loyalty and coöperation of the British force.

KOREANS FORM NEW PARTY IN AMERICAN ZONE

Underground Idol Heads Organization

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 13 (AP)—Several hundred delegates from American occupied southern Korea, including many whose fervent patriotism was nourished underground during Japanese oppression, jampacked a Seoul church yesterday and organized the new People's party.

An offshoot of the so-called People's republic, which was formed hastily just before American troops landed in Korea in September, the new party framed a liberal platform and elected a long time Korean underground idol, Woon Hyung Lyuah, as its head.

Lyuah, in an address, urged unification of the people, coöperation with the American military government, equal rights for women, and:

1. Government seizure of land held by Japanese and wealthy Koreans, who allowed peasant tenants one-third of the crops. AMG allows the farmers to keep two-thirds.

2. Abolition of privileged classes and special privileges for a few wealthy land owners and industrial families.

Tell of Jap Terrorism

From the well educated Lyuah and his devout followers came a story of Japanese terrorism, domination, and unyielding attitude toward the emotional Koreans.

Lyuah himself was imprisoned at hard labor nearly four years. It is significant that his hold on the people is so great that Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, Japanese governor general of Korea, asked Lyuah, immediately after the Japanese surrender, to urge Koreans to calm conduct preceding arrival of American occupation forces.

Lyuah, an admirer and friend of Dr. Syngman Rhee, self-appointed "president" of the Korean provisional government abroad, retired to the sidelines when Rhee returned after 33 years in exile and attempted to unify the country's many factions.

Fear Exile's Failure

Lyuah's ardent followers said they sincerely hoped that Rhee's efforts would prove successful, but others fear that he was away from Korea too long. They express criticism that he was not sufficiently attentive to the activities of younger and more liberal Koreans.

It is these enthusiastic, independent minded people who formed the Peoples' republic. Lyuah pointed out that many were among the more than 2,000 he personally helped free from the Seoul jail.

Allied military decisions during the war were made after "laying all the cards on the table," Air Marshal Arthur Tedder of Britain told 300 members and guests of the English Speaking union in the Congress hotel last night.

"Did the Russians put their cards on the table?" asked a woman in the audience. "Yes, in those things that were particularly military," Marshal Tedder replied. He praised Gen. Eisenhower as "not merely a great gentleman, but a great commander" because of his ability in handling "prima donnas."

Brig. Gen. John T. Pierce, commandant at Fort Sheridan, and Brig. Gen. Thatcher, army air forces aid to the Tedder party, were among the guests.

Helium Found in Russian Gas Well, Magazine Says

DEAN SAYS ATOM PARLEYS DEEPEN RED SUSPICIONS

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, said today of British Prime Minister Attlee's reported suggestion that Russia be given atomic bomb information under certain conditions: "It could be interpreted as using the atomic bomb as fever-pitch suspicion of the United States and Great Britain.

The dean, interviewed at New York airport en route to Washington, D. C., did not elaborate on the statement. He arrived earlier today by train from Presque Isle, Me., where his plane from England was forced down yesterday. He wore a cross set with diamonds, which was given to him by Patriarch Alexei of the Russian Orthodox church.

He said recent discussions of the atomic bomb will accentuate Russage politically."

"They will feel they are not to be trusted with it," he said. He suggested that if the positions were reversed, the reaction outside Russia also would be reversed.

Extra Rations to Be Gift for Britons on Christmas

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—British Minister of Food Ben Smith said tonight that tightly rationed Britons would get a "Christmas gift" in the form of larger food allotments in late December. The "bonus" will consist of a pound of sugar, sixpence [12 cents] worth of meat, fourpence [8 cents] worth of corned beef, a quarter of a pound of candy, and a double ration of butter.

FILIPINOS VOICE SUPPORT OF JAVA FREEDOM MOVES

Urge Dutch to Consider America's Course

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 13—Some groups of Filipinos strongly favor Indonesians in their current battle for independence against Dutch and British troops.

Numerous editorials calling on the Dutch to give the Indonesians their independence have appeared in Manila papers. Powers attempting to put down the independence movement are urged to consider American actions in the Philippines as a model for their own actions in the East Indies.

Here are excerpts from an editorial in the Manila Post:

"Dutch colonials accompanied by British Indian troops have landed in Java determined to quell the natives' insurrection and reinstate the pre-war status of the Indonesians. With Indonesians now demanding independence as the price for laying down their arms, a clash between the two was inevitable.

"Destined to Become Independent."

"The Indonesians cannot be kept forever in the lowly state of a subject people. The Dutch should remember what the British have already experienced: that subject peoples are destined sooner or later to become independent. . . . International politics outlined the development of the doctrine of self-determination for subject peoples, enunciated by Wilson during World War I., reiterated in the Atlantic Charter during World War II., and implemented by the trusteeship provisions of the united nations charter.

"Queen Wilhelmina in 1942 promised the Indonesians self-government."

The editorial then mentioned President Truman's Navy day speech in which he said all peoples ready for self-government should be permitted to adopt their own form without interference from any foreign source, and the editorial added that any conflict should be referred to the united nations if the United States were unable to mediate.

Guerrillas Offer Help

The editorial concluded:

"Satisfactory settlement of the conflict will show whether the war has not been fought in vain as far as subject peoples are concerned."

There has been a movement here—small but significant—to send actual military support to the Indonesians. One guerrilla lieutenant and a handful of his men are eager to make the trip to fight on behalf of the independence fighting Indonesians. Their gesture is little more than a gesture, however, since there is no way for them to leave the Philippines.

Zealand Maoris Suffer 90 Pct. Casualties in War

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 13—New Zealand's Maori battalion suffered 90 per cent casualties in war service, it was disclosed by the bishop of Aotearoa [Maori diocese] in a memorial service today. Of 3,000 Maoris who served in this native force in Africa and Italy, 630 were killed and 1,906 wounded, the bishop said. Only 184 Maoris were taken prisoner.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR SERVICE MEN IN HOSPITALS

Friend of the Yanks,
Chicago Tribune,
435 Michigan av.,
Chicago 11, Ill.

Please send ..... names of service men in hospitals to whom I agree to send a Christmas present.

IMPORTANT! Stamped, addressed envelope must be sent with this request.

BE YANK SANTA! ONLY 17 DAYS FOR YOU TO ACT

Name Distribution to Begin Dec. 1

BY HARRY McCLAIN

Only 17 days are left for readers of THE TRIBUNE to make their requests for the names of hospitalized wounded and sick service men to whom they wish to send a Christmas gift.

The reason for the shortage of time is the fact that the names of 44,000 men must be gathered from 21 military hospitals in 10 midwest and central states beginning Dec. 1, and then distributed to readers within a few days.

Donors to Have 3 Weeks

To insure delivery of gifts in time for distribution at Christmas parties in hospitals, efforts will be made to give readers nearly three weeks to buy and mail their gifts. Gifts mailed to the hospitals well in advance of Christmas will be held until party time.

To obtain the name of a service man to whom a gift may be sent, it is necessary only to clip the coupon above and mail with an addressed, stamped envelope to The Friend of the Yanks, Chicago Tribune, 435 N. Michigan av., Chicago, Ill.

When printed cards containing the service men's names are mailed to readers this year, a second card will be enclosed. This card is for the use of the sender, who should write his name and address thereon and place the card in his gift package.

Gifts to Be Acknowledged

The service man then needs only add his name and address and the word "free" and mail the card. This insures acknowledgment of delivery.

More than 35,000 army men, including 7,000 amputees, still are in hospitals in 10 midwest and central states. In addition, there are 8,000 sailors and marines in the Great Lakes Naval hospital. Few of these men will have recovered sufficiently to be released by Christmas.

Australia Calls Parley on Spreading Strikes

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 13 (AP)—Prime Minister Chifley today invited representatives of industry and labor to meet with government officials at Canberra on Dec. 10 to discuss problems posed by spreading strikes in New South Wales. Twenty thousand men already have quit work. The strikes have been reflected in a slowing down of factory production. Hours and wage increases are the main issues.

DUMMIES' $1,000 GARB STOLEN

Burglars smashed the show window of a wearing apparel shop at 3333 Lincoln av. and stole five fur coats and a suit value at $1,000 from dummies, Harold Goldsmith, owner, reported to police yesterday.

DOOLITTLE VISITS AID ON TOKYO FLIGHT IN IOWA HOSPITAL

Clinton, Ia., Nov. 13 [Special]—Lt. Gen. Doolittle came here today to visit one of the heroes of his spectacular raid on Japan in 1942. It was his first meeting since the raid with his navigator, 1st Lt. George Barr, 28, one of the eight Doolittle flyers captured by the Japanese when forced down in enemy territory.

The famous Jimmy chatted informally with Barr at Schick General hospital where the navigator has been a patient since Oct. 21. He is suffering from malnutrition and a nervous disorder contracted during 40 months spent in Japanese prison camps.

Lt. Barr bailed out of his Mitchell bomber near Nanchow, China. Jap forces who captured him took him to Tokyo, Shanghai, Nanking, and then to Peiping where he was liberated late this summer. Lt. Barr's home is in Paines Village, Long Island. His sister, Mrs. William Maas, lives at 2733 W. Kilbourn av., Milwaukee, Wis.

PONDER PLANS FOR GI WIVES TO GO TO JAPAN

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 13 (AP)—American authorities are studying the question of permitting wives to join service men in Japan, Lt. Gen. Eichelberger said today, and "I feel that a bit later, if there are proper accommodations, some fair solution may be arrived at."

The 8th army chief said some officers had asked officially that they be permitted to bring their wives to Japan, but "obviously facilities for receiving families here are very limited."

"If families are to be permitted to come to Japan, that privilege should be thrown open to officers and to enlisted men of the first three grades [master, technical, and staff sergeants]," Eichelberger added. "A fair solution would be to allow those who have been overseas a long time to bring their families provided such officers and men plan to remain here for some time."

Advance Election Date in Argentina to Feb. 24

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 13—(AP)—A government decree today advanced the date of the Argentine presidential elections next year from April 7 to Feb. 24. The change was interpreted as a move by the military government to aid the presidential candidacy of Col. Juan Peron.

JAVANESE SHORE BATTERY FIRES ON BRITISH NAVY

50 Indonesians Killed in Assault on Bridge

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SOERABAJA, Java, Nov. 13.—Indonesians today brought the British navy under fire. Manning a pre-war Dutch coastal battery, they dropped shells around a British destroyer which was cruising in the channel about five miles from here.

The destroyer crew, swinging to battle stations, pulled the covers from guns and sent round after round crashing into the Indonesian battery. No Indonesian shots came close enough to do any damage.

Indonesians in the first organized attack of the week attempted last night to retake the brackish, stagnant Kali Mas [Golden river] which divides the city.

The Indonesians succeeded in driving Gurkha troops from some buildings east and west of a bridge, but the attack on the bridge itself was rash.

None Survive Attack

Without attempting to clear the immediate approaches to the concrete span, about 50 men rushed the bridge. Gurkha and Indian machine guns, which had been set up to cross-fire, sprayed the area. Not one Indonesian lived to cross the bridge.

Today Indian troops began clearing railroad yards in the heart of the city to the east of the Golden river. They were finding the going rough, with Indonesians occupying concrete pillboxes built by the Dutch before the war and added to by the Japs. To crack the defense open, the commander ordered the heaviest artillery barrage since the first day.

British Indian troops captured one of Soerabaja's main railway stations and moved on to take a number of large government buildings. These short gains were prefaced by a bombing, strafing, and artillery barrage.

Mortar and artillery fire against the entire Indonesian line was followed by an advance on the right flank, along the railway, led by a squadron of British tanks.

Charges Jap Aided Natives

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 14 [Wednesday]—(AP)—British Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorn today formally accused Lt. Gen. Yiuchiro Nagana, Japanese 16th army commander, of deliberately handing over arms to "unruly elements" in Java and causing bloodshed and loss of life to allied troops.

Hawthorn's announcement followed a sweeping shakeup in the government of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, in which Sutan Sjahrir, 36, Socialist leader described as a moderate, became premier. Sjahrir prepared to hurry to Soerabaja to halt the bloody fighting there between Indonesians and British Indian troops.

British casualties at Soerabaja yesterday were reported as seven Indian soldiers wounded. No figures were available on Indonesian casualties.

The British reported one British officer was killed and one Indian soldier wounded in Batavia by Indonesian snipers who kept up a desultory fire during most of the night. Barricades have been thrown up in the streets by the British in Batavia and all cars were being checked carefully.

Soekarno Loses Power.

Sjahrir's elevation left President Soekarno with a title but with little power. Sjahrir also took the posts of foreign minister and minister of home affairs. He retained only Minister of Information Amir Sjarifuddin from Soekarno's old cabinet. He said the new government would cooperate with the British.

The reorganization was understood to have been received with some satisfaction by the Dutch, since Sjahrir is a man with whom they may be able to negotiate.

Sjahrir said: "I am a nationalist. The new government will be just as strongly nationalist as the old. But if we can find common ground between ourselves and the Dutch in which we can mutually help solve Indonesian problems I shall encourage our getting together."

Altho some observers were hopeful that new attempts at negotiation might solve the troubled situation, the Dutch were represented as feeling that talks with the Nationalists would accomplish little as long as strife continues.

Admits Tax Evasion

Bert K. Naster, who pleaded guilty of income tax evasion in federal court yesterday.

Bert K. Naster, 46, president of the Superior Electrical Industries, 1259 S. Campbell av., whose troubles began after he struck and knocked down a wounded convalescent paratrooper last February in the Drake hotel, pleaded guilty in federal District court yesterday to charges of criminally evading the payment of $221,575.05 in income taxes for the years 1940 thru 1943.

Judge Elwyn R. Shaw postponed the imposition of sentence until Dec. 28, and instructed United States Atty. Woll to supply him in the meantime with a memorandum containing the facts in the case.

Naster, a dejected man as he left the courtroom on bond, is subject to a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and a fine of $40,000. He also faces civil prosecution by the government to collect taxes and penalties totaling approximately $400,000.

SAFE FOILS BURGLARS

Burglars who climbed a fire escape to enter the second floor offices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company at 855 W. 79th st., were unsuccessful in an attempt to burn open a safe that contained $200, George Fanning, the branch office manager, reported to police yesterday.

BARE BUTCHERY OF BRITONS BY JAVANESE MOBS

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SOERABAJA, Java, Nov. 13—Two weeks ago a British staff officer and an intelligence officer left British headquarters here. Attacks on British positions had ended the previous day and Dr. Soekarno, Indonesian president, was to meet with British commanders that morning to attempt to arrange what was to have been a permanent truce.

Soekarno was due at 9 o'clock. The hour passed and no Soekarno, so the two officers drove thru armed mobs to his headquarters. They talked with him and then started back. That was the last heard of them.

British officers today have finally learned their fate. A Eurasian woman, who the Indonesians were using as an interpreter, told the story. A mob closed in on the two as they drove along the street, she said. It pulled them from their jeep and hustled them into a building.

Branded Dutch Agent

Members of the mob who had made their way into the building said they recognized the intelligence officer as a Dutchman who used to live in Soerabaja before the war. So they shot him dead.

Then they turned to the staff officer. They said he must be a Dutch agent. So they shot him, but only caused a minor injury. Then they made the wounded officer lay face down on the floor, his arms and legs spread wide. And here the Eurasian woman began to speak brokenly.

An Indonesian who had been flourishing a knife, she said, bent over the officer and whacked off one leg. Then the other. And an arm. Then the other. Some time during the butchery the officer mercifully slipped into unconsciousness.

But the ghastly business was not yet over, she said. Some Indonesian cried that the officer still lived. So the knife wielder took a final swing. Off came the head.

Crowd Attacks 16 Soldiers

The frenzy of mobs those days a fortnight ago shows also in another story, from an official British report.

When the shooting started over the city a crowd attacked a small building where 15 Indian orderlies were preparing mess. Their British officer was taking a bath. The 16 grabbed their guns and started a defense which carried thru the night and into the next day when, with two men dead and ammunition gone, they gave up.

The Indonesians marched them from the building and up a street in single file, taking them to prison. But a mob closed in. One Indonesian ran up to the officer, walking in the lead, and shot him thru the back of the head. He fell dead. Like a pack of wolves the mob swarmed over his body. Knives flashed. They chopped the officer's body into bits.

In the orgy the Indians, who were later taken to prison and released a few days ago, were forgotten.

Britain's Debt to Canada 561 Million, Dalton Says

LONDON, Nov. 13 [Reuters] — Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, told commons today that Britain owed Canada $561,000,000 [Canadian] plus war claims not yet determined. "The Canadian government has behaved with splendid generosity, shedding not only blood but giving great treasure in the common cause," he added.

33D VETERANS LEAVE WEST COAST ON LAST LEG OF TRIP HOME

BY GEORGE SCHREIBER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Vancouver Barracks, Wash., Nov. 14 [Wednesday]—More than 1,000 high point men of the 33d division, formerly the Illinois National guard, who returned from Japan on Armistice day, started on the last leg of their long trip to their homes and civilian status early today. They are expected to arrive at Fort Sheridan on Saturday.

Thirty officers and 1,026 soldiers left in two special trains. Every face wore a grin, and the talk was all of home. The men are traveling in standard and tourist sleepers with a sprinkling of troop sleepers.

The train commander, Lt. Col. James W. Hilton, 7838 Kimbark av., Chicago, who fought with the division in both World War I. and II. passed the word to the train guards to let the men enjoy themselves within reasonable limits.

U. S. ASKS BURMA FOR RULING ON MISSIONARIES

BY ALFRED WAGG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

RANGOON, Burma, Nov. 13—Requests are being received here from the American state department for a ruling on Burma's attitude toward readmission of American missionaries who desire to return to their former posts in Burma.

Burmese Nationalists, according to their leader, Gen. Aung San, charge that the British formerly subsidized the missions in order to evade setting up an adequate school system. They do not want the missionaries to be permitted to return, therefore, unless the British promise to build schools. Aung San said he would welcome the missionaries if they stick to their religious activities.

The civil government is blaming the military for the delay in reopening educational facilities, charging that in Rangoon one of the city's best technical buildings, without which the school system cannot function, is being occupied by an officers' club.

British Study Problems

This is just one of the problems in Burma's confused internal affairs that the British foreign office is studying. It is reported tha. the chief of the imperial general staff, Gen. Alan Brooke, will arrive here soon to survey the difficulties.

He probably will investigate the recurring clashes between the military and Burma's civil authorities under Gov. Reginald Dorman-Smith.

One Rangoon problem is the handling of banditry, which involves nightly looting by the dacoits, gangsters with whom the poorly organized police force has been unable to cope. Also at stake is the handling of 400,000 Burmese in foreign areas who are to be repatriated under a plan initiated by the governor. Their return is challenged by the military, which says the people in Rangoon are living in bombed-out places and that the city must be torn down and rebuilt before it can handle any repatriates.

Chinese Seek Consulates

Issues are further confused by demands of the Chinese for a voice in Burma's affairs. They have asked the governor for permission to open consulates in Mandalay, Lashio, Myitkyina, and other cities thruout the country. Some say this is part of a Chinese plan to keep open the so-called back door to China.

Aung San suggested that Burma's decision on the consulates be delayed pending a guarantee from China as to the extent of its commercial aims. He said he would welcome a pact with China if only to prevent a resumption of the northeastern border raids, which have troubled Burma for 30 years.

ZHUKOV WILL VETO DUMP IN TIERGARTEN, BERLIN'S MAIN PARK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 13—Soviet Marshal Zhukov will oppose the Berlin municipal authorities' plan to use the Tiergarten as a dump for millions of tons of rubble from the shattered buildings of the capital, because it would mean piling debris 10 to 15 feet high over the park. This would leave the recently unveiled colossal statue of a Red army soldier stranded in a vast quagmire of wreckage and ruin.

German civic planners estimated it would take 16 train loads daily for 10 years to haul the debris outside the city limits, and since most of the Tiergarten trees are being cut down for fuel, it was decided to sacrifice the capital's principal park as a gigantic dump during reconstruction. Eventually they intended to spread a topsoil, plant trees, and make a new park on top of the rubble.

But such a change would seriously interfere with the architectural lines of the Red army memorial, provoking Zhukov's opposition.

85 Died in Shelter After Bomb Hit, British Reveal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 13—When a German bomb hit Balham subway station in south London five years ago Oct. 14, 85 out of 500 to 600 persons sheltering there were killed, it was revealed today. The bomb made a huge crater in Balham high road, into which a double decker bus plunged, dragging with it water mains, which flooded the subway station.

HELD FOR $1,500 ROBBERY

Laverett Blackwell, 24, Negro, of 2346 Maypole av., who was arrested Nov. 3 after he robbed John Tiller, 57, of 1112 N. La Salle st. of $1,500, was held to the grand jury on a charge of robbery yesterday by Judge Irwin B. Ciorfene in Felony court.

USE OF BRITISH FORCES IN JAVA STIRS PROTESTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 13—Protests against the use of British forces in Indonesia were made today in resolutions and telegrams sent to government ministers by several local trade union branches. The agitation has the backing of Communists who have arranged for an open air meeting in Birmingham on Sunday to demand that the government order an immediate cease fire in Indonesia.

The protests will become an issue in the house of commons tomorrow when Communist William Gallacher will ask Foreign Secretary Bevin whether he has considered the protest resolution from the Hurlford branch of the National Union of Railwaymen and what reply he has sent, if any.

At least six branch unions, representing miners, shipbuilders, engineers, and transport workers, in Scotland and north England approved protest resolutions today.

Call Protest Strike

JERUSALEM, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Jewish national council tonight called a general strike of Palestine Jews from noon to midnight tomorrow to protest new British proposals for settlement of the Palestine problem. In addition the council [Vaad Leumi] proposed a curfew on all Jewish towns and villages in Palestine. All Jews working on British government or military enterprises were asked to quit their jobs. The strike will be followed Thursday by a day of prayer and fasting.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special]—The United States today officially joined with Great Britain in an effort to solve the Jewish problem in Palestine and Europe.

Simultaneous announcements here and in London said the two governments have agreed to establish an Anglo-American committee to study the Jewish situation and make recommendations.

The announcement here took the form of a White House statement, while in London British Foreign Secretary Bevin broke the news to a cheering house of commons in a speech hailed by members of all British parties as one of the most statesmanlike he has made.

Mentions Trusteeship

Bevin asserted the recommendations to be made by the joint committee would "facilitate arrangements for placing Palestine under a trusteeship," but did not explain what kind of trusteeship he referred to. His remark was regarded as an intimation that Britain might end her mandate over the Holy Land.

In Jerusalem, where Acting Commissioner Shaw presided over a meeting of Arab and Jewish leaders, a "well informed source" was quoted as saying a proposal had been made for changing the British Palestine mandate to an Anglo-American trusteeship.

Reaction to the news of American entry into the attempt to settle the Jewish problem was slow in developing here, but parliamentary reaction in London was described as one of pleasure.

Rep. Celler [D., N. Y.], who has criticized Britain for failing to establish a Jewish homeland in Palestine, said he was "rather startled" by the President's announcement and surprised that President Truman "has fallen into this British trap."

Example of Cowardice

"This is another glaring example of British cowardice in facing real issues," he said. "Attlee did not have to come to America to tell us of this new example of British perfidy and of his failure to carry out his Palestine pledges and that of his Labor party given before election. He is fooling no one."

The White House statement outlined four points upon which the proposed joint committee will base its investigations, as follows:

1. Examine political, economic, and social conditions in Palestine as "they bear upon the problem of Jewish immigration."

Will Consult Arabs

2. Examine the position of the Jews in European countries "where they have been the victims of nazi and fascist persecution."

3. Hear the views of competent witnesses and consult representative Arabs and Jews.

4. Make recommendations to the two governments to meet immediate needs either by remedial action in Europe or by providing facilities for Jewish emigration to countries outside of Europe.

Mr. Truman made public a letter he wrote Aug. 31 to Attlee in which he said the "main solution" to the Jewish problem appeared to lie in the evacuation of as many Jews as possible to Palestine. "I continue to adhere to the views expressed in that letter," the President said.

Arabs Voice Displeasure

Bevin made no mention in his London speech of the British white paper of 1939, which restricted Jewish immigration to Palestine to a five year quota of 75,000, terminating this month. He said that immigration at the old rate of 1,500 monthly will be allowed to continue pending a report from the new committee.

The Arab office in London expressed displeasure at the reopening of the Palestine situation.

"Arab circles have regarded this question as finally settled by the white paper of 1939," a spokesman for the office said. "Our experience during the last 25 years has been that whenever there came the time for implementation of a promise or decision by the British government, either that issue was postponed or a modification was made."

The London office of the Jewish agency for Palestine commented that the problems of the Jewish people and Palestine can be settled only by reëstablishment of a Jewish state.

No State Promised

Bevin drew a distinction in his statement to commons between a Jewish home and a Jewish state, asserting Britain had never undertaken to establish a Jewish state. He said, "We did undertake to establish a Jewish home and that we must fulfill."

Bevin said that in consultation with Arab leaders he had found them "not ungenerous." He expressed a conviction that the welfare of 600 million people in the eastern Mediterranean, the middle east, and India might be affected if a successful spirit of coöperation can be built up in Palestine.

Discussing in a press conference the question of where Jewish refugees could go other than Palestine, Bevin said, "I think America should take a number, and other countries could also help out."

CUTS HIS WIFE INTO PIECES AND SAYS: 'I DID A GOOD JOB'

John T. Honeycutt

Van Nuys, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—As her mother watched helplessly, Mrs. Florence Honeycutt, 37, was killed and dismembered last night in her parents' home.

Detective Lt. Ernie Johnston said the victim's estranged husband, John T. Honeycutt, 32, had admitted the slaying and had commented, "I've been intending to kill her for weeks. I did a good job, don't you think?"

Johnston said Honeycutt went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Harris, the parents, and demanded that Mrs. Honeycutt leave with him. When she refused, Johnston said, Honeycutt kicked in a window and attacked his wife with a butcher knife and a meat grinder. Harris ran to a telephone, but by the time police arrived, Johnston said, the woman's body had been ripped apart by the butcher knife.

'IRRESISTIBLE' BOY OF 16 WHO MARRIED WOMAN, 25, SULKS

Ellsworth Wisecarver

Oroville, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP)—Ellsworth Wisecarver, 16, the boy with an apparently irresistible fascination for married women, sulked in his jail cell today awaiting the arrival of another woman—this time his mother.

In the same jail, Mrs. Eleanor Deveny, 25, Los Angeles, mother of two children, declared in an interview that she would divorce her soldier husband, now in Japan, and marry Ellsworth if he "still wants me."

"I thought I was happy with my husband as any one could be. Then I met Sonny," she signed. "I couldn't resist him."

Sonny, as he is known to friends, refused to talk. Last year, when Sonny was 14, he eloped with Mrs. Elaine Ludlum Monfredi, 22, another mother of two children. They were married at Yuma, Ariz. The marriage was annulled.

Last Wednesday, Mrs. Deveny told the deputies, she eloped from Long Beach with Sonny.

REPORTS SEVEN RUSSIANS SLAIN BY BERLIN GIs

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 13 (AP)—The American provost marshal said today that seven Russians were killed and five wounded between July and October in altercations with American troops in the United States occupation zone of Berlin. Coöperative efforts have reduced the clashes and no fatal altercations have taken place for three weeks, the marshal, Lt. Col. Gerald F. Beane of Hollywood, Cal., said.

Dual patrols of Americans and Russians now pace the border areas and around rail stations where many cases of Russian looting are said to have taken place.

Beane added that "elements are here for a terrific crime wave" in the American sector this winter. Larceny and robbery are the most frequent crimes of American troops. Beane said cases of rape are virtually nonexistent because "a bit of food, a bar of chocolate, or a bar of soap seems to make rape unnecessary."

ATTLEE SEEKS TO DIM FEARS OF SOCIALISM

Tells Congress and U. S. Not to Worry

that once gave Britain immunity from attack the prime minister sententiously remarked that "the old discontinuity of earth and sea has been replaced by the continuity of the air." He added that "in a few years the devastating weapons which are at present being developed may menace every part of the world."

"The Terrible Light"

"It is in the light of these facts," he went on, and in particular in the light—the terrible light of the atomic bomb, that I have entered into discussion with your President in order that we may get together with all the nations of the world and consider what kind of a world it is necessary to have if civilization is to endure and if the common man in all lands is to feel secure."

Late in the afternoon the atom bomb conference was resumed at the White House. From British sources came jubilant statements tonight that excellent progress was being made toward acceptance of the Attlee plan to commit the bomb secret to the allied nations organization, provided Russia demonstrates that it has no designs upon British interests in the Mediterranean region and the Near East. The White House continued silent, saying only that there will be a joint statement on the decisions reached, probably Thursday or Friday. It was learned that Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the office of scientific research and development, was among those sitting at this afternoon's meeting.

Mr. Attlee received a courteous reception by congress, tho it was notable that the greatest applause was evoked by his tribute to Winston Churchill, who on two similar occasions during the war had swept the American legislators from their feet with his eloquence and dynamic personality. The socialist prime minister was a far different figure—a slight, mild, shortish man with a wisp of mustache and a glistening bald head, who read his manuscript in a matter of fact voice that trailed off at the ends of sentences, destroying any possible dramatic effect and even leaving his auditors in doubt as to what he was saying.

"Removing Apprehensions"

When he got down to the real purpose of his appearance, the prime minister said he thought he might assist "in removing some misapprehensions."

"I come before you," he said, "As the prime minister of Great Britain, but in accordance with our constitutional practice, I am also a party leader of a majority recently returned to power in the house of commons. I wonder how much you know about the British Labor party. We are not always very well informed on the politics of other countries. I doubt in fact whether very many British citizens know the exact difference between a Republican and a Democrat.

"You have heard that we are socialists, but I wonder just what that means to you. I think that some people over here imagine that socialists are out to destroy freedom, freedom of the individual, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and freedom of the press. They are wrong. The Labor party is in the tradition of freedom-loving movements which have always existed in our country.

Describes Party's Makeup

"One further word. You may think that the Labor party consists solely of wage earners. It is our pride that we draw the majority of our members from the ranks of wage earners and many of our ministers have spent long years working with their hands in the coal mines, the factory, or in transportation. But our party today is drawn from all classes of society: professional men, business men, and what are sometimes called the privileged classes. The old school tie can still be seen on the government benches. It is really a pretty good cross section of the population."

As to the party position on foreign affairs, the prime minister said "We believe that we cannot make a heaven in our country and leave a hell outside."

"We, like you, believe in an expansive economy and we can see no reason why the need being so great there should be any undue rivalry between us. We believe that the foundations of peace must be world prosperity and good neighborliness; that where science has placed such potential abundance before the human race we should collaborate to take advantage of it rather than scramble and fight for larger individual shares which only results in an immense increase in poverty.

"Bonds of Peace."

"I look forward to an era of an increasing coöperation and friendship between the United States of America and Great Britain, not as being an exclusive friendship but as a contribution to the knitting together with all peoples thru the united nations organization in the bonds of peace.

"In our internal policies each will follow the course decided by the peoples' will. You will see us embarking on projects of nationalization; on wide all embracing schemes of social insurance designed to give security to the common man. We shall be working out a planned economy. You, it may be, will continue in your more individualistic methods.

"I hope that there will be ever closer friendship between our great democracies.

"Both of our nations hold dear the rule of law, the conception of freedom, the principles and methods of democracy; and, most vital of all, we acknowledge the validity of the moral precepts upon which our whole civilization is founded.

"Man's material discoveries have outpaced his moral progress. The greatest task that faces us today is to bring home to all people before it is too late that our civilization can only survive by the acceptance and practice in international relations and in our national life of the Christian principle [that] we are members one of another."

TRUMAN ASKS FOR $1,350,000,000 MORE FOR UNRRA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—A second authorization of $1,350,000,000 for the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration as this country's contribution to its work for the year ending in March, 1947, was asked of congress today by President Truman.

Of $1,350,000,000 authorized for the fiscal year ending in March, 1946, congress already has allotted 800 million dollars and UNRRA has spent or committed it all. An appropriation of the remaining 550 million dollars has been voted by the house, with the stipulation that it be spent only in nations which give Americans free access to news of UNRRA activities there, and is pending in the senate.

Mr. Truman's message requesting the new authorization said that it was needed for China, Korea, Formosa, Italy, Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Albania, Italy, and two soviet republics. Some aid is planned for White Russia and the Ukraine which were the principal battlefields on the eastern front in Europe.

REPORT CHINESE WIN GREAT WALL CITY FROM REDS

Capture Shanhaikwan, Gateway to Manchuria

Land at Tsingtao

TSINGTAO, China, Nov. 14, Wednesday — (AP) — American transports began unloading thousands of Chinese Nationalist troops today at this communist encircled port. It was the first landing by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's men in communist dominated Shantung province since the end of the war. There was no opposition to the landing.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 13 (AP) —Chinese nationalist forces have wrested Shanhaikwan, coastal gateway thru the Great Wall into Manchuria, from Chinese communist defenders, neutral sources reported today.

Official dispatches, however, told of communist victories in other North China provinces, particularly in Shantung, where Gov. Ho Ssuyuan said more than 30,000 nationalist troops have been killed by the Reds since the Japanese surrender.

While unable to confirm the reported fall of Shanhaikwan, on the Peiping-Mukden railroad only 14 miles north of Chinwangtao, where American marines are on guard, a communist spokesman indicated it might be true.

He said the last communist dispatch put nationalist troops only two-thirds of a mile from the strategic town and commented that four of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies had been landed at Chinwangtao for the express purpose of forcing the Great Wall passage into Manchuria.

The forcing of the Great Wall might enable Chiang to put a strong force into Manchuria, to take over cities which the Russians were reported to be abandoning to Chinese control.

Peace Talks Scheduled

Official Chinese quarters here refused to comment on the report that Chiang had appealed to Russia for permission to fly his troops into Manchuria, but they indirectly indicated that this and other questions were being discussed.

Unofficial sources, however, said they considered it most unlikely that Chiang made a direct appeal to Moscow, pointing out that if he did and was subsequently snubbed this would entail a loss of face to which he would hardly expose himself.

A communist spokesman predicted that fighting would slacken generally, except in the vital Shanhaikwan area, pending the outcome of peace talks at Chungking. The discussion was scheduled to be opened at a political consultative council meeting around Nov. 20.

Gov. Ho estimated civilian casualties in the civil strife in Shantung province at 200,000, with millions more rendered homeless. He charged the Communists with destroying or heavily damaging railroads, factories, and mines.

The governor told interviewers at Tsinan, the provincial capital, that more than 50 districts of the province were surrendered to government troops by the Japanese, but the Communists subsequently overran 39 of them, capturing numerous towns.

Four Provinces Affected

Other fighting was reported in Suiyuan, Honan, Hupeh, and Hopeh provinces. The Communists were said to have penetrated into "all parts of Honan" and to have launched a fresh offensive Nov. 10 against the walled railroad town of Paotow in Suiyuan.

Eighty per cent of Suiyuan has been occupied by the Communists, said Tu Ping-shan, provincial government representative in Chungking. He appealed for aid to the inhabitants of the Inner Mongolian province.

Both government and communist spokesmen denied foreign reports that the Communists had opened an offensive on a 100 mile front in Inner Mongolia.

27 Britons Die in Plane Crash at Tripoli Field

HOLD VETO OVER FRENCH ACTIONS IN INDO-CHINA

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 13 [Reuters].—A British official said today that altho the reoccupation of Indo-China and the opening of communications there were left to the French, all French operations were subject to a British veto, having regard to the primary necessity of disarming the Japanese.

Under the "speed up" plan announced yesterday for the disarmament and concentration of Japanese in Indo-China, about 3,000 Japanese civilians in Saigon would be rounded up weekly. All the Japanese, once concentrated, would be employed on such work as the reconstruction of roads, he said. Japanese navy personnel would be concentrated separately and work on dock repairs.

Some 2,000 Japanese troops in Indo-China were reported to have deserted.

URGES UNKNOWN SOLDIER'S TOMB IN MIDDLE WEST

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War II. should be built in the midwest, Alex Park, executive secretary of the Monument Builders of America, said yesterday at a meeting of the Allied Memorial council in the Congress hotel.

Park, who is chairman of the council, urged immediate action to assure an accessible location for the tomb, a bill for which has been introduced by Rep. Price [D., East St. Louis]. The Unknown Soldier of World War I. is buried in Arlington [Va.] National cemetery.

"The unknown soldier of the latest war is in effect the son of thousands of parents whose boys never have been found," Park said. "His tomb should be centrally located in the middle west and preferably in the Chicago area where it can be reached by the greatest number of sorrowing mothers and fathers."

WHY GORGEOUS POWERS MODELS ARE ADVISED TO USE ONLY KREML SHAMPOO!

Give Your Hair This 10-Minute "GLAMOUR BATH"—

John Robert Powers, a foremost authority of feminine beauty, always advises his lovely 'million dollar' Models to use only Kreml Shampoo to wash their hair.

This remarkably beautifying 'glamour bath' not only thoroughly cleanses hair and scalp of dirt and loose dandruff but it leaves hair so much softer, silkier—it actually 'unlocks' all the natural highlights that lie concealed in the hair. It leaves it shining bright for days!

And Kreml Shampoo is so mild, gentle! It positively contains no harsh chemicals. Instead, its beneficial oil base helps keep hair from becoming dry or brittle.

So buy a bottle today and 'glamour-bathe' your hair like divinely beautiful Powers Models do. All drug, department and 10¢ stores.

Kreml SHAMPOO FOR SILKEN-SHEEN HAIR EASIER TO ARRANGE

"MY FACE IS MY FORTUNE, SIR," I said modestly

And being a fashion model, that goes for my figure, too! So I'll just have another glass of milk. You see, I think of milk as health and beauty insurance all rolled into one.

When the scales say too many pounds—or too few, I still stick to my daily quota of fresh Grade A. Milk gives me the kind of nourishment I need, when I have to grab a sandwich and run—and for so few calories.

What a day! Evening gowns first thing in the morning, fashion shows, photographers one after the other, and bathing suits at 10 p. m.! Never time for a real meal, but always time for that glass of milk.

AND my dreams are getting better all the time. To make sure, I always have a nightly nightcap—you guessed it, a great big glass of milk for real beauty sleep. Best thing in the world for me—and for you, too.

GLAMOUR HINTS!—Yearning, alone, won't do the trick, but our calorie-conscious book has been prepared to aid that face and figure of yours. Send a penny post card to the Milk Foundation, 75 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

Milk does more for you than any other single food—and costs less, too.

FBI GOT 'ALERT' ON JAP ATTACK 10 DAYS BEFORE

of an exhaustive investigation," Brewster told a press conference. "I don't want to disparage Mr. Mitchell's legal talents or his patriotism but when I asked him to search government files for and also request the authorities to produce the reported A-B-C-D agreement which pledged America, Britain, China, and the Dutch to aid each other in case of attack in the Pacific, he said he couldn't do it. He said it was an insult to President Roosevelt to think he would have signed such a document because it would have been illegal."

Brewster said Mitchell was apparently unacquainted with some of Mr. Roosevelt's acts and utterances when he adopted this "naive attitude."

Files Not Forthcoming

The state department files, dealing with the Tyler Kent case and reported correspondence between former Prime Minister Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt, were also sought by Brewster thru the committee counsel, he said, "but that was a week ago and I haven't received anything yet."

[Kent is the young American embassy clerk in London, who had access to coded messages between Churchill and Roosevelt. His sentence to prison under the British war powers act has expired but he is being detained, allegedly because shipping space can't be found to deport him.]

"I still think we should have hired Hugh Fulton, former counsel for the Truman war investigating committee, as our attorney," said Brewster, "and President Truman told me he was for Fulton. But the Democratic majority voted against Fulton.

Fears Dull Hearings

"Fulton had vast experience in dealing with burocrats. Mr. Mitchel knows how to try a case in court but not before a court of 130 million people. His experience goes back to the pastoral days of Washington in the twenties. We might as well have Thomas Jefferson as a counsel. I don't know whether it is the design to have dull hearings but that may well happen with the purpose of leading the press to seek greener pastures."

Chairman Barkley [D., Ky] has called Mitchell a "Republican" in citing the committee's nonpartisanship in selecting him, Brewster noted.

"That is not the fact," he remarked. "Mitchell is a lifelong Democrat. He served as solicitor general under President Coolidge and attorney general under President Hoover, but he is not a Republican."

[Who's Who in America, carrying Mitchell's own biography, labels him a Democrat.]

Miss Tully Picks Files

As another instance of the "cover-up" attitude towards Mr. Roosevelt, Brewster said, the point had been raised in executive committee sessions regarding the propriety of the first major witness, Adm. J. O. Richardson, retired, relating conversations with the late President. The committee decided, however, that Adm. Richardson could testify concerning such conversations without violating ethics. Richardson retired as fleet admiral of the Pacific after a dispute with Mr. Roosevelt concerning bottling up the fleet in Pearl Harbor.

In seeking documents from the late President's files in the national archives, Brewster said, the committee counsel is apparently leaving the selection of papers pertinent to Pearl Harbor to Miss Grace Tully, who is in charge of the huge collection. Miss Tully was personal secretary to Mr. Roosevelt and noted for her loyalty to him.

Brewster said it was perfectly obvious that the committee's investigation, if a thoro one, would last well into next year. Mitchell, he said, wants to complete the inquiry in January, "because he has other fish to fry."

Handicaps Cited

Brewster said the Republican minority, in addition to the handicap of the gag orders forbidding them to examine government records, had also been hampered by the majority's refusal to give the members assistants to help them study the voluminous evidence. The finance and ways and means committees furnish the minority with assistants but the Pearl Harbor committee refuses to permit this out of its $25,000 appropriation, he said.

Committee members don't even know the names of Mitchell's assistants, Brewster said, altho minority members have asked several times for information concerning the staff.

"The hearings are opening prematurely," Brewster declared. "Each morning a pile of new documents are given me to study. No member can be ready."

Democrats Criticize Party

Several prominent Democrats, including Senators Wheeler [D., Mont.] and George [D., Ga.] have criticized their own party members for the tactics mentioned by Brewster, Wheeler recalling that the Republican majority under the Coolidge administration gave the Democratic minority full rights to examine government documents in the Teapot Dome investigation.

Sen. Willis [R., Ind.] said today he saw little hope for a unanimous report unless the committee majority changed its attitude.

Find 8 Sets of German Radar Worth $1,600,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 13—Eight sets of radar apparatus of a model unlike those used by the Americans and English and costing more than $200,000 each were identified today among huge supplies of war materials abandoned by the Germans near Lille. The German radar outfits were intended to be mounted on steel towers to automatically direct the fire of anti-aircraft batteries.

ROMANIAN REDS CRY 'DEATH TO REACTIONARIES'

BUCHAREST, Romania, Nov. 13 (AP)—A vast crowd, many shouting "death to reactionaries," attended the funerals today of seven Communists and policemen killed last week in riots before the royal palace. The funeral was in marked contrast to the burial of members of opposition parties who were killed at the palace square when they defied a Romanian government order prohibiting celebration of King Michael's name day. The government of Petru Groza, long at odds with the king, forbade any demonstration at that service.

Government offices, businesses and many other establishments were closed by government order for the Communist funeral. Soviet Ambassador Kaftaradze blamed the recent demonstration on a "venomous" serpent in the streets of Bucharest" and asserted it was in part a manifestation against Russia.

The 130 leaders opposed to Groza, whom the soviet sponsored government singled out as "responsible" for the riots, failed to appear for an investigation at the military court as ordered.

Gin of pre-war quality made with pre-war imported botanicals

1 Today Hiram Walker brings you gin made with the same imported herbs, roots and berries used in the making of Hiram Walker's pre-war gin.

2 And remember, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor Americans bought more Walker-made gin than any other kind.

Juniper from Italy! Harvesters "spank" the prized juniper bush of the Apennines with sticks, to shake its ripe, unmatchable berries onto sheets laid carefully on the ground beneath. These and ALL the herbs, roots and berries used in making Hiram Walker's Gin—such as cassia from China, coriander from Czechoslovakia, and orange peel from Valencia—come from a supply imported before the war. These imported botanicals, plus 100% American grain spirits, give Hiram Walker's Gin its real, pre-war quality.

PRISONERS FIND JAP SURRENDER WORTH HORRORS

As Nightmare Ends They Weep Before Cheering

(An American soldier who saw the surrender on Bataan describes how it felt to see the Japs surrender in this concluding chapter of "Men Who Wouldn't Die." The author, a Chicagoan, was aide de camp of Maj. Gen. Edward P. King Jr., commander of the Bataan force.)

BY MAJ. A. C. TISDELLE
as Told to Carl Wiegman

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Those of us who lived out the war in prison camps, asking ourselves daily whether death would not have been better than surrender, realized when the end came that seeing the Japs surrender was worth waiting for.

We had spent hours thinking and dreaming about how we would be set free. When the dream came true, however, it was a series of events, none of which we had been able to imagine.

I was among 350 American officers gathered from various prison camps in Japan last April and shipped to Fusan, Korea. From there we were taken by train to Mukden, Manchuria, where we were joined by 12 American generals, 118 colonels, and a large number of high ranking British and Dutch officers. Evidently the group was assembled to be used as hostages.

Parachutists Land Near Camp

Our first big excitement came at noon Aug. 17, when we saw six parachutes dropping from a large airplane. We thought it might be a soviet plane because we had heard the Russians were at Harbin.

The six parachutists were taken prisoner by the Japs and brought to our camp, where the news spread in a few minutes that they were white men in unfamiliar uniforms. Hoping to get a glimpse of them, I went with another prisoner to a storeroom that overlooked the office of the Japanese commander, Col. Matsuda.

Peering down, we could see a white man sitting with his legs crossed, smoking a cigaret and flicking the ashes on the floor as he talked to Matsuda. Moreover, the white man was doing the talking, not the listening. We thought we could make out the leaf of an American major or lieutenant colonel on his collar.

Early Joy Is Dashed

Everybody was jubilant when we reported this extraordinary scene, but our hopes were dashed a few minutes later when we heard the six parachutists had been taken to the Jap guardhouse.

Several hours later the parachutists reappeared in camp, and our senior officer, Maj. Gen. George M. Parker, was summoned to Col. Matsuda's office. The general emerged in a few minutes and called a meeting of all prisoners.

He stood on a pile of bricks and we gathered around him in a great semi-circle, hardly daring to breathe as we waited for him to speak. He raised his hand and said calmly:

"Make no demonstration."

No Cheers, Just Tears

That was enough. We knew then the war was over. We did not cheer. Our eyes were wet as the general continued speaking:

"An armistice is in effect between the United States and Japan. The Japanese have informed me that the interior of the camp is ours but that they will continue to maintain a perimeter guard 'for our protection.'"

The parachutists, we then learned, were Americans, led by a major, and they were looking for Gen. Wainwright and Gen. King. Informed that the two generals were in a camp 160 miles north of Mukden, the major set out for that camp with Jap officers. His men remained with us, setting up a portable radio which had been dropped from their plane.

Two days later came a second exciting event. We heard the roar of a four motored airplane, wholly unlike the sound of Jap planes, which are like flying washing machines. We dashed outside and saw a beautiful, wonderful, silver B-24 Liberator bomber, flying at about 500 feet. We could see plainly the star and dash insigne of the United States army air forces.

Prisoners Laugh and Cry

The pilot circled, flying over our camp several times, and rocking the wings of the plane to greet us. We cried and laughed and cheered until we were hoarse.

That evening came the third piece of excitement. Nine Russian soldiers, headed by a captain, barged past the sentries and strode into camp. All the 1,600 men in camp assembled as the Red army captain mounted the steps of the hospital to address us.

Pandemonium Greets Proclamation

The captain, a plump, jolly man who looked like a young Santa Claus, called for an interpreter and an American sergeant stepped forward.

"In the name of the soviet supreme council," shouted the captain, "I proclaim you free."

Pandemonium broke loose. In a few minutes the Russian raised his hand for silence and spoke again.

"The Russians are friends of the Americans, the British, and the Australians, but especially we are friends of the Americans."

"You must pardon me," said the Russian officer. "Now I must have a conference with Gen. Parker."

A group of GIs grabbed him, hoisted him on their shoulders, and carried him to Jap headquarters, where Col. Matsuda and other Jap officers were watching our celebration with long faces.

Passes Cigars Around

First the Russian passed out cigars. Then he announced briskly:

"We will turn over to you administration of this camp. We will disarm the guards and turn over their arms to you for a guard, if you are ready."

"We are ready," said Gen. Parker, without a second's hesitation. His lips were tight as he spoke.

We made a ceremony out of changing the guard. Col. Matsuda formed his 50 guards in a single line on the parade ground and gave them the familiar single command "Kirei" for "Attention," which I had to use under humiliating circumstances so many times in the Omuta prison camp.

"Remove caps," Col. Matsuda ordered his men.

The guards removed their caps and bowed from the waist, a salute customarily given only to the Japanese emperor.

Bataan Scene in Reverse

The Jap colonel and his officers removed their sabers and laid them on the ground. It was the scene on Bataan, in reverse.

A column of ragged GI's then took the rifles from the Jap guards and were called to attention by American officers using American commands for the first time since our surrender. Grinning and strutting, the Americans marched their prisoners away to the guardhouse.

For me, that scene was the end of the war.

Soon everybody was allowed to leave camp and go into town. The boys found a brewery.

Rides in General's Plane

Several days later the Russians brought Gen. Wainwright and Gen. King to Mukden and I went to the airport to see them. Gen. King was surprised to see me. He thought I was dead. Gen. Wainwright asked his pilot if he could find room for me on the plane and I was permitted to ride in the bomb bay to Sian, China. From there we flew to Chungking, where we were received by Chiang Kai-shek at his summer palace in the mountains overlooking the Yangtze river.

After that we flew to Manila and back to the United States, arriving in San Francisco Sept. 6—the last entry in my war diary.

The unhappy campaign on Bataan and 40 months as a prisoner of war have not discouraged me. As for the future, I hope I can stay in the United States army.

Missing Boy Found

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Mrs. Anne Grabowski in reunion with her son, John Jr., after the boy was missing overnight from Baltimore, Md., home.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13—(AP)—An unidentified soldier today found John Grabowski Jr., 2½, reported kidnaped yesterday, as the child was wandering alone some seven miles from home.

The blond, blue-eyed youngster was discovered after an all-night search by his mother, Mrs. Anna Grabowski, 25, wife of a sailor in the Pacific, and Baltimore police, in Jones fall ravine, said by police to be a hangout for addicts of wood alcohol. Police said the child could hardly have covered the distance afoot—certainly not by himself.

Neighbors said they had seen a strange man take the boy by the hand and lead him away adding that the man appeared to be intoxicated.

Tho unable to tell his name or address, John Jr., identified himself to police by recognizing a newspaper picture of his mother.

TELL HOW JAPS KILLED 2 YANK FLYERS AT CEBU

New Atrocities Bared at Yamashita Trial

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 14 [Wednesday]—The murder of two captured American flyers at Cebu City was recounted today at the trial of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, former Japanese high commander in the Philippines, on war crime charges.

The flyers were identified as a Sgt. Scott and Paul Mansella, both machine gunners who survived the crash of a twin engined bomber last March 21.

Sister Pas san Buenaventura told how Mansella, his arms and legs badly burned, was brought to the convent where his wounds were treated. She said a friendly Filipino offered to take him to the mountains but that the soldier smiled, thanked him, and said he was too weak.

Japs Take Yank Away

After his wounds were bathed, the Filipino took away his uniform to be washed. A short while later Japanese, accompanied by Filipino informers, arrived, threatened the nuns with a pistol, found the American and took him away after tying his hands behind his back.

Not long afterward, the Japs returned, pushing the dazed American ahead of them. They were searching for his uniform and weapons, she said. When they left, the Filipino brought back the Yank's uniform freshly laundered.

Two collaborators were then put on the stand. The first, Cuenfate Adlawn, said he worked for the Japanese as a scout and on March 25 saw an American in full uniform tied to a chair at Japanese military police headquarters. He said he talked with the American who said his name was Sgt. Scott.

Five Filipinos Beheaded

The next witness, Teodoro Sanchez, whose job was chauffeur for a Japanese captain, said he saw a burned American flyer on March 21 and on March 25 saw a second American, presumably Scott. On March 26, he said, he saw Japanese guards bring in five Filipinos, force them to kneel beside a foxhole, and then beheaded them. Then, he said, the American with a burned leg was carried out, forced to kneel beside a hole, and a Japanese sergeant hit him a terrible blow with a sword. The American's body fell into the hole and then the Japanese fired three shots into the hole. He said he later was told that the second American also was killed.

The Japanese responsible for this atrocity are known and several of them will be arraigned tomorrow before an American military commission.

American Recovers Body

A macabre sequel to the story was given by Lt. Simeon J. Larkins, who said a Filipino told him of seeing two Americans struck by swords fall into a foxhole. Later one crawled from the hole, sat on the edge and waved to American planes overhead. He cried for water and ignored or failed to hear the Filipino warning him to hide. Then three Japs returned and pushed the wounded man into the hole. They poured gasoline into the hole and set it ablaze, he said. Lt. Larkins buried both bodies.

PICK DE GAULLE AS PRESIDENT FOR 7 MONTHS

Tells French His Bills Must Be Passed

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 13—After four days of partisan bickering and maneuvering, the national constituent assembly today unanimously elected Gen. De Gaulle as interim president of France.

De Gaulle will serve for seven months while a new constitution is being written but only, he has warned, if the assembly accepts his limited program of "must" legislation.

Assembly Hails Election

When it was announced that the result of the balloting was 555 votes for De Gaulle, with one abstention and no votes against him, all the deputies arose and began singing "La Marseillaise."

De Gaulle later indicated he would open discussions with the president of the assembly and leaders of the principal political parties tomorrow. He is expected to present his new cabinet for the assembly's approval before the end of the week.

In a statement De Gaulle briefly outlined the highlights of the governmental program, which the Communists had been trying unsuccessfully to worm out of him for the last five days.

Wants "Essential Reforms"

First, he said, it will be necessary to adopt a budget before the first of next year. In addition he will propose "essential reforms" concerning credit institutions, public utilities, the administrative system, and laws governing magistrates and the military services.

His program, De Gaulle said, "could be realized by the assembly before the end of this [interim] period."

De Gaulle indicated he would let the religious school issue and other questions that split the Communists and the Catholic MRP party [popular republican movement] ride for the time being.

Former WPB Chairman Declines Hollywood Job

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—J. A. Krug, former chairman of the War Production board, announced in a statement today that he had declined an offer of a post as vice president of the Motion Picture Producers association in Hollywood.

TRY THIS $2,000,000 WHISKEY SOUR!

Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so smooth and delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

THEN DO THIS!

1. Squeeze ¾ ounce of lemon juice into a cocktail shaker.

2. Add 1 teaspoonful sugar, cracked ice, 1½ oz. of velvety Fleischmann's Bond!

3. Shake well, pour into a 6-ounce glass and garnish with fresh fruit! H-m-m-m!

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW BAN ON CLOSED SHOP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—The Supreme court today agreed to review a decision which upheld Florida's ban on closed union shops.

The ban is contained in an amendment to Florida's constitution which was adopted by the voters last fall. Federal court at Tampa ruled the amendment was an appropriate exercise of the state's police power and did not violate any federal statute. The American Federation of Labor appealed.

The Supreme court today also ruled unanimously that a better business bureau is not exempt from payment of social security taxes. The Better Business bureau of Washington, D. C., had asked the ruling on its contention that it was exempt from such taxes as an organization operated for educational and scientific purposes.

The government argued the bureau has an underlying commercial motive "to promote the successful functioning of the business system on a profitable basis."

AUSTRALIA WILL GIVE GENERAL OPEN HEARING

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Australian war cabinet ordered a judicial investigation today to determine the circumstances of Lt. Gen. H. Gordon Bennett's escape from the Japanese after the surrender of his forces in Malaya in February, 1942. This will give Bennett the open inquiry he demanded in place of the secret military tribunal hearing from which he walked out last month. He said he did not consider it proper to place his reputation in the hands of the military tribunal. Bennett was in command of Australian forces in Malaya. Premier Chifley did not say where or when the open inquiry would be held, nor did he disclose the findings of the army board of inquiry.

Yokohama GI Illnesses Cut 50% in 3 Months

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 13 (AP)—In September there was one chance in 100 that G. I. Joe in this area would become ill; now it's only one chance in 200, Brig. Gen. G. W. Rice, United States 8th army surgeon, said today. He credited the improvement to good diet, fine physical condition of the men, and adequate housing.

460,000 YANKS IN JAPAN; TOTAL SOON TO DROP

More on Way Home than Arriving, Says General

TOKYO, Nov. 14 [Wednesday]—(AP)—The American army which began occupying Japan Aug. 30 now totals approximately 460,000, is near its peak and soon will decline, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger said today. The estimated figures include southern Korea.

"We are about ready now to go down hill, with more troops returning to the United States than come to Japan," the 8th army commander explained.

Eichelberger said the 8th army has 177,000 men and 10,800 officers in Japan; the 6th army has approximately 195,000 officers and men, and the United States 24th corps has 70,000 officers and men in southern Korea.

British, Australian, Russian, and possibly Chinese troops are expected to join the occupation, with formal announcement of the plans to be made from the capitals of those countries.

Begin Reparations Study

Official deliberations on the size of the reparations bill Japan must pay began yesterday as the country received a forecast that it must slice its expenditures in half and increase taxes five fold.

Arrival of Edwin S. Pauley, President Truman's reparations representative, signaled full deliberations on the matter, already started by members of the reparations commission who arrived earlier.

Japan's semi-official post-war currency council, said the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi, reported to the finance ministry the necessity of halving expenditures and hiking taxes. These steps were termed necessary to control inflation.

Budget Sliced

The council recommended a 1946-'47 budget of not more than 15,000,000,000 yen, compared with the present budget of more than 111,000,000,000 yen. Nonmilitary items of the present budget are more than double the proposed 1946-'47 total.

Yomiuri Hochi said the council also recommended boosting revenues from the present 14,000,000,000 yen to 70,000,000,000.

The council made its report in connection with preparation of a five year program to stabilize Japan's currency.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 14—U. S. Troops Occupy Tampico

ON the sunny morning of Nov. 14, 1846, the lower Pánuco river, in Mexico, saw an impressive procession of United States naval might. A line of steamers and gunboats, followed by nine smaller craft packed with sailors and marines, was breasting the current of the stream.

Five miles ahead lay Tampico, an important port. Behind lay the treacherous bar across the mouth of the river, which had prevented the entrance of the three largest American ships—the frigates Mississippi, Princeton, and St. Mary's. It was from these that the sailors and marines in the small boats had come.

Commodore David Conner, commanding the squadron, was on one of the steamers—the Spitfire. As he came near the town a deputation from the city council embarked to meet him. Tampico was ready to surrender, was the deputation's message. [The Mexican troops, insufficient in number to defend the town, had withdrawn 17 days before.]

Conner declined to conclude any formal agreement with the town authorities on the ground that such a pact would be binding on him while it could justly be repudiated by the Mexican government. Instead, he entered into an informal agreement in which he undertook to protect the citizens of the town and their property. He took military possession of Tampico the following day.

NOBEL WINNER, RED CROSS VOWS BEST IN PEACE

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 13 (AP)—The international committee of the Red Cross, which yesterday received the 1944 Nobel peace prize, said in a statement today that its role as an impartial intermediary "is not concluded." It said it would do its best to discharge "the heavy duties" of the post-war period.

War time activities of the committee, which grew from a personnel of 300 in 1939 to 3,659 in 1945, included delivery of 33,000,000 parcels, dispatch of 1,280,000 books to prisoners of war camps, replies to 620,000 inquiries, and the handling of 300,000 cables.

Omit Two Awards

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Nobel peace prize will not be awarded for the years 1939 to 1943, the Nobel committee announced today. The 1945 award given to Cordell Hull, former United States secretary of state, carries with it an award of about $57,000. The award will be made officially on Dec. 12.

PULLMAN COMPANY CLERK DIES

Harry Reel, 56, of 1419 E. 53d st., a chief clerk for the Pullman company, died in Illinois Central hospital yesterday, apparently of the effects of self-administered poison. Police said he left a note saying he had been ill.

11½ Million Taxes Due, 361 Plots to Be Sold

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said yesterday that he would enter an order Nov. 24 for sale of 361 parcels of property on which 11½ million dollars in 1944 taxes are due. The order was requested by County Treasurer Schlaeger. Judge Jarecki said it will not apply to property owned by ex-service men who have been discharged within one year.

VOTE TO KEEP UP HOUSE HEARINGS ON PEACE DRAFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—By a vote of 15 to 12, the house military committee rejected today a motion to abandon hearings on the administration's peace time conscription plan until next year.

The action, on a motion by Rep. Short [R., Mo.], an opponent of conscription, was taken after War Secretary Patterson urged the committee to give prompt approval to the program. After the defeat of Short's motion, Committee Chairman May [D., Ky.] announced the group will hear Gen. Eisenhower's views on the proposal Thursday. The general arrived in Washington today after a welcome in Boston yesterday.

Patterson, under questioning by committee members, dismissed as impractical any substitute for the army's proposal to conscript youths 18 to 20 years old for one year's continuous training.

VAULT LOOTING MORGAN'S IDEA, LEAHY ASSERTS

The 2 million dollar looting of the vaults in E. H. Rumbold's real estate office at 624 W. 119th st. last Jan. 19 was planned by Llewellyn Morgan, 44, who pleaded guilty to a burglary charge in the case and was sentenced last August to three to eight years in the penitentiary, Thomas Leahy, who turned state's evidence, said yesterday in Criminal court.

"Morgan approached me with the idea more than a year ago, but first I thought he was teched in the head; I mean, nuts," Leahy said under cross-examination by Atty. James M. Burke. "Morgan told me the vaults were a soft touch, as he had cased them while working at Rumbold's as an assistant janitor. I later came to think so myself."

Leahy was a witness in the trial of Willie Niemoth, 51, ex-convict, who was acquitted of burglary and later indicted on a robbery charge. The trial is expected to be concluded today.

MOUNTBATTEN SAYS HIS STAFF CAN TELL NEWS

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Adm. Mountbatten, commander of the allied southeast Asia command, said today in a cablegram to Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press:

"No restrictions have been placed on access of press correspondents to sources of news and information in the southeast Asia command. Instructions have now been given that staff officers may give information to the press verbally, but divisional commanders and senior commanders are not to do so in person."

Cooper sent a protest to Mountbatten on Nov. 7 against the abandonment of press conferences, which provided information on military activities in the Netherlands East Indies.

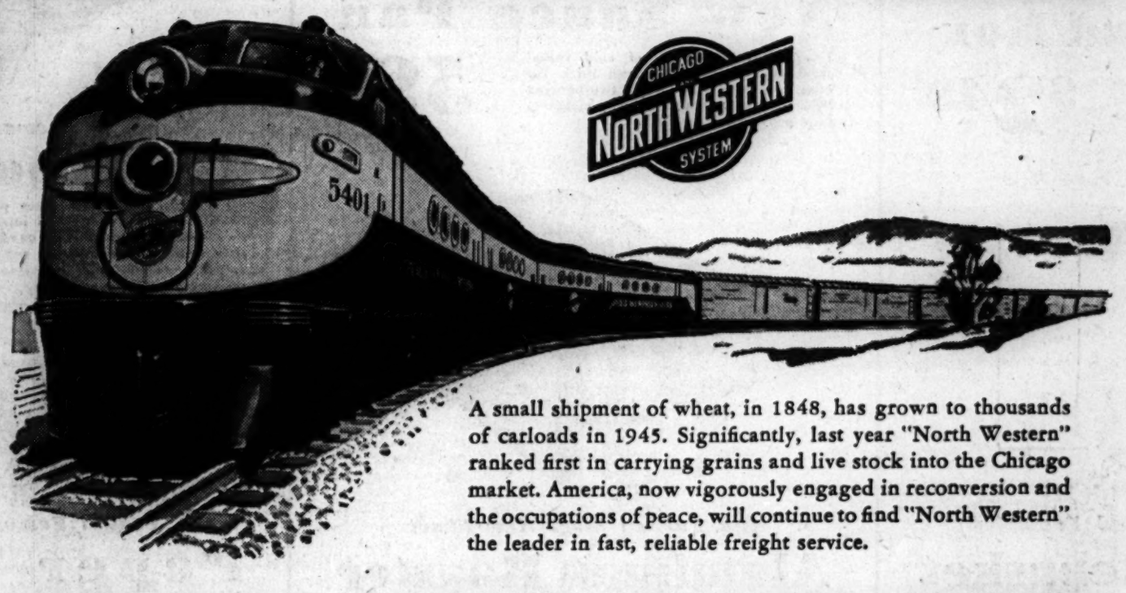
$15 A DAY REVENUE!
--Rail Officials Were Gleeful

Ninety-seven years ago, when Chicago's first locomotive, the Old Pioneer, chugged westward to the banks of the Des Plaines river, a hint of the railroad-to-come was indicated on that initial run.

The significant thing was not the group of Who's Who making the first trip—it was a load of wheat.

Some one had "sold" the railroad on hauling the grain on the return journey. It was a great idea—within a week 30 loads of wheat were waiting at the Des Plaines river to be hauled into Chicago!

Rail officials were gleeful. With sharpened pencils they figured that this freight revenue might run as high as $15 a day!



A small shipment of wheat, in 1848, has grown to thousands of carloads in 1945. Significantly, last year "North Western" ranked first in carrying grains and live stock into the Chicago market. America, now vigorously engaged in reconversion and the occupations of peace, will continue to find "North Western" the leader in fast, reliable freight service.

4 Reasons Why
Fleischmann's makes America's Most Delicious Martini!

FLEISCHMANN'S QUALITY!
1 It's so soft! So velvety! The secret is just simply that FLEISCHMANN'S discards that part of the "run" containing most of the impurities! Then . . . every drop is carefully filtered!

FLEISCHMANN'S SMOOTHNESS!
2 Light! Dry! Delicate! Smooth! The reason? It's 75 years of "know how"—for no other gin was made in America before FLEISCHMANN'S!

FLEISCHMANN'S TASTE!
3 It's priceless! Found only in FLEISCHMANN'S. It comes from a mash specially prepared from finest American grains! Then—distilled by a process of continuous distillation!

FLEISCHMANN'S MIXABILITY!
4 The result is a gin so crystal clear . . . smooth . . . delicate —it never "masks" flavors . . . always lets you enjoy the "hidden taste" of Vermouth, fruit juices or other mixers!

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 13—"The evidence presented in the long weeks of this trial proves conclusively that all 45 persons in the dock were party to a conspiracy, that they joined in action to ill treat allied nationals under their care, and that they committed war crimes according to international law," Prosecutor Col. T. M. Backhouse declared today in his final address in the trial of 45 jailers of the concentration camps at Auschwitz [Oswiecim] and Belsen.

The prosecutor first dealt with the charge that the trial lasted too long. He pointed out that the 45 are being tried for their lives and that the prosecution took 18 days while the defense took 30, and "no one can begrudge each of the accused one day of trial, if their lives are involved. If this proves that the accused have been given the fullest chance to defend themselves, then it can be said that not a day has been wasted."

Cites Hague, Geneva

The prosecutor took issue with the allegations of the London university authority on international law, Prof. H. A. Smith, who lectured in court last week, claiming the accused are not guilty of war crimes. Backhouse said both the Hague and Geneva conventions on the treatment of prisoners and foreign nationals were violated by the Germans in their concentration camps, "where allied nationals were submitted to ill treatment in time of war."

As prisoners of war or as allied nationals found within reach of the Germans and interned by them, or as inhabitants of countries overrun during war, millions of men and women were subjected to "all forms of corporal punishment and cruelty" inadmissible under the Geneva and the Hague conventions, Backhouse said. "Since the accused were the ones who inflicted the corporal punishment and suffering they are war criminals," he added.

Destruction Called Aim

Smith argued that the concentration camps existed before the war and therefore were not connected with it, but Backhouse said that "the Germans interned the Jews to destroy the Jewish race. They interned and ill treated the Poles to destroy Poland. They interned and ill treated nationals from France, Holland, Belgium, Greece, Russia, and other countries for the deliberate purpose of weakening these countries, and to free German man power for the benefit of war. Furthermore, other allied nationals were employed in war plants in furtherance of the German war aims."

Some of the defense officers alleged that the internees in the German concentration camps came from countries incorporated into Germany, but Backhouse pointed out that "before you annex a country a war must be over. That war was continuing."

"Superior Orders" Issue

"The defense claimed the accused were acting on superior orders," said Backhouse. "All the accused admitted they were theoretically forbidden to beat prisoners, but they all admitted doing it. If the allegation of acting under orders is to stand, then it must be proved that the accused were unaware they were doing something wrong, but it was proved that the accused all knew what was happening was wrong. Frau [Joseph] Kramer testified that even her husband knew what was happening was wrong.

"Can the court believe that persons involved in the gassing of millions, which outraged peoples' sentiments thruout the world, did not know they were committing a war crime? If the Germans considered gassing legal, as claimed by [Heinrich] Himmler, why did they try to keep it secret? Kramer and others were specifically pledged not to mention gassing. Kramer committed perjury in his first deposition in this trial because of his pledge. Witnesses and accused revealed that forgeries were carried out in the Auschwitz camp in order to camouflage the gassing."

U.S. BLOWS UP SECOND FARBEN WAR FACTORY

Munitions Plants Are Reduced to Rubble

EBENHAUSEN, Germany, Nov. 13 (AP)—The $70,000,000 I. G. Farben controled nitrocelluiose plant, which fed the nazi war machine 5 per cent of its nitrocellulose supply, was blown up today as the allies continued their demolition of Germany's war industries.

In a single spectacular explosion the plant's two major units—a five story nitrater building and a power plant—were reduced to smoking rubble. The explosion also knocked down near-by buildings and sent clouds of black smoke into the sky.

Wreck Powder Plant

The Farben powder plant at Kaufbueren was wrecked yesterday by 90 tons of TNT.

The Ebenhausen plant produced 1,000 tons of nitrocellulose and 350 tons of nitrocellulose powder monthly until it was damaged for the first time by allied bombers last April. Today was the second time the allies have destroyed the Ebenhausen plant. It first was demolished in 1919, but was rebuilt later by the Germans.

Next on the allied demolition list is a $65,000,000 nitro-cellulose and powder plant at Aschau. The date for blowing up of this plant has not been set.

General Sets Off Blast

Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, United States 3d army commander, commenting on the destruction of the war plants said, "This begins the destruction of Germany's war potential." The general pushed the plunger which set off the explosion levelling 60 buildings of the powder plant at Kaufbueren.

The explosions, destroying only a few buildings at a time, were dwarfed by previous preparatory blasts of unsalvageable powder which killed one German civilian and broke windows in Kaufbueren, two miles away. No casualties were reported today.

The plant, extending over an area of two square miles and consisting of 243 scattered buildings, was valued at $45,000,000.

CHICAGO NAVAL OFFICER SAVED, 4 LOST IN CRASH

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—A search of a 10 mile stretch of the Potomac river today failed to reveal any trace of four persons missing in the Monday night crash of a navy plane.

The plane, from which all five passengers and presumably the pilot parachuted after it ran short of fuel in a fog, was found during the day in woods three miles from Indianhead, Md.

Two of the passengers, both of whom landed in the river, were rescued last night. They were Lt. Comdr. Henry Meers, 39 E. Schiller st., Chicago, and WAVE Lt. (j. g.) Caroline Bohannon, Miami, Fla.

Two Die in Crash

Mountain View, Ark., Nov. 13 (AP)—Two crewmen were killed in the crash of a two engine army training plane late yesterday, Sheriff Earl Storey reported today. Two other members of the crew were not injured seriously. Army air force intelligence officers tentatively identified the dead men as Maj. Vincent E. Montgomery, former athletic coach at the University of South Dakota, and Warrant Officer James D. Schulgen of Santa Rosa, Tex.

5,168 MEN AND 1 WOMAN ARRIVE FROM YOKOHAMA

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 13 (AP)—Lt. Wilhelmina Britsch of Philadelphia, Pa., was one woman among more than 5,000 men who returned last night from Yokohama aboard the U. S. S. General Randall.

A flight nurse with 600 hours flying time as a member of the 804th evacuation squadron, Lt. Britsch said she planned to return to her position with the Philadelphia public nursing service.

The ship brought back 1,012 officers and 4,157 enlisted men.

AIR POWER

New York American, March 12, 1937

"Whatever is right can be achieved through the irresistible power of awakened and informed public opinion. Our object, therefore, is not to enquire whether a thing can be done, but whether it ought to be done, and if it ought to be done, to so exert the forces of publicity that public opinion will compel it to be done."

W. R. Hearst

In 1910 the Hearst Newspapers predicted that when war broke out flying ships would destroy fighting ships.

In 1924 the Hearst Newspapers warned that the surest way to peace for America was to build an unbeatable air force.

In 1925 the Hearst Newspapers strongly supported the campaign of the late General "Billy" Mitchell for greater emphasis on military air power.

In 1926 the Hearst Newspapers criticized Army and Navy Brass Hats for failure to develop air strength and strategy.

In 1928 the Hearst Newspapers pointed out Germany's great and growing strength in commercial aviation.

In 1934 the Hearst Newspapers again called upon Congress and the Roosevelt administration for the building of a formidable air force.

In 1935 the Hearst Newspapers called our $13,000,000 budget for aircraft defense "hopelessly inadequate."

Why the Steel Industry Cannot Pay Increased Wages Now

Steel Prices were frozen by OPA at Pre-War levels— Costs have Soared—Many steel products now sell at a loss— Answer to present wage demands depends on steel price policy of OPA

TODAY, because of government-controlled prices and high costs, many steel products are being sold at a loss. That is why the steel industry cannot now pay higher wages.

A demand for a general wage increase of $2 a day has been made by the United Steelworkers of America-CIO. In presenting this demand, Philip Murray served notice that this demand was not subject to "dickering or compromise." To enforce this demand, strike votes are being taken this month in the steel industry. Any general stoppage of steel production would be a calamitous blow to reconversion.

Increased wages cannot be paid out of thin air. Proceeds from sales of steel provide the only fund out of which wages can be paid. Today the ceiling prices imposed by OPA do not provide a sufficient return to pay current costs of steel operations, let alone any increase in wages.

Present OPA ceiling prices for steel products are generally less than steel prices in 1937. However, labor and other costs in the steel industry have gone up tremendously. These ever-mounting costs have squeezed out virtually all of the profit originally contained in pre-war steel prices.

Accordingly, today steel producers are entitled to substantial increases in these ceiling prices. Many months ago they asked OPA for such price relief. OPA has not acted.

Collective bargaining conferences between steel producers and the Union have already been held. Nothing can be accomplished toward negotiating any wage increase until OPA performs its statutory duty. Under act of Congress, steel producers are entitled to ceiling prices which yield on each product a profit equivalent to that of the base period, established by OPA as 1936-1939.

Wages in the steel industry do not need to be further advanced to keep pace with increases in the cost of living since January 1941. Increases in average straight time hourly earnings in the steel industry, (without overtime) between January 1941 and August 1945 rose 34 per cent, or more than the advance during this same period in the U. S. Department of Labor Index of the cost of living.

Today steel workers rank among the highest paid wage earners in American industry. In August 1945, average straight time pay for steel workers was $1.15 an hour, without counting overtime pay. The end of the war has not eliminated all overtime in the steel industry, and a considerable period of time may elapse before the industry fully returns to a normal 40-hour work week.

Until OPA authorizes fair prices, nothing can be settled through collective bargaining.

MR. ATTLEE'S EMPIRE

Recent days have seen a multitude of public appearances by the admirals and generals who won the war and well deserved expressions of gratitude to them in cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Their appearances have not been accidental nor have these distinguished men been brought home merely for the purpose of receiving the freedom of various municipalities.

The army and navy are engaged in a titanic struggle before congress over the question of merging them in a single department of public defense and both sides are hustling their biggest names back from the battle areas to impress the congressmen. After Gen. Doolittle's testimony, which evoked screams of anguish from Secretary Forrestal and the Annapolis club, it can be expected that the slugging will be uninhibited and no holds barred.

The appearances of Gen. Eisenhower, Adm. Halsey, and others offer, moreover, a very welcome relief to Mr. Truman and his administration. Public demonstrations such as Chicago and Boston staged on Armistice day in honor of the two battle leaders tend to direct attention away from the total failure of this nation to achieve in the fighting in Europe and the Pacific the objectives for which our political leaders assured the American people they were fighting during the war.

Gen. Eisenhower in Boston expressed apprehension lest a too rapid discharge of soldiers mean that "an enduring peace may disappear and the war may have been fought in vain." The general didn't specify any of the objectives of the war and it is just as well that he didn't, for the very catalog of them would have disclosed that most of them were sought in vain, no matter how many soldiers we leave in Europe. He is charged with policing Germany and he did say that if we weaken our forces in that country the Germans may get the idea that we are not equal to our tasks there.

Gen. Eisenhower holds, no doubt, that we have more important and more noble tasks than holding down and punishing further a German people already impoverished and starving, but he did not name those objectives. The fact is that the alliance which prosecuted the European war is completely shattered. Russia has embarked on a program of imperialism indistinguishable from that of Hitler. The British find their own and other colonial systems collapsing in spite of the most brutal measures taken to sustain them. Both the Atlantic Charter, which was a statement of ideals, and the united nations organization, which was an effort to gloss over with the idealism of a phony world organization the cynical system of power politics, are equally a delusion and an obscene joke.

Mr. Attlee is in Washington. His worries mount by the day. There must be times when he considers that his predecessor, Mr. Churchill, in the autumn of the air blitz or the black summer when Tobruk fell and Hitler was beating on the gates of Stalingrad, was a relatively unworried man. Mr. Churchill probably thinks so, too.

The tottering British empire finds itself menaced both in Europe and Asia by revived Russian imperialism. No gesture of appeasement toward the Russians is too extravagant for Mr. Attlee, particularly if it can be at the expense of the United States. Mr. Truman has said that we shall hold the secret of the atomic bomb at least until we know more about the course of the world. Mr. Attlee is trying to persuade him to turn it over to Russia, thru the channel of the united nations security council. The bomb is purely an offensive weapon. It is useful to the Russians only if they intend to attack somebody. How their sense of security against attack, if that is all they desire, can be enhanced by the possession of such an offensive weapon is more than Mr. Attlee can demonstrate.

Mr. Attlee has other missions in Washington. He wants some billions of dollars from the United States on terms which will make the so-called loan transparently a gift. His troubles are not confined to Russian aggression nor to the colonial uprisings in Java and elsewhere against which the British are using their lend-lease weapons with indifferent success, nor to the Jewish demands and the Arab disorders over Palestine, nor to Egypt's latest demand that the British recognize in fact the independence which they have long acknowledged in principle. Mr. Attlee's greatest problems are in the domestic field. He is seeking to rescue a nation, ravished, it is true, by war, but weakened long before the war by a rotten caste system, in which capitalism had lost its progressiveness and its will to compete, and labor, in self-defense against cartels and price fixing, had limited production.

Mr. Attlee and his party have been promising the British people pie in the sky. He is in Washington to beg the pie. The argument which he uses is that if we do not put the people of the British homeland on an international WPA the British empire will perish and the United States, with incomparably the greatest navy and greatest air force and most efficient army in the world, will suddenly find itself without the empire's protection.

What if the empire should perish? The people of Great Britain have been living off that empire for two or three centuries. They would have to reform their ways and the reformation would be most painful. Instead of higher wages and a higher standard of living, British labor would have to accept lower wages and a lower standard of living until such time as it has increased its industrial productivity. A Great Britain thrown on its own resources could no longer afford either its lords or its millionaires. The lords would have to go to work and the millionaires would find that their millions, too much of which are static wealth, represented by obsolete industrial plants supported by cartel agreements, would vanish. Nevertheless, the British people as a whole would be far healthier and eventually far happier if all this happened.

There remains the empire which is no longer capable of supporting Mother England. That is why Mr. Attlee is in Washington. The dominions are already politically independent nations and their contributions during the war have rendered them virtually independent economically of British banking. With the exception of New Zealand, where liberty has been overthrown by fascism and enormous graft, the dominions know more of liberty today than the people of England itself and are better equipped for living in a modern world.

The rest of the empire consists of the colonials, the dark skinned people who have borne the burden of the imperial display. They are ready to cast off that burden and it is doubtful whether Britain can keep them in subjection much longer, either by the wiles of diplomacy or the force of arms. They are men and they strive for freedom. Eventually, tho perhaps not this year or next, they will win it. It is hard to see how the world would suffer by this extension of freedom, even tho it means the extinction of a once mighty empire. It is even harder to see how the United States would suffer from such an event.

IN WHICH WE SKIN A SKUNK

Robert St. John, a minor league war correspondent, has set himself up in business as a news commentator and has persuaded a physic vendor to buy time for him on the National Broadcasting chain. He also picks up a few stray dollars on the small town lecture circuit.

In a speech before the brother Elks of Fairfield, Ia., the other day he asserted that THE TRIBUNE and the Hearst newspapers are trying to foment a war between the United States and Russia. Mr. Hearst can answer for himself. So far as THE TRIBUNE is concerned, St. John is a deliberate and contemptible liar.

His speech followed the usual party line of the Communists. The Russians, he said, love communism [including, it must be presumed, the 10 or 20 million Russians whom the Communists are working to death in slave labor camps]; we should give the Russians the atomic bomb technique as a gesture of confidence; the British are just as big stinkers as the Communists; Gen. MacArthur is a stinker, too, because he has not let Russian newspapermen into Japan, etc., etc.

THE TRIBUNE'S position on Russia is familiar to its readers. We have pointed out repeatedly the adoption of the czar's old imperialist policy by the communist government. We have shown how Russian aggression is making mockery of the San Francisco Charter and the one world conception. We have also said repeatedly that the only fundamental source of conflict between the United States and Russia is Russia's use of American Communists and such fellow travelers as St. John to influence the national policy of this country; that the United States and Russia have no conflict in territorial aspirations; that war between the two countries would be unthinkably stupid, and that the only people in the the United States who are trying to promote such a war are a pro-British element who see Russian imperialism as a menace to British imperialism.

Mr. St. John has disregarded the first rule for successful liars, which is never to say anything that every one knows isn't so.

We would not be giving this pipsqueak attention were it not that he is a symptom of the sad state into which the radio industry and so-called radio journalism have sunk in this country. The Blue network, organized only three years ago, destroyed its reputation so completely by spreading for profit the communist propaganda of William Gailmor, the automobile thief, the calumnies of the all-American liar, Drew Pearson, and Walter Winchell's venom and incitement of race hatred, that the chain now has had to adopt an alias. It announced a few months ago that it would no longer call itself the Blue network, but would be known hereafter as the American Broadcasting company.

The National Broadcasting company, either wilfully or because it is being blackmailed by fellow travelers in the federal communications commission, now seems to be following the same path. It caters to Communists and has almost as disreputable a list of speakers as the discredited Blue network.

GLENVIEW

Operation of the Glenview naval air station is to be continued, under the command of Rear Adm. Frank D. Wagner, who, until recently, was aircraft commander of the 7th fleet. The facilities which formerly were used for primary training will now be used to instruct the naval air reserves and keep them in touch with the latest developments, as they come along.

Adm. Wagner said the other day that the reserves were the backbone of naval aviation in the war. He might have added that the superiority of our naval aviation turned the scales against Japan. Glenview made its enormous contribution to this success. As service schools go, it is one of the youngest, but it already has a record and a tradition that can hardly be surpassed.

It would have been a pity if all this had been lost. The decision to keep Glenview as an important element in the navy's peace time program was a sound one.

There will be no lack of singers to hymn the nation's debt to Annapolis in the recent war. Somebody ought to sing of Chicago's contribution. A substantial proportion of the carrier pilots learned their art in this area. Hundreds of thousands of young men were trained at Great Lakes and at Navy pier. Thousands of deck officers were taught at Northwestern university's Abbott hall. Abbott hall is gone, but Great Lakes and Glenview remain and, we hope, will always remain as Chicago's link with the fleet.

SMOKE IN THE EYES

A quiet, unpretentious man, displaying none of the superficial traits of musical talent, was the late Jerome Kern. We fear that the Hollywood scenarists will have difficulty in arranging the plot for his inevitable movie biography. No cult formed around him to proclaim with bated breath that he was a genius. And yet he was the most eminent and prolific composer of light music in his time. During the quarter of a century that is marked off by the world wars, he was the American Offenbach.

Kern's numerous scores for musical shows and films have never been shouted about as "modern"; they pleased every one, therefore they could not be associated with any vogue for eccentricity or experiment in composition. But he was a modernist, and he identified himself as such in the only line of self-promotion that he ever wrote. See his item in "Who's Who," which says: "Specializes in the application of the modern school of harmony to the lighter forms of opera." He stated a fact, to which we will add this postscript: "Fortunately, he did not overspecialize."

"Very Good, Eddie," "Love o' Mike," "O, Boy," "Leave It to Jane," "O, Lady, Lady," "Sally," "Sunny," "Show Boat," "Sweet Adeline," "Music in the Air," and "Roberta."

His only deviation from the simple life of composing popular music and earning vast royalties was to browse in the dusty regions inhabited by bibliophiles. He was a major leaguer among book collectors, and would not hesitate to bid for a First Folio of Shakespeare. The dealers thought that he bought recklessly, but we note with approval that he sold his library of rare items at the top of the market, shortly before the post-war boom became a depression, and took over a million dollars.

THEY ALSO SERVED

They have no Silver Star, no Purple Heart,
No stripes to show how many months they served.
They were the ones that stayed and did their part
By keeping house each day. They have not swerved
From tasks beyond their strength, nor from dull fear
When letters failed to come and nights were long;
They battled on when dark clouds hovered near,
And cooked, and scrubbed, and kept their courage strong.
Tho men may never honor them as great,
They also served who stayed at home to wait.

To grace my tower of good verse—my scrapbook—I choose "Ivory Tower," by Autolycus. He has the universal mind, the compassionate soul, and the classical style that posterity waits for—so he can afford to wait for posterity. Then come Casual, Quizzicuss, Commodore, and Marjorie F. W. "Old Wolf" Hig is always infectious in his verse, so I saved his poems. I also clipped poems by the following: Helene Grossenbacher, Margaret D., Uncle Louie, Bendemeer, Natalie Flohr, Louise, Celia, Earle W. Carter, John O. Perreault, Annette Victorin, V. As for the wit, most of it, whether male or female and over what signature, sounds like that Mexican jumping bean, Delos Avery—but good.

The glad-and-sad cover, with the title changed to "This Book Belongs to Georgie," now serves to inclose a picture scrapbook for the 4 year old.

It strikes me that despite the material destruction, the book has been put to excellent use, Georgie beams. Selma Walden

NOVEMBER NIGHT

The little summer voices now are stilled;
The weight of midnight rests upon the far
Gray hills that seem to crouch and huddle, filled
With awe and rapture at a shooting star.
The moon lets down its silver ladders. Rung
By rung the darkness climbs away from earth,
And silence, in a gentle, kindred tongue,
Presages winter, round with snowy mirth.
The loneliness of this November night
Holds something of a sacred quality—
Its burnished hours forever lost in flight
Have left the trees a breathless memory,
And we, the sleepless ones, stand wonder-eyed
At frost and moonlight like a shining tide.

Mrs. E. S. M. asks: "Is it still possible to send V-mail letters to service personnel in Europe and the Pacific?"

The army and navy have stopped microfilming V-mail letters, but V-mail letter sheets will continue to be accepted to and from army and fleet postoffices overseas. These letters will be sent by rail to the postoffices shown in the address unless prepaid for airmail at the rate of 6 cents for each half ounce. This mail will be transported overseas by air by the army and navy from the postoffices shown in the address. Complaints about slowness of mail from the Pacific area are explained by the use of planes for movement of men to the United States with the consequent result that mail is being brought back by ship.

P. L. asks: "Why are some navy shoulder insignia worn in the center of the sleeve and others worn on the face of the sleeve? Are regulations different for different outfits?"

EXCRUCIATING FACIAL PAIN

AMONG the most distressing diseases of the nerves is tic douloureux, or trigeminal neuralgia. Victims encounter periodic attacks of pain on one side of the face and many travel far and wide seeking relief. In some, this can be obtained only by severing the affected structure.

Symptoms are characteristic and distinguishable from other types of facial neuritis. The main complaint is severe boring, throbbing, or burning pain. It comes in waves and may be found along the distribution of one or more of the three branches of the trigeminal nerve. The first, or ophthalmic, produces distress above or behind the eye, radiating upward over the forehead. The middle involves the upper lip, side of the nose, cheek, and temple—even the forehead. The third division carries fibers from the lower lip, jaw, chin, gums, ear, and tongue.

Bouts may last for a minute or two and recur at frequent intervals. In others, each episode persists slightly longer but is not so intense. During the seizure the face is often screwed up and twitching is observed. Others keep the mouth half open and the jaw fixed. Tears may start to flow. A few rub or press the part but the majority do not even dare to touch it. As a rule, when the anguish subsides the nerve is still on edge and so sensitive that the slightest motion may start the phenomenon again. The victim soon learns that no more than a gust of wind on the cheek or the mere brushing of the nose or lip will give rise to discomfort. Such areas are known as "trigger zones."

After the acute stage passes there may be a lull and the affliction will vanish for months or years. In time, however, it reappears—fortunately, in a less violent form. These individuals often live in apprehension, fearing the return of the symptom.

The origin cannot always be determined. Infection is sometimes responsible especially in the teeth, gums, tongue, tonsils, or sinuses. A blow on the face may result in an irritating scar formation. It is more common in those whose resistance has been lowered by an exhausting illness, anemia, malaria, or a toxic disturbance. The visitation may be preceded by chills, exposure, fatigue, or emotional upsets with depression or undue anxiety. Altho universal, the disease is more prevalent in cold and wet climates.

If relief is to be expected, a diligent search should be undertaken to ascertain whether nests of bacteria exist anywhere in the body. The teeth must be scrutinized carefully. Now and then an impacted molar is to blame. A study of the jaws is required, especially in spaces where teeth have been extracted previously, for residual infection. In certain instances, even tho abnormalities are found, they are apparently not the cause, for removal does not bring improvement.

During the attack, painkilling drugs such as trichlorethylene give temporary amelioration. Should simple methods fail, more radical treatment is advised. This includes injecting the nerve with alcohol or cutting the fibers surgically. Ordinarily, the local application of substances over the fibers themselves is of no value altho occasionally X-ray radiation appears to have a soothing effect.

SENSES

G. T. writes: A says we have five senses. B claims there are many more. Who is right?

REPLY

The early classification of five included vision, hearing, taste, smell, and touch. But we possess also sensations of pressure, heat, cold, pain, tickling, equilibrium, hunger, thirst, and proprioception [knowledge of the position and state of the muscles, joints, etc.].

RUDIMENTARY MUSCLES

C. T. writes: Why is it that some people can wiggle their ears?

REPLY

It's the animal in them. Our four-legged friends use the external ears as sound detectors. Humans do not need this extra protection, hence few have learned to control the muscles in these structures.

"GOOD FOR YOU"

G. N. writes: Would table tennis and bowling be all right for one whose symptoms are purely functional on the neurotic side?

REPLY

Yes, indeed. This form of exercise will use up some of the energy now devoted to self-consciousness.

NORMALCY

W. W. writes: When a person's I. Q. is all right how can he prove his sanity otherwise?

REPLY

His actions, contact with reality, and sense of responsibility add up to make him what he is.

Helpful Stranger

One of our super-market spies was standing at a de luxe fruit counter the other day when she spotted a display of avocado pears priced at 69 cents apiece. "Sixty-nine cents each!" she said aloud. "My goodness!" A woman beside her leaned over with an expression of pleased enlightenment. "Yes," she whispered, "and they're green, too."

Of Arms and the Stomach

Having any trouble getting milk these days? If so, it might well be because the men back from war are swilling it down by the gallon. Milk, eggs, and ice cream are what they ask for first. Next come steak, hamburgers, and anything that Ma used to make. A man who came back on the Antioch Victory last week kept track of a few of the edibles consumed by his 1,900 fellow travelers. An army captain who had spent two years in India ate for breakfast, in this order, the following: A chocolate marshmallow nut sundae with a banana, a chocolate ice cream soda, a caramel nut sundae, two fried eggs, a slice of ham, and three sugared doughnuts. He then quaffed off a quart of milk. Two boys from Antwerp, who hadn't seen a banana since they left home two years before, each ate six bananas, tearing into a new one as soon as they were down to the rind on its predecessor. The ship docked at 2 p. m. By 6 p. m. one man had drunk six quarts of milk. Another ate a dozen eggs, saying, "The only reason my outfit ever got home was that for two years I turned down those powdered eggs, and then one morning I ate some. That day my whole regiment got its sailing orders." Enough popcorn, maple sugar, and steak couldn't be found to cope with the demands of the ship's load, but what with one thing and another, when the 1,900 finally got bedded down for the night at Camp Kilmer, none could sleep. All had an old fashioned stomach ache. "Mmmmm," said one, as he clutched his aching abdomen. "Just like Thanksgiving."

Understatement

A man we know insists only women can write letters. As proof he cites the father of a boy in the navy who waited for weeks to hear detailed facts of the great typhoon off Okinawa. The letter came at last. The father opened it eagerly. Buried in it was this: "We had a kind of a bad storm here the other day."

Don't Write; Stamp!

Handmade rubber stamps are on the boom in Manila. Pvt. Ken Hughes reports that service men are ordering them by the dozen by Filipino artisans who set up shop—a table, chair, and cigar box full of material—on street corners. The stamps say "Bring the Boys Home," "Get Us to the United States Even on Liberty Ships," or "Are We Forgotten?" The GIs stamp all outgoing mail with them.

Attention, Miss Post

The sugar shortage being what it is, some hostesses no longer attempt to camouflage their irritation when guests take several teaspoons of sugar for their coffee and then forget to stir it. A lady we know had this brought to her attention when, while helping her hostess wash the dishes, the hostess noticed a large deposit of sugar in a breakfast cup. "Somebody in this house doesn't stir his sugar!" she yelled at the top of her voice. The guest, well aware she was the only person other than her hostess who used sugar, blushed in deep embarrassment and the next week, when visiting in Philadelphia, related the matter at luncheon to her new hostess. The new hostess promptly rang for the maid. "Leora," she said firmly, "if Miss Duncan doesn't stir her sugar while she stays here, it is not to be mentioned."

CHRISTMAS, 1945

Camp Blanding, Fla., Nov. 4—Soon it will be Christmas. My 2 year old son will have a cheap wooden toy, but he'll be happy. My 10 year old daughter will receive some inexpensive clothing, nothing to please her too much, but something practical, utilitarian. My wife and I will not exchange gifts. We cannot afford it. You see, I am a service man.

This Christmas will be the biggest and grandest in many years for most of America. A vast percentage of workers in our nation have struck for and received higher wages. Their taxes are lower. Even the civil service employes, secure in their tax paid jobs, are assured of a 20 per cent raise.

But I am an army father. There are thousands of us, forgotten, relegated to the low point groups, waiting for the day when we can be liberated from service to provide again for our families.

We are well cared for. We wear warm clothing. We eat well. But not our families. My wife receives $100 a month from our grateful government. With it she pays $50 rent. With the remaining $50 she buys food and clothing and fuel and necessities for three people. Around her the grateful people of the nation fight harder and harder for higher wages. Prices go higher and higher. But her dole remains the same.

Time was when my children would have fared well on Christmas. I had a good job, a professional job for which I spent years in preparation. I was deferred because I had two children. Then, when the fighting became bitter in France, I was inducted. Now, only a year and a half later, I have only a few points and cannot get out of service. I have been forgotten by the war department and the nation. So have thousands of fathers in similar straits.

But my son doesn't know this nor does my daughter. They still want to eat. They still want clothes. They still want to enjoy Christmas. They cannot understand it when we say we are poor, that daddy, who works so hard from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., doesn't have enough money to buy them the Christmas gifts all other children have. Christmas gifts? Not even the necessities other children have.

But my daughter, being older, is wiser.

"Isn't the war over?" she asked. "Then why do daddies have to stay in the army?"

And I can't tell her. Any more than I can tell her why Santa Claus is going to forget her this year.

Is there any one in this land of the free who can do that? SERVICE MAN

A THIEF IS A THIEF

New Castle, Ind., Nov. 10—Your correspondent in Windsor writes [Nov. 7] of members of the CIO "commandeering" cars of citizens. Nuts! If the cars were taken by force, it is theft and the men thieves, and why not say so? "To commandeer" means the taking of property under show of public authority.

If this were an isolated instance, I would roll over and go back to sleep; but the newspapers and radio are filled with this type of cockeyed euphemism in reporting the activities of labor mobs. Why use a special vocabulary to differentiate criminal acts of members of organized minorities from similar acts by nonmembers? Why say a man "sits down" in another's property when he trespasses; that he "commandeers" another's car, when he steals it?

AN OLD WORLD EVIL

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 24—The idea of saying that universal conscription will "keep us out of war" is irony to the nth degree, more so if it is said by Democrats. Train a man to use a tool and he will want to use it. So will he be eager to try out what he has been trained to do with instruments of legalized murder. Even now men are talking of trying out the atomic bomb on useless ships, just to see what havoc they will cause. Shall the new world adopt what proved to be the destruction of the old? God forbid.

U. S. BLOCKING STEEL PARLEY, SAYS FAIRLESS

Attacks Frozen Prices and Union Tactics

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation, said tonight that negotiations for a settlement of a wage controversy with the CIO United Steel Workers "are being blocked by the union and the government."

Earlier Fairless rejected for a second time an appeal by Labor Secretary Schwellenbach for resumption of parleys with the union.

Fairless spoke tonight on a radio program sponsored by the American Iron and Steel institute in a question and answer discussion.

Tells of Murray Demand

"We are not refusing to bargain collectively," he said. "Negotiations are being blocked by the union and by the government. The president of the union, Philip Murray, said flatly in the very beginning that his demand for an increase of $2 a day was not subject to dickering or compromise.

"The government is blocking it by keeping steel prices frozen. Wages cannot continue to go up when prices must remain at their present level."

Fairless said the union's demand, if granted, would cost the industry "at least 225 million dollars a year."

Expects OPA Reply Soon

Commenting on how United States Steel's answer would apply to other steel companies, Fairless said:

"Many of the other companies also have met with the union in collective bargaining conferences and their situation has been much the same as ours. After all, the economic facts of life apply to every business, large or small."

Fairless told a reporter after the broadcast that he "expected an answer from OPA this week," apparently referring to his company's request for a steel price increase.

Charges "Bludgeon" Attempt

Murray has asserted that United States Steel was attempting to "bludgeon the government" into granting more profits.

A strike poll among the half million members of the steel workers' union employed by United States Steel and 768 other basic and fabricating steel and aluminum companies will be taken by the national labor relations board on Nov. 28 and Dec. 6.

Bus Strike Voted

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 (AP)—Employes of the Northland Greyhound Bus Lines have voted 784 to 68 in favor of a strike at a meeting of local 1150, [AFL] Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employes of America.

Michael Mastrian, president of the union here, in announcing the vote, today said that if the strike is called it will cover seven states—Minnesota, Wisconsin, Montana, parts of Illinois, Michigan, and North and South Dakota.

The workers are demanding a 15 per cent wage increase.

Reports "No Progress"

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—A union representative said tonight there has been "no progress" in a meeting between labor and management toward ending a strike that for 12 days has paralyzed Greyhound bus service east of the Mississippi.

Samuel B. Berrong, Milwaukee, Wis., a member of the executive board of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employes, said the issues still are being studied. Approximately 4,000 of the union's members on six Greyhound lines are on strike.

The bus drivers are seeking a wage increase of three-quarters of a cent a mile, and the maintenance employes a general 30 per cent increase.

Vote Return to Work

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 13 (AP)—Striking employes of the International Harvester plant here voted today to return to work tomorrow. Twenty-six hundred of the plant's 5,000 employes became idle when members of local 57, United Automobile Workers [CIO], walked out last Wednesday in a dispute over piecework rates.

3,500 LEATHER WORKERS CALL DAY'S HOLIDAY

More than 3,500 Chicago leather workers, members of the International Fur and Leathers Workers of the United States and Canada [CIO], will take a one day holiday tomorrow in 10 of the city's tanneries in support of their demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

Abe Feinglass, international vice president of the union and its regional director, said efforts will be made to have the unorganized employes of an additional tannery join the walkout. He said sufficient employes will be left on the job to guard against spoilage.

The demonstrators will gather at 8 a. m. across the street from the Chicago Rawhide Manufacturing company, 1301 Elston av., and march to Wicker hall, North and Damen avs., where they will listen to speakers.

PRIMROSE PATH ATONEMENT IS NEARING FINISH

Paul Jones Jr., 17, of 1460 Elmdale av., tool and die making apprentice, has been paying since last spring for the three weeks of luxurious living he enjoyed with the help of an army uniform and a friend's membership card in the Lake Shore club, 850 Lake Shore dr.

Jones told Judge J. M. Braude in Boys court yesterday that he had paid back $225 of the $315 bill he ran up at the club. "I've just reached the point where I can face my friends again," Jones said.

A charge of defrauding an innkeeper was continued by Judge Braude until Jan. 15, by which time Jones said he hoped to have squared accounts, including repayment of $8 he admitted taking from navy Chief Petty Officer R. D. Kiefaber of Dayton, O.

WILMETTE WIFE MAKES BOND IN ADULTERY CASE

Mrs. Dorothy J. McArthur Sandberg, 38, of 1216 26th st., Wilmette, was released on $200 bond yesterday by Justice of the Peace Alonzo Coburn on a charge of adultery filed by her husband, Harold L. Sandberg, of the same address. Sandberg is managing director of the Co-operative Medical Advertising bureau, 535 N. Dearborn st. Sandberg filed the complaint against his wife Monday and asserted that she had been missing from home since Nov. 7. She was arrested when she returned home yesterday. Sandberg was reported out of town. Hearing on the charge was fixed for Saturday at 11 a.m.

SEIZE SALESMAN ON CLUB SINGER'S FRAUD CHARGE

James J. Donnegan, 51, of 1120 N. State st., a salesman, arrested yesterday at Clark and Randolph sts. on a night club singer's charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, was released under $200 bond for a hearing before Judge Edward P. Luczak in Racine av. police court next Tuesday.

Mrs. Alicia Sheldon, 20, of 2154 N. Kedzie av., wife of a naval ensign who is overseas, said Donnegan was president of Talent Scout and Broadcast Productions, Inc., 64 E. Jackson blvd., when she paid $170 for a course in radio acting and modeling which, she asserted, was valueless.

The same corporation and the Citizens' Loan corporation, 5 E. Jackson blvd., are defendants in a Superior court suit for $2,788.50 filed by 19 young women who alleged they borrowed money to pay for training in jobs which were promised and failed to develop.

WIFE SWALLOWS POISON

Mrs. Lucille DeMonte, 26, of 932 Cleveland av., who told police she swallowed poison because her husband had not returned home, was taken yesterday to the Henrotin hospital, where it was said she would recover.

NEW TRIAL PLEA FOR DR. LYONS SAYS FOUR LIED

Perjury was committed by four members of the jury that returned a verdict Oct. 25 in favor of Mrs. Alice Lyons, 45, of the Stevens hotel, Atty. Robert E. Cantwell Jr. charged yesterday before Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court. Cantwell was the lawyer for Dr. Horace R. Lyons, specialist, whose divorce suit was denied by the jury. The attorney has moved for a new trial.

The four jurors, Cantwell said, had religious bias against divorce, but had represented themselves as free from such prejudice. He asserted further that all the jurors were led by their foreman to believe they could not disagree in a divorce matter, but must reach a decision. A woman juror, the attorney said, was approached in a loop hotel and asked "how the Lyons case is coming out."

Cantwell also argued that the jury had been incited by the "highly inflammatory" closing arguments of Mrs. Lyons' attorney, Benjamin H. Erhlich. Mrs. Lyons had sued for separate maintenance.

6,000 STUDENTS WILL BE GUESTS OF SYMPHONY

Music Pupils to Attend Weekly Broadcasts

BY LARRY WOLTERS

Approximately 6,000 city, suburban, and parochial high school students are to be guests during the Wednesday evening broadcasts of the Chicago Symphony orchestra this season. The programs are presented from the Eighth Street Theater from 8 to 9 p. m. over WCFL. Helen Howe, director of music for the Chicago public schools, will select the students to attend from city schools. Tickets will go, she said, to students who have shown exceptional ability and interest in music. Suburban and parochial schools will make their selections on a similar basis.

The story of Rush st. will be dramatized on W-G-N's Chicago Story program at 9 tonight. Dramatized episodes will depict how this street, once the site of magnificent homes, has now become identified with unusual restaurants and food and night spots.

Ralph Slater, the hypnotist, will be introduced in a new program series over W-G-N at 9 p. m. tomorrow. Slater, who has suggested hypnotism for treating certain kinds of mental disorders to the army, promises to hypnotize a member of his studio audience on each broadcast.

Many radio amateurs will be sitting up late tonight in preparation to celebrate their return to the air. At 2 a. m. tomorrow they may begin operations on several bands of frequencies released for their use by the federal communications commission. The hams again will be permitted to use the 28 megacycle band which in pre-war days carried many an international conversation. "Many of the 60,000 amateurs are looking forward to renewing their international friendships," Kenneth B. Warner, secretary of the American Amateur Relay league, said yesterday.

The Great Lakes Bluejacket choir, heard at 10:05 a. m. Sundays over WBBM-CBS, on Dec. 1 will become a permanent organization made up of 40 ship's company men. It will be the first time since the choir was formed in 1941 that it will not be plagued by the continuing turnover of personnel. Some 25,000 former choir members are scattered all over the world.

2 UNIONS SUED FOR $150,000 AS LOST IN STRIKE

Lewis Brothers Also Made Defendants

Whether unions and their officers may be held accountable for strikes called in violation of their duties under the war labor disputes act will be an issue in a suit for $150,000 damages filed yesterday in the federal District court.

Named defendants in the action by the Morden Frog & Crossing Works, 8 S. Michigan av., are the United Mine Workers of America and their president, John L. Lewis; the United Construction Workers and Lewis' brother, A. D. Lewis, who is their president; local 387 of the construction workers and 11 of its officers; four international representatives of the construction workers, and 36 members of the local employed in the company's plant at Chicago Heights.

War Work Suit Basis

Atty. Donald A. Morgan, who filed the suit, said 150 workers in the plant, engaged in the manufacture of railroad track equipment, and a strike called Sept. 29 are involved.

Morgan said his action is based on the fact that, because the Morden works was in war production it came under the title of a war contractor within the meaning of the war labor disputes act, the defendants may be held responsible for calling the strike in violation of that act. The strike, he said, was illegally called.

Loss Set at $150,000

The suit states John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers are involved because that union is the parent organization of the United Construction Workers; that the company's losses by reason of the strike aggregated the $150,000 demanded.

The dispute arose between the company and the unions Aug. 14.

5 PAY GAMING FINES IN COURT AT HOMEWOOD

Arrested by county highway police on charges of possessing slot machines, Rose Lithgow, 55, of 2202 Chicago rd., Chicago Heights; Tito Corsi, 52, of 147th st. and Cicero av.; Louis Simonetti of 2646 Chicago rd., Chicago Heights, and Anthony Michalski of 11 155th st., Calumet City, were fined $100 and costs each yesterday by Judge William Kane in Homewood county highway police court. Raymond Dahlkamp, 34, of 678 Douglas av., Calumet City, was fined $100 and costs on a charge of keeping a gambling place in a tavern at 16 State st., Calumet City, which was raided by Chief William McCarthy. The other arrests were made last week by Lt. John Burns.

Steals Rival's $200 Ring from Girl, Gets 60 Days

Raymond Williams, 22, of 3238 N. Whipple st., who stole a $200 diamond engagement ring from Miss Catherine Howard, 21, of 3138 Addison st., because he was jealous of the soldier who gave it to her, was sentenced by Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Felony court yesterday to 60 days in the Bridewell on a charge of petty larceny. Miss Howard said the ring was given to her by William Cramer, a soldier in Germany. The ring was returned to Miss Howard yesterday.

WIFE HE SHOT DIVORCES MATE IN COUNTY JAIL

Mrs. Phyllis Miller, 39, of 817 Cleveland av., won a divorce yesterday from Harry Miller, 34, a watchman, who is in the county jail for shooting and wounding his wife, Aug. 31, in front of Hotel Sherman. Judge Edwin A. Robson granted the decree in Superior court. Questioned by William J. Russo, her attorney, Mrs. Miller said her husband shot her after she spurned his offer of reconciliation. A week earlier, she said, he threatened her with a revolver and took $130 of her savings. The question of support payments for Harry Jr., 1, was held in abeyance pending Miller's release from jail. Mrs. Miller has four children by a former marriage.

Peggy, 66, Gets Her Wish: Christmas in Bridewell

Mrs. Margaret Peggy O'Neill, 66, who always likes to spend Christmas in the Bridewell, was assured by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in Women's court yesterday of being there again this year. Mrs. O'Neill, arrested for drunkenness, asked for a sentence of 100 days for disorderly conduct, but got only 55, which will cover the holidays.

33D GIs HEARD OVER W-G-N ON RETURN TO U. S.

Thru three special broadcasts yesterday, W-G-N brought the voices of men of the 33d division from Vancouver Barracks, Wash., to relatives and friends in Chicago and thruout Illinois. The former Illinois National Guard division arrived at Portland, Ore., on Sunday from Pacific duty. The interviews were recorded Sunday by the W-G-N special events department and flown to Chicago. Men and officers told of their joy at setting foot on American soil again and several told of their plans for the future. Lt. Col. James W. Hilton, who entered the division as an enlisted man back in 1917, told something of its accomplishments. The men expressed their pleasure at getting copies of THE TRIBUNE which were distributed on arrival. George Schreiber, Tribune correspondent who served with the division before it was sent overseas and who covered its return, spoke briefly on the program.

STRATTON OUT FOR TREASURER, NOT CONGRESS

Will Oppose Green Entry for Fiscal Post

BY GEORGE TAGGE

Word from Okinawa that William G. Stratton will not consider suggestions that he run for congressman-at-large yesterday opened the field for others who might meet requirements to run under Gov. Green's banner in the April primary.

Lt. [j. g.] Stratton wrote to George R. Perrine of Aurora that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for the office he held from 1940 to 1942. Stratton made it clear that he still intends to run for state treasurer against the Green entry, who is likely to be Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville. Last year Stratton attempted to upset the governor's canddate for secretary of state, Arnold P. Benson, but failed.

Stephen A. Day Candidate

Stephen A. Day of Evanston, twice congressman-at-large who was defeated by Emily Taft Douglas [D.] in 1944, has announced his candidacy

To win the 1946 election, the governor wants some one who is well enough known not to require expensive advertising, who has a record of Republican activity, and who will put on a two fisted campaign in the primary election. A World War II. service record would be considered helpful. Chances are the candidate would hail from Cook county, because the two other G. O. P. organization candidates next spring probably will be downstaters.

Waugh Probable Aspirant

Distinctly in the running is Lt. Col. William F. Waugh. Still in service, but expected out soon, Waugh is a veteran of both World wars. He is a former state commander of the American Legion. For two years, he was first assistant United States attorney.

James Simpson Jr., another who has the pre-requisites, counted himself out yesterday. A former congressman from the north shore district, he recently was discharged as a captain of marines after 22 months' Pacific combat service.

Simpson Loyal to Veterans

"If I went to Washington I would have to give up Industry for Veterans, the organization I've formed to help the returning fighters get a new start," Simpson said.

Telfer MacArthur, Oak Park publisher, veteran of World Wars I. and II., is being urged by friends to run. He told a reporter that he is not a candidate.

In any event, the Republican primary will be a lively affair. Vernon L. Nickell of Champaign, present superintendent of public instruction, will have the regular G. O. P. organization support for reelection.

Fort Sheridan Discharges 2,556 Over Armistice Day

Remaining in operation over the Armistice day holiday, the Fort Sheridan separation center handled the discharges of 2,556 soldiers Sunday and Monday, Brig. Gen. John T. Pierce, commanding officer, said yesterday. The separation center will operate Thanksgiving and Christmas days.

"Those are painted rubber balls. Now the customers can squeeze my merchandise as much as they like."

KELLY SIGNS FOR CITY SHARE OF CONGRESS ST.

Mayor Kelly yesterday signed the agreement for a three-way split of the estimated 45 million dollar cost of the Congress st. super-highway. Already signed by President Clayton F. Smith of the county board, the agreement was sent to Springfield for the signatures of state officials.

Thus formal ratification of the agreement is expected to be completed in time to permit actual work on the project to begin about Jan. 1. This likely will be the removal of some of the buildings which have been condemned along the right of way, from Grant park to the city limits.

An agreement of similar pattern may be worked out for the northwest super-highway, for which no route has yet been adopted. Importance of this expressway from downtown Chicago to the northwest suburbs is enhanced by city action to build a 5,320 acre super-airport near Park Ridge. State, city, and county officials will discuss the project at a meeting Nov. 21.

SLAIN WOMAN'S HUSBAND FACES TWO SUSPECTS

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP). — A tall army air force captain today had his first meeting with the two men who have figured in the police investigation of the Oct. 30 slaying of his wife, Mrs. Alberta Rose Young, 34.

The husband — Capt. Franklin Young, 35, who returned home from the European theater last week to attend his wife's burial—displayed little emotion as he questioned the two men in the Oakland county sheriff's office.

They were Edward K. Bellm, 46, former Detroit police lieutenant and now a private investigator, and Lawrence J. Theis, 29, who was named in a murder warrant in the case. Both were calm during the interviews.

Mrs. Young's body was found in the Clinton river near here with a bullet wound in the temple.

BABY KANGAROO IS STILL DENIED MOTHER'S POUCH

Joey, the young kangaroo in the Brookfield zoo, was still outside the pouch yesterday. Spectators remarked that since Joey is almost as large as his mother it was only fair that he should not be admitted to the pouch from which she evicted him two months ago.

However, Robert Bean, director of the zoo, said that kangaroos often carry their young until they are Joey's age and that if mama were so inclined she could accommodate Joey with room and board. Bean explained that Joey could put either the upper half or the lower half of himself into the pouch.

Meanwhile the zoo's latest addition—a five day old zebra stallion—ran about on its spindly legs and tried to get used to the 60 degree temperature in its cage. Its mother, Belva, 12, looked on proudly. Papa, whose name is Roscoe, 14, was nowhere to be seen. The colt is yet unnamed. If you've a suggestion, call Mr. Bean.

LAKE COUNTY BURGLARS ESCAPE

Joseph Milan, night marshal at Round Lake, Lake county, fired five shots early yesterday at one of two men he surprised attempting to break into a filling station. One marauder escaped in an automobile, the other fled on foot.

'THINGS WERE SO BEAUTIFUL,' SAYS MAID WHO STOLE

Juanita Sumner

Juanita Sumner, 17, of 3015 Clifton av., told Town Hall police yesterday that she took clothing, jewelry, and other articles valued at $2,515 from the home of William Vogel, 705 Buena av., where she was a maid, because "those things were so beautiful." She also took $120.

The Vogels hired her Nov. 7 and the girl gave her name as Claire Hansen. When the couple went to the movies the next night and left her with the baby, the new maid took the articles and cash and left. Vogel, working with Town Hall police, learned the name of a cab driver who had driven the maid to Union station with several suitcases. A ticket agent recalled selling a young woman of Juanita's description a ticket to St. Louis. Vogel went to that city and found his former maid talking to a marine in the Union station. Vogel recovered all but $80.

2 Aldermanic Groups to Probe Bus Crashes

Two city council committees, traffic and public safety, headed by Ald. Kells [28th], and local transportation, of which Ald. Young [46th] is chairman, will meet jointly this morning to investigate a series of recent bus accidents.

WIFE'S CHARGES CHALLENGED BY DONNELLEY

If Mrs. Helen Pauling Donnelley, 1248 Astor st., considers that her divorced husband, Comdr. Thorne Donnelley, owes her $196,009, her only remedy is a civil suit, Donnelley asserted yesterday in reply to his former wife's petition for contempt of court action in Circuit court at Waukegan.

Donnelley, thru the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin, and Ellis, contended that a property agreement under which he was to pay his former wife $30,000 a year was not made a part of the divorce decree.

Donnelley, vice president and secretary of the Reuben H. Donnelley corporation, is in charge of the navy photographic science laboratory at Anacosta air station, Washington, D. C.

THE SEEDS of today's Victory were sown more than 150 years ago.

The heroes of Bataan, Anzio and Normandy were born with the Republic.

America's real Victory weapon was its heritage . . . the democratic ideals fashioned and held high by the generations that came before us . . . ideals that endure because today, as yesterday, they so completely express the will of the people.

It was the people, remember, who spoke when Patrick Henry challenged:

"Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?"

It was the people who inspired Thomas Jefferson when he wrote in the Declaration of Independence: " . . . that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

It was the people who made the Constitution and the Bill of Rights a soul-stirring charter of democracy.

And just as it was our forebears who molded our destiny, so it will be we who decide the future for generations to come.

Buying Victory Bonds is one way you can help, for money is now needed to bring home our boys, to care for the wounded, to give veterans a fresh start in civilian life—to carry on our priceless heritage!

So buy Victory Bonds—and also be sure to keep the War Bonds that you already have.

Newest Aprons Are Colorful as Well as Useful

BY REA SEEGER

The little shop filled with matched mother and daughter fashions has filled a counter full of new, matched apron sets, the like of which we haven't seen in years. Dainty little sheers with multicolored embroidered bands, pocket, and bib tops vie with the less sheer and more sturdy work stuff of heavy, creamy cotton. These gay work aprons have decorative bands of peasant style embroidery in bright, strong greens, reds, and blues. The little daughter aprons are positively microscopic, but they're exact reproductions or copies of the serviceable big sizes for mother.

Also out in time for gift buyers are clever, small checked taffeta aprons with full gathered skirts, a neat bib, and with shoulder wide bands that tie in a big bow high on each shoulder. You'll wear these with spanking white blouses usually with very short sleeves. These are ideal teammates when mothers serve afternoon tea and small daughters help. They're dress-up enough to wear as Sunday night supper pinafores or at any other parties during the next two months.

Another jumper model designed for both grown ups and toddlers or other children up to 10 years, is made of smooth rayon material resembling wool gabardine. These have trick shoulder bands, artfully shirred into narrower outline half way down in front. Skirts are gathered simply and the gay contrast of felt flowers attached in all-over design over the skirt and the top provides the just right fillip of color to make the most of the various shades of the jumpers themselves—beige, copper, navy, green, red, and a light blue, with flowers in colored contrast.

"With Bated Breath"

By Alice Campbell

(Copyright: 1945: By Mrs. Alice Ormond Campbell)

SYNOPSIS: Avis Marriott accepts a job as companion-housekeeper to Maud and Erica Bolles, wealthy spinsters. Maud, a local autocrat known for her charities, has grown strangely penurious in her home. Erica, a semi-invalid, is dominated by Maud. A couple of guests and an evacuee family live with them at Turrets. Dr. Bruce advises Avis against accepting the position. Turrets is an isolated English manor with an abandoned underground passage. Avis' predecessor, Agatha Trimble, left under a cloud, suspected of theft. Robin Grier, Maud's godson, has been invalided out of the army. Mrs. Marks, a widow and family connection, seems too sophisticated for her surroundings. Avis arrives during a violent domestic scene, with the departing cook calling Maud a cheeseparing sinner. Avis' room is in the turret where Erica insists upon living. An unexpected guest, Oscar Moravian, arrives on Erica's invitation. From Mrs. Marks Avis learns he is an East Indian half brother of her dead husband and has a criminal reputation. Apparently Maud dares not send him away. In the night the soldier husband in the evacuee family slips and falls downstairs to his death. Dr. Bruce saves Agatha Trimble from an attempted suicide. Smears of wax polish make the stairs even more treacherous. Did some one want to kill Erica? Ten one-pound notes are found on the victim. Erica had intended this money for Agatha. Checking a low, buzzing sound, Avis finds an alarm clock in Maud's room and wonders if the alarm was set so some one could wake up and wipe off the wax. Maud cautions Avis never to cash a check for Erica, and to keep watch over her. Avis takes the alarm clock from Maud's room. Going to the turret, she finds Erica hanging over a parapet.

INSTALMENT IX.

EXPLORING THE TUNNEL

"Come out," Erica invited Avis. "What do you think of my view?"

"Wonderful," Avis answered, not fully recovered from her fright, but when she had looked 'round the magnificence of the wide cyclorama quite took her breath. "Marvelous, Miss Erica! Why, you can see miles and miles."

"Yes, of course," cried Erica eagerly. "As I say, why travel? Here I can see the whole world."

The wide spreading countryside was like a map unrolled. Wyfforde's straggle of roofs and a church spire distantly appeared. Close at hand, a footpath leading from the town skirted the house. Only for a scant hundred yards did the flat terrain encircling Turrets heighten abruptly in one spot, and here it was that the bad tempered little Wyffe suddenly found itself compressed between narrow, thickly grown banks. It was the northern bank Turrets rose out of so precipitously.

The little creature was watching her anxiously. She asked if Miss Erica had done much traveling. With what seemed a trace of envy Miss Erica replied none at all.

"Except when papa once took me to Harrogate. We stopped in London on the way. It upset me rather. I've never left Turrets since. Now Maud has traveled," she boasted; "in her 20s, all the way to Italy and Greece. Six months she was gone, but nothing would induce her to go again."

Avis leaned over the parapet and pointed to the meadow behind the house. What, she asked, were those dark oblong holes lying flush with the green grass?

"Don't you know? Why, they are to let light down into our tunnel. Surely some one's told you about that?"

The Bolles tunnel! As on first learning of it she experienced the same faint shudder.

"You see," she explained, "my great-grandfather was a very humane man. Over there—yes, at the far end, by the old willows—was the nice, cozy barracks where his little operatives had their home. Children" said Erica brightly, "Poor little foundlings from the city slums. But the factory was right away from the barracks. Turn round. There—across the lane, by our own front gates, do you see that jagged pillar sticking up out of the nettles? That's where the factory stood, the bit you see is all that didn't get destroyed by the terrible fire.

"Quite a distance, isn't it? Papa said it was an eighth of a mile. Well, my great-grandfather couldn't bear the thought of his little people trudging all that way to work thru mud and rain. So he had this long tunnel built, right from the barracks into the factory."

She added that Maud didn't like talking about the tunnel. Silly.

"There used to be a little private passage leading out of our own basement. It's been blocked for ages, but when Maud and I were small we used to steal the key. Lovely fun we had, racing and shouting, deep under the ground. Once Emmy Carr—that's Lady Barkdale, you know—wanted to scramble down thru one of the air holes to join us."

Erica uttered a glad cry. "Ossie!" she greeted. "So you've found me, too."

With lunch to wrestle with, it seemed time for Avis to retire.

Carpet was being laid on the fatal stair. Avis watched the combined efforts of Robin and an aged, grumpy gardener and sighed with relief when Robin informed her that kitchen help had arrived.

"Name of Gudgeon. What old Emmy Barkdale refers to as a Useful Body. Of course, she won't sleep in."

"Body!" Avis shuddered. "Don't you dare speak that word."

"Squeamish, are you? Dunkirk case hardened me."

"O," she said, moved. "I hadn't realized you were there."

"That," he declared irritably, "didn't conk me up. No, my downfall was camp billets on a blinking marsh. . . . "He hammered viciously. "These steps," he muttered. "You might have taken that tumble. Or Maud. Or even more probably——?"

"Miss Erica," she said softly.

He asked if Moravian was up on the roof with Erica now.

"That putrid bounder! I'd better go up. That is, I owe it to Maud."

"You're fond of Miss Bolles, aren't you?" Avis inquired.

"Fond? See here, don't you know who I am?"

"Well, who are you, then, besides being Robin Grier?"

"That's nailed it," he growled. "My name may be Grier, but I was stating cold facts when I said I was a waif and stray. Maud's had me in charge since I was too young to know anything at all. Paid for my schooling, managed the whole show. I haven't seen much of her, but you may as well understand Turrets is the only home I've known."

Maud had done this kind act! A good woman, Jill had said. "Well, here goes the chaperon," he said as he charged up the iron stair.

Olive moved indolently from her own door. "I note," she murmured, "that our fellow incubus is still with us."

"Yes," Avis replied, "but somehow I feel he'll soon be cold shouldered on his way."

"Oscar? O no, the little swine's come to stay. What's the betting he hadn't five bob left in his pocket? That's why he footed it last night."

The black spaniel was scrabbling at Avis. Absently Avis fondled its ears, not daring to let it off its chain. As she moved from the shed along the back of the house she heard Robin come out, loose his prisoner, and let it dash round the encircling path toward the front gates and the lane.

She decided to try and map out the Bolles tunnel, taking the three yawning vent holes as a guide. The beastly thing ran, she believed, almost due east to west, factory site at the one end, barracks willows at the other. Both the doctor and Miss Erica, however, had mentioned a private lead-in, branching into the house basement. If it started from one of the locked passage doors, it must be shaped rather like a dog's hind leg.

Despite the squelching wetness of the meadow, on she ploughed till she had come to the nearest opening and could look straight down. Nothing the least exciting. Simply a gray concrete box affair, its walls cracked in places and seamed with damp, on the whole surprisingly intact and clean. Immediately beneath the hole a little flotsam of twigs had collected. Blown, she concluded, by strong gusts of gale. The height from the floor to roof must measure a full 10 feet.

Wyfforde's church clock chiming 1! Looking back, she took in the cadaver of a small stone outhouse on the extreme right hand limit of the green waste, half its tiled roof open to the sky, and then, raising her eyes, felt for no reason a worm squirm in her insides. Some one was watching her, stationed at one of the second floor back windows. A brief, unidentifiable shadow, instantaneously withdrawn.

Adult Ethics May Confuse the Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Most parents who are honorable persons in themselves, want their children to be truthful. And I'm sure most of them think that, generally speaking, they set a good example in that character trait.

Yet: Robbie, his mother, and grandmother are sitting cozily in the living room one winter afternoon, when the telephone rings.

"O dear," says Robbie's mother, "I hope that isn't any one wanting to call. It's so comfy to just relax like this. If it's any one wanting to drop in, Mother, just say I'm out or that I have a cold."

Mrs. Johns senior goes to the phone, and her daughter hears her say, "O Mrs. Jenkins, how are you? Helen—no, she's . . ."

Having gotten a warning shake of the head from her daughter, Mrs. Johns stammers while she raises her eyebrows questioningly, then as Helen approaches she hands over the receiver and listens in amazement to:

"Mrs. Jenkins? This is Helen Johns. Why, no! Yes, do; no, we were just sitting around bored to death. It would be lovely, do come right along. You've been promising ever since I met you at the Jacksons . . . and we'll have tea by the fire. Good-by." Helen hung up and turned to answer the raised eyebrows.

"That was Henry's boss' wife. I have to play up to her, tho she's a tiresome old thing."

Perhaps you think small Robbie wasn't listening. But didn't you know that "little pitchers have big ears?"

But children drink in about everything. So we'd do well to wonder what Robbie read into this, or what other children read into the social deviousness, the white lies, or the "false faces" [as my grandmother used to call them], that they witness. They certainly must be confused.

Metropolitan Opera Chorus Walks Out in Dispute with Union

New York, Nov. 13 [Special]—The Metropolitan Opera chorus walked out in the midst of rehearsals at the opera house today as the result of a dispute between the choristers and their own union, the AFL American Guild of Musical Artists.

The walkout followed AGMA's decision to suspend Anton Schubel, a member of the chorus' committee as well as of the union's own board of governors. Unless settled, the controversy threatens to interfere with the opening of the Metropolitan season on Nov. 26.

The dispute began on Nov. 1 when members of the chorus were asked by the union to sign block contracts that contained clauses referring to a "basic agreement" between AGMA and the Metropolitan opera. According to the chorus' spokesman this basic agreement was not attached to the contract as in previous years so that chorus members were, in fact, asked to agree to certain clauses sight unseen.

The chorus members replied by sending a petition to the union signed by 131 members, asking for administrative autonomy and for the right to negotiate their own contract with the Metropolitan.

The union replied to the committee today with a special delivery letter to Schubel informing him of his suspension "for failure to deposit all copies of the Metropolitan choristers' contracts with the Metropolitan Opera Association, Inc., for the 1945-'46 season in the AG..IA office."

The walkout followed.

France Plans Simpler Homes in War Areas

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—New three room apartments complete with central heating, kitchenettes, and bathrooms will be built soon in the war ravaged coastal cities of France, according to plans revealed today by Raoul Dautry, minister of reconstruction.

Eighty thousand homeless French refugees have expressed the hope of living in small, easily managed homes, as housemaids are difficult to find. Large apartments are no longer popular in France. Women who have seen cherished laces, silverware, and period furniture blown to bits recoil from elaborate furniture. They prefer clean-cut, long, and low lines, with none of the fancy bric-a-brac of the last generation.

Parisian interior decorators are creating ensemble furniture sets especially for the thousands of the proposed apartments, which will be constructed of brick and wood.

Aux Trois Quartiers, Galeries Lafayette, and all the large furniture establishments on the boulevards are preparing to display modernistic rugs, paintings, china, breakfast nooks, and completely equipped rooms. Oddly shaped cubistic styles dominate the new exhibits.

Among the most striking bedroom sets is one designed by Maurice Champigneulle, of highly polished ebony, contrasted with a bas relief of geometric pattern in natural ivory. The same motif reappears in the matching dining room ensemble.

Friends of Writers to Hear Talk Today on American Humor

The Friends of American Writers will gather at 1:30 p. m. today in the Cordon club for tea and a talk by one of its former officers, Mrs. Dewitt C. Showers, on "American Humor Thru the Years." Before she moved to Crystal Lake, Mrs. Showers was one of the group's most active members, serving as vice president and in other offices.

At today's meeting there is to be a book booth where Christmas purchases may be made. Money cleared on the sale will go into the Friends' award fund for their annual prize to an American writer.

Mrs. William J. Bargen will conduct the gathering. On the hostess committee will be Mrs. Clovis M. Converse and Mrs. Robert M. Watkins.

OUR ICE CREAM'S GOT IT AGAIN

...THAT PRE-WAR RICHNESS!

YOU CAN TASTE WHAT I MEAN

Bud Bowman

MAYBE YOU DID and maybe you didn't ever get a chance to taste Bowman Ice Cream back in those days before the war. Bowman wasn't making so awfully much ice cream 'way back then (so maybe you didn't know about it), but what we did make sure was super.

THERE FOR A WHILE, however, things were sorta different. We made ice cream as rich as Uncle Sam allowed . . . and it was good-er than most. It was as tasty and rich as ice cream could be. But, boys and girls, you oughta taste it now!

WITHOUT A DOUBT, it's so rich and creamy-smooth that once you give it the old once-over, Bowman Ice Cream 'll be the favorite kind at your house. Or you'll be perched at the soda fountain drooling over a Bowman Sundae or double-dip soda! 'Cause Bowman Ice Cream sure is "delicious-er"!

Two Gala Thanksgiving Eve Dances Will Draw Crowds

BY JUDITH CASS

IT SEEMS that the whole town will be dancing Thanksgiving eve. More than 700 reservations already have been made for the Chicago Junior league's "Chicago and Southern Ball" next Wednesday night in the ballroom of the Continental hotel, and reservations are approaching capacity for a second—and much smaller—benefit that night, the annual party of the Highland Park auxiliary of the Cradle in the Electric club.

When Mrs. Daniel Leonard, reservations chairmen for the Junior league party, returned from the east Monday she found a huge stack of mail awaiting her attention. One of the largest parties will be given by the Philip K. Wrigleys, who have reserved four tables seating 10 each. The Charles S. Connells will give a dinner at home in Northfield before the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kearns and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Norris will give a joint dinner party in the Tavern club, where Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fairbank also have reserved a table. Mrs. Paul W. Oliver, her sister, Mrs. Richard K. Juergens, and their husbands, will give a large dinner in the Casino club. One Dutch treat group has been organized to have cocktails in the home of the Stephen Ingersolls, followed by dinner in the Key club, and another will convene in the Racquet club.

Mrs. Hugo Vogel, chairman of the ball, and her husband will give a dinner for several out of town guests, among them Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Putman [he is author of a new book, "High Journey"], Mr. and Mrs. Albert Earling, and Col. Henry Josephs, all of Memphis, Tenn.

One hundred pounds of flowers which are being flown here from Centrr' America to grace the supper tables will not bloom that night alone, for the Garden club of Illinois has volunteered to collect them after the ball and re-arrange them on hospital trays at Gardiner General hospital to brighten the patients' Thanksgiving dinners.

On the Calendar

As the Cradle benefit will begin at the cocktail hour, the many who are entertaining that night will gather right in the club to start the evening's festivities. It will be the auxiliary's seventh annual Thanksgiving eve party. Reservations are being limited this year to 350. Some of those who will entertain are Mrs. Frank G. Hough, president of the auxiliary, and Mr. Hough; the Franklin Chaffees, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Mills, the John T. Snites, the Charles De Leuws, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua T. Griffiths, and the Alan Kidds.

The Arts club is taking reservations for its first Sunday evening program of the season, a song recital next Sunday by Ellabelle Davis which will mark the first Chicago appearance of the Negro soprano. Miss Davis, who has given concerts in South America and Mexico, will come from New York for the program, which has been arranged by Mrs. Charles H. Swift, assisted by John Palmer. Reservations for the 7 p. m. dinner are limited to the first 200.

The annual card party for the benefit of the Cenacle will be given by the many guilds of the convent at 2 p. m. Saturday in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

Here and There

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hosmer Morse Jr. [Vesta Culbertson Carr] are the parents of a daughter, Charlotte Leigh, born Monday in Presbyterian hospital. The baby, whose first name is the same as that of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Morse of Lake Forest, has two half brothers, Charles H. Morse IV, and Robert Carr III. Mr. Morse and Craig Culbertson of Charlottsville, Va., are her grandfathers, and she has a great-grandfather, Samuel A. Culbertson of Louisville, Ky.

Friends of Richard E. Schmidt, who in more than 50 years of practice has become one of Chicago's leading architects, will extend their best wishes on the occasion of his 80th birthday anniversary at a cocktail party from 4:30 to 7 p. m. today. The party will be given by Mr. Schmidt's partners and will mark the opening of their new offices at 104 S. Michigan av.

Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell has welcomed home her son, George Burrows, who served in Italy with the army for two and a half years.

Miss Register Sings Quite Well After an Exuberant Start

Eunye Register, a soprano who came from Louisiana via Oklahoma to give a debut recital in Kimball hall last night, is one of the more exuberant vocalists to be heard this season.

Miss Register's forte, in fact, is to sing forte, and she indulges in no half way measures when the music requests loudness. Thus what was heard of her program reached its peak in Brünnhilde's War Cry from "Die Walküre," which indicated the possibility that in at least one respect Miss Register may some day qualify for the greatest of all soprano roles.

This same super-abundance of tone imparted a falsely operatic character to Wolf's "Er Ist's" and two songs by Marx, and it was not until the latter part of her program that the singer relaxed the vocal pressure sufficiently to estimate her more lyrical qualities. Perhaps she sang Rachmaninoff's "To the Children" well—poignant memories of John McCormack render us capable of only one opinion on this song—at least it was quieter; and the same composer's "The Island" flowed pleasantly in clear cut English. There were graceful aspects, too, to the final group of tidbits, suggesting that what this healthy voice needs most is toning down. Jacob Hanneman's accompaniments were to the good. A. G.

How about us WCGs taking down our chignons and confessin' some of those inexplicable lapses when fingers get tangled on the keyboard, producing nightmarish results?

For example there was the white collar girl [not I, as every contributor will say] whose dictation read, "It was nice to have you drop in," and whose finished copy read, "It was nice to have you droop in"—and whose boss just smiled and said, "Let's give this guy a little ironized yeast."

When Allan Roberts, ou. for the first time in civvies after three years in khaki clothing, ran into a group of white collar girls indulging in some amateur photography on Wacker dr. last week he asked them to take his picture, too. Allan, a radio singer, didn't know what he was in for. The seven girls, all members of an advertising agency continuity department, gladly acquiesced . . . planted Allan in their midst . . . and one girl "shot" the picture. However, the story didn't end there. When the pictures were developed it was discovered that some one had cut off the head, leaving the girls a superlative picture of Allan's feet! Frantic efforts to find another roll of 116 film for retake failing, the seven girls escorted Allan to lunch as partial consolation for the mutilated picture. They're still looking for the film, tho . . . preferably with a sound track to audition their favorite ex-GI. LAURI

White Collar Quote

"Let me point out to you that it is only necessary for you to be 1 per cent better than the average to stand above your fellow. If you are 10 per cent above the average, you stand head and shoulders above your fellow. You should strive always to be as much better than the average as you possibly can. I'd like to point out, at the same time, that if you are 1 per cent below the average, that places you in the mediocre class. So little does it take to spell the difference between success and failure."—From an address of J. L. Kraft.

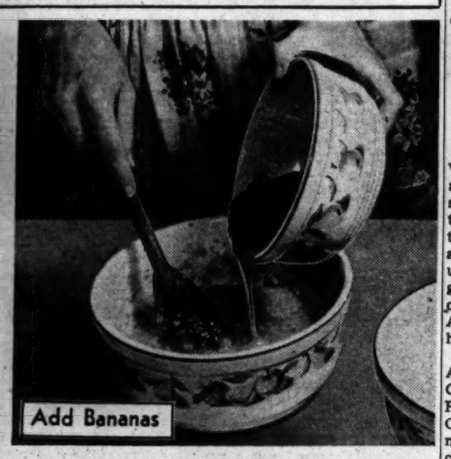
Banana Bran Bread Is Prepared by Mary Meade

Beat in Honey

1. Cream ¼ cup butter and ¾ cup honey. Add 1 egg and ¾ cup bran cereal. Sift together 1½ cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, and ½ teaspoon each salt and soda.



Add Bananas

2. Mix ½ cup chopped nutmeats with dry ingredients, then add to first mixture alternately with 1 cup mashed bananas. (Three large bananas yield about 1 cup pulp.)

Pour Into Pan

3. Mash bananas by forcing thru a sieve, or use an electric mixer. Turn batter into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 1 hour.

Serve Next Day

4. This bread remains fresh for almost a week. Like any nut or fruit bread, it's better after 24 hours of ripening. If cut too soon after baking it may crumble.

Red Cross Aid to Continue for GIs in Britain

BY JAMES E. SLOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 3 [By Air Mail]—Whatever the fate of the American army's unpopular demobilization scheme, the Red Cross will see to it that food, rest, and recreation facilities are at hand in Britain as long as there is one GI around to make use of them. Tho the Red Cross is gearing its program with the declining occupation of Britain by American soldiers, no GI need fear he is being forgotten.

That was the assurance given American contributors to the Red Cross today by Charles Bolles Rogers, deputy commissioner for Great Britain, whose staff includes many representatives from the Chicagoland area.

Rogers, who was born in Oak Park, Ill., and whose home now is in Minneapolis, said that altho there now are only 78,000 American troops in Britain, beds were provided by the Red Cross in London one night recently for 11,000 leave troops, which is only 4,000 under the pre-D-day maximum.

In the months just before and following June, 1944, more than 240 service clubs and 250 military base clubs afforded recreation and hospitality for GIs in Britain. In addition, Red Cross mobile units thruout the United Kingdom greeted incoming and outgoing troops with hot beverages, doughnuts, cigarets, and other comforts. This program required the services of 3,000 American Red Cross workers, assisted by a paid and volunteer staff of more than 30,000 Britons.

By the end of September the Red Cross in Britain had served 175 million doughnuts and almost as many cups of coffee. It had provided sleeping accommodations—with adequate bathing facilities and clean blankets and sheets [important in laundry-starved Britain]—for 17 million men and had served 130 million main meals in service clubs not located on military bases.

As troops were moved to the continent and later redeployed to the United States these operations decreased and now have declined to approximately 50 clubs in cities and fewer than 30 on military sites. The mobile operations have been reduced to port services. However, at Southampton, where the bulk of American troops disembark, 50 club-mobile girls serve 110 docks, providing coffee and doughnuts for soldiers arriving and departing by ship, train, and truck.

In London, 12 of the maximum 16 clubs still are operating and will continue as long as there are GIs around.

"In addition," Rogers said, "the troops have had continuous help and guidance from field directors attached to the units and the home service department, the connecting agency between the soldier and his family."

Athletic Club Will Fete Its Ex-Presidents

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE

A luncheon which Mrs. William F. Petersen and Mrs. S. Austin Pope will give next Tuesday in the Woman's Athletic club will fete not one special guest but 11—all of the women living near Chicago who have headed the club in the past, starting with Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, who was elected to office in 1909.

Sharing honors that day with Mrs. Upham will be Mrs. Andrew B. MacCaughey of Chicago and Winter Park, Fla.; Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mrs. Charles H. Morse, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. Raymond Dudley, Mrs. Alfred Tyler, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley, and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., the club's present president.

Mrs. Petersen, who was president of the club in 1937, and Mrs. Pope, one of the vice presidents on the present board, have planned the 1 p. m. luncheon to follow a regular board meeting.

Before luncheon in the club yesterday, Allen Haden, journalist and authority on South America who spent 10 years in consular and diplomatic posts, analyzed "Inter-American Relations" before a large crowd of members and their guests gathered in the ballroom.

"Nelson Rockefeller was misled when he accepted Argentina at the San Francisco conference," Mr. Haden said. Col. Juan D. Peron, vice president of Argentina, was put in power by the Nazi spearhead front and his government is the refuge of German Nazism in South America, the speaker declared. A liberal committee is being formed outside Argentina with the aim of overthrowing Perón in the coming elections next April, he said.

Mr. Haden stated that the elections will be permitted in order to give the present government some semblance of legitimacy. However, until its government is so revised as to be responsible and until the overthrow of Perón, Argentina should be eliminated from the assembly of allied nations, Mr. Haden said.

The actual bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 diamonds	3 clubs	Double	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
6 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead, king of clubs.

We observed yesterday the case of the road hog, who constantly got into his partner's way. He was a trying individual, but this must be said for him: While he was usually getting up front and clogging up traffic, if his partner wanted to get out and take the lead he would not deliberately push him off the road. The latter type we are dealing with today. He takes charge of all situations and partner's opinions are given little if any weight.

The bidding atrocity is recorded above as it was actually perpetrated. South's opening bid of two diamonds will pass muster. With a reasonable break in trumps he holds a hand that is within one trick of game and if he is lucky enough to find a few key cards in has partner's hand a slam may be reached. West's bid of three clubs is pointless in the extreme. In view of South's announcement of great strength the bid is little short of barking at the moon. It cannot impede the opponents and gives them the option of collecting a lucrative penalty if they stay awake.

North's double was from the heart and should have resulted in a harvest of 1,400 points. South's refusal to stand for the double shows the instincts of the "charge taker" at their very height. He argued that he did not wish to miss a slam if there was one. This is unsound reasoning. He must realize that his partner likes slams just as much as he does, and if he thought there was any chance for slam he would not double the three club bid. Indeed even if he thought there was only a game he would not be inclined to double the club bid unless he felt he could score more points in that manner. South had a perfect hand for defense against clubs and should have been delighted to leave it in.

When North did the next best thing and went to three no trump, South had overstayed the market and should have rested there. His leap to six diamonds was not far removed from madness. He was defeated 800 points for a net swing of 2,200 points.

While the trump break was unfortunate, nevertheless it should not have been unsuspected. West surely cannot have many diamonds in view of his vulnerable three club bid and North has not supported them. It is a moral certainty that East will have some sort of diamond trick.

It pays to take your partner's word, particularly when you have already given an adequate description of your hand.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM

As South you hold:

Kapell Plays Felicitous Beethoven With Lange and Chicago Symphony Orchestra

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor; William Kapell, pianist. Presented in Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 13, 1945. The program:
Overture to "Alceste".....Gluck
Symphony No. 2, B-flat major.....Schubert
Prelude and Love Death, from "Tristan and Isolde".....Wagner
Concerto for Piano, No. 2, B-flat major.....Beethoven

One of the pleasures of the season was yesterday afternoon's rare performance of Beethoven's Second Piano Concerto, played in Orchestra hall by William Kapell with Hans Lange and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Actually the first concerto in date of composition, it has been something of a stepchild in the repertory, too often condemned as not quite Mozart and not quite Beethoven, either. The best Beethoven himself could say to his publisher about it was, "It won't disgrace you to print it." So what? So it was superbly played with a felicity reminiscent of the Mozart cycle Mr. Lange shared two seasons ago with Artur Schnabel, it scored a triumph, and if it drops out of the repertory again, the loss is ours.

Meanwhile, Mr. Kapell's stock is soaring like a deep south thermometer in midsummer. It is one thing to find a young pianist with a brilliant technique—they don't grow on bushes, but you can find them. But to discover one who goes straight to the heart of a lovely but elusive concerto, who understands the magical give and take of dialog between piano and orchestra, whose playing has integrity, poetry, wit, and quite authority—why, that makes you feel like Columbus.

The concerto was thoughtfully framed, not only by the orchestra's sensitive coöperation, but by what had preceded it on the program. More rehearsal would have helped some of the music, but the orchestra's tone was mellow, its texture supple and often refreshingly transparent, and Mr. Lange's search for scores had paid dividends. The Weingartner concert arrangement of Gluck's Overture to "Alceste" was big in scale and sometimes noble in performance, and Schubert's rarely played Second Symphony, heard for the first time at the downtown concerts, had alert strings to do it justice and an exceptionally dulcet oboe to ornament the trio. But the woods in general did not come into their remembered own until the only old favorite on the program ended the first half of the concert. This was the Prelude and Love Death from "Tristan and Isolde," not apocalyptic Wagner, but one of those dreams in the Wagnerian dusk that can be muse a willing audience.

Boston Programs

If you read Orchestra hall programs, including the advertising, you never know what you may find. This week's batch hold both programs to be played by the Boston orchestra under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky. The first, on Friday evening, Dec. 7, holds Prokofieff's Classical Symphony and the new Symphony No. 5, along with the Sibelius Second. The subscription program, on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, offers Mozart's Symphony in E-flat major, Beethoven's Overture, "Leonore," No. 3, and Brahms' Fourth Symphony. While it is out this way, the orchestra will play its Dec. 8 broadcast in its sponsors' home town, Milwaukee.

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Lora McKibben, 315 31st N. E., Cedar Rapids, Ia.]

THE QUESTION

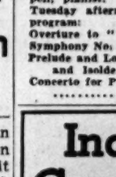
Would you rather celebrate Thanksgiving day on the 22d or the last Thursday of November?

WHERE ASKED

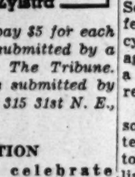
The Buttery, Ambassador West hotel.

THE ANSWERS

Mrs. Frank Bering, housewife, Ambassador hotel—I think we should celebrate Thanksgiving on the last Thursday in the month. It was good enough for our forefathers and there is no reason why we should change it. We celebrate it on the last Thursday in my family. I like to mantain tradition.



James Hart, manager, Ambassador West hotel—The precedent that has been existing for so many years is just like many other things in the United States that we have learned to love and enjoy. I prefer the old date—the last Thursday in November—to me that's the only day that seems like Thanksgiving.



Max Guggiari, maitre d'hotel, Ambassador West hotel—I like the last Thursday in November for the simple reason that it's a tradition. It's a well known tradition that has been celebrated too long to be suddenly tossed out. Changing the date of Thanksgiving seems tragic to me.

Jack Kirwan, waiter, 7545 Ridgeland av.—When Thanksgiving falls on the 22d that allows more time for the business men to prepare to meet the requirements of Christmas, which comes too close after Thanksgiving to suit me. I can't get into the shopping spirit until after Thanksgiving.

Sally Stilwell, student, 1325 Astor st.—Changing the date of Thanksgiving spoils the spirit of the holiday for me. They may as well celebrate it on the 16th of June as the 22d of November. Think of all the time that allows between Thanksgiving and Christmas. I like the tradition of the last Thursday in the month.

Film Talk on East Indies to Entertain Clubwomen

Deane Dickason will give his film illustrated lecture on "The Coveted East Indies" at a meeting of the Chicago Woman's club this afternoon in Curtiss hall. Mrs. Albion L. Headburg, club president, will introduce the speaker. At 11 a. m. the mental hygiene committee of the club's public welfare department will present Miss Betty Bosworth of Michael Reese hospital in a talk on "Child and Adult Guidance Today."

'Spanish Main' Is Lusty Film of Pirate Days, All in Color

"THE SPANISH MAIN".

By Mae Tinée

Here we have Paul Henreid with his hair in a curl and Maureen O'Hara, in gowns cut as low as the law allows, sailing the bounding main. The new offering at the Palace is an old-fashioned, swashbuckling romance of pirates and princes and fair ladies, all done in rich and sometimes very beautiful color.

The film is well cast, with Walter Slezak offering by far the best acting as Don Juan Alvarado, the Spanish governor of Tortuga, a fat, foppish, and greedy grandee whom a beautiful senorita from Mexico is to wed, sight unseen. He sneers and smacks in hearty fashion and provides most of the zest the film can boast.

Maureen O'Hara, his betrothed, is certainly luscious in technicolor, and, gowned in glowing silks and satins, I'm sure her Francisca will keep the masculine part of the audience quite happy and the feminine understandably envious. Mr. Henreid has a rugged role which requires much leaping about, duelling, and a bit of love-making, all of which he does earnestly, if without any great flair. As Laurent Van Horn, he's a simple Dutchman fleeing from tyranny, who, after his boat crashes on the rocks and he experiences the Spanish brand of despotism, becomes the Barracuda, a buccaneer who delights in preying on Don Juan's ships.

On one such galleon he finds the bride-to-be, who pretends to hate her uncouth captor but nobly offers to marry him in order to spare another ship from attack. Things get pretty complicated after that, especially when Anne Bonny, female pirate, hears of all this, and, since she saw the Barracuda first and is loathe to relinquish him, especially to the wealthy and pampered Francisca, the girls are forced to stage several battles, verbal and otherwise. Miss Barnes' role would be tough for any girl, and there are times when she's more funny than fierce.

There are doubts and traitors and eventually Spanish prison cells for certain people, but a hooded maiden smuggles in a bottle and a gun, and after several wild fights in which the feminine rivals do their share of killing, we arrive at the retribution and romance stage.

If you care for the regulation tales of days of old, you'll find this lavishly produced and effectively directed, with remarkably expert color work, except for the final scene, in which the lovers sail into a dawn so red it almost hurts your eyes.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 13—It'll be Angela Lansbury—not Lana Turner—playing opposite Clark Gable in "Lucky Baldwin." But Clark will make a test with Pat Smart who may get one of the other roles. . . . Hurd Hatfield and Lucille Bremer are all set for "Red Shoes Run Faster" at Metro. . . . Since "Task Force" has been taken off the Warners' schedule and given back to the navy, it wouldn't surprise anybody if it turned out to be Gene Markey's first picture for 20th Century. The script for it is out of this world. . . . Betty Hutton tells me there are two stories ready for her—"The Duchess of Suds," about Mme. Sans Gene, Napoleon's washerwoman; and the life story of Pearl White, our former serial queen. . . . Ingrid Bergman's play has been postponed until next fall, and she hasn't decided whether she'll make "Katie for Congress," because her agreement with David O. Selznick ends with "Notorious." While Ingrid has become one of our greatest stars during her contract with David, she's made only one picture for him—"Intermezzo," her first.

A Lot, But She Wants More

Ketti Frings turned down $50,000 for her first story, knowing she could get much more. Incidentally she and her husband have adopted their third child and they're looking for a fourth. . . . Both Wayne Morris' present wife and his former partner [now Mrs. Arthur Hornblow] are very friendly. They not only go shopping together but they discuss babies. . . . I wish Betty Newling and Alex Bloomingdale would marry so we could get them out of the columns—with good wishes. . . . Virginia Field got out of a sick bed to sign her new Paramount contract. Well, wouldn't you? . . . Mrs. Henry Fonda isn't really ill; just taking allergy tests in the hospital. . . . Brian Aherne, whose play opens in New York Dec. 5, finds it's much harder to do comedy than drama on the stage.

O, Kaye! That's for Danny

Danny Kaye phoned to say hello the day he came in from Tokyo. He said: "Leo [the Lip] Durocher fractured the GI audiences. He got bigger and better laughs with his baseball stories than I got with my gags. When we came to our song and dance act together, Leo always said, 'This is what killed vaudeville!'" Danny said he went to a theater in Tokyo where he played 11 years ago and the man who was running it then was still there—only he didn't recognize Danny. I asked the "Wonder Man" if he was going to work at the Waldorf, and he said, "I was before I left, but you can't tell what's happened in my absence." Well, he'll have to do something, because one air show isn't enough to keep Danny boy out of mischief, and he doesn't do a picture until next summer.

Double Bill

Nina Foch has two places in which to live. Arthur Murray has turned over one of his studios to her, and she's rented Bill Eythe's house in the valley. Bill bought himself a new home. . . . One of the "Our Gang" comedy kids, Buster Slaven, returned after nine months in a German prison camp. He was an aerial gunner. . . . Went to a party the other night where four top pianists turned on the entertainment. Ray Turner, who did the recordings for "Rhapsody in Blue;" Bobby Dolan, Paramount's ace conductor; Leon Leonardi, who leaves for New York to do the Harold Arlen-Johnny Mercer all-Negro show, "St. Louis Woman," and Jimmy McHugh. Boy, did we have music! . . . Natalie Draper is off to New York with Mrs. Herbert Marshall and may linger on there to do a play.

Thru the Looking Glass

A reader called us recently and wanted to know how long we thought a medium sized jar of lubricating cream should last. That's the sixty-four dollar question we can't find a definite answer for, since the amount of cream the skin needs and can lap up would vary according to the individual. However, further questioning revealed that this particular woman was being overly lavish in applying her cream and was wasting it unnecessarily. She was using it in great gobs at night and apparently more got on the pillow case than on her face since she merely slathered it on and never stopped to massage it in.

Lubricating creams are intended to be used with light massage. Use no more than is necessary to cover the face and neck with only a thin film left on the surface after it has been manipulated about. Dab it strategically on cheeks, forehead, chin, and a few dots on the throat. Then, using all ten fingers and the palms of the hands, stroke it lightly over the skin. Massage gently, smoothing the lubricant about in upward and outward movements. If you can't restrain yourself and are inclined to pull the skin when you rub, then merely pinch and pat the cream in. Slap lightly with the tips of the fingers, and then give little pinches with thumbs and forefingers, no harder than the playful kind you would give a baby's cheek.

Don't try to hurry the process and go at it with gusto to get it over in short order. Be willing to spend about five minutes slowly massaging the cream in until there is only a very thin film left on the skin. If you leave more than a light film on over night, you're being wasteful of the cream since a heavy coat will do no more good than a thin one, and the excess does the bed linen no good at all. LOUISE DOOLEY

Missionary to Be Speaker at Presbyterian Meeting

Experiences as a missionary in the Philippines and in Korea will be recounted by Miss Harriet E. Pollard at a meeting of the Woman's Federation of the Fourth Presbyterian church at 11:30 a. m. today in the church. Miss Pollard's work in the Philippines was begun shortly before the war broke out and during the war years she was interned in the Santo Tomas and the Los Banos camps. The church women supported her work in Korea for more than 20 years. Devotions at today's meeting are to be led by Mrs. J. Harry Cotton.

Chaplain Says Experts Fear 75 Pct. of War Marriages Will Fail

Sociologists and psychologists predict that 75 per cent of the war marriages "are headed for the rocks," the Rev. Russell L. Dicks, chaplain at Wesley Memorial hospital, said yesterday at a forum conducted by the Association for Family Living in its headquarters at 209 S. State st.

"In the 10 years following World War I, 32 per cent of the war marriages failed," he explained. "This war presents even greater problems. The separations were longer and no one can go away from home for even a year without experiencing some emotional difficulties."

Returning veterans faced with marital problems should consult a psychiatrist or some qualified counselor, the Rev. Mr. Dicks advised. Emotional disturbances are as much a sickness as heart trouble or tuberculosis, he warned, and should be treated by experts.

Mrs. E. J. Farman, Decorah, Ia.—I cut screen wire wide enough and long enough to fold over about ¼ inch all around, and tack this securely over the outside of the slots in my storm windows. It looks neat and keeps birds, insects, leaves, etc., from entering the house and it does not interfere with ventilation.

Kitty J., Des Moines, Ia.—I keep a few paper dust cloths tucked in convenient spots thruout my house. This saves steps, because I can dust more often when I'm in a room and see the need of it—and dust and dirt stay "under control."

Mrs. Jim A., Chicago—I dip a cloth in whiting paste and use it on any badly discolored aluminum utensil. Have found that such a mild abrasive as whiting won't scratch aluminum.

Edna G., Lansing, Mich.—When dyeing drapes for a room I try to put them all in the same batch of dye. In this way they all match perfectly.

Wildcat Forwards 60 Minute Men

Coach Lynn Waldorf put the Northwestern university football team thru a long defensive drill yesterday in preparation for Saturday's game with Notre Dame in Dyche stadium. Waldorf hopes to remedy a number of defensive weaknesses that bobbed up in last week's Wisconsin game and permitted the Badgers to roll up 244 yards on the ground, one of the largest totals compiled against the Wildcats this season.

Despite this defensive lapse, Northwestern's line has given a good account of itself this season and Wildcat followers are hopeful that it will hit its peak against the Irish.

They're Full Time Workmen

Northwestern's seven regular linemen have been virtual 60 minute men in most of the seven games this season, because adequate reserves are not available at most positions.

In Capt. Max Morris and Stan Gorski, the Wildcats possess a pair of fine ends. Morris, who has caught 12 passes for 226 yards, leads the conference in pass receiving. Both ends caught touchdown passes against Wisconsin.

Northwestern's tackle play has been consistently outstanding. Westi Hansen, a 6 foot 4 inch, 218 pound navy trainee and Chuck Hagmann, 178 pound freshman from Erie, Pa., have turned in creditable performances and on a number of occasions have gone the full route.

Guards Are Among Best

It is questionable if the Big Nine has a better pair of guards than Jim Lecture and Paul Schuetz who also have been in the 60 minute class. Lecture, who weighs 216 pounds, joined the squad at the start of the fall campaign after his discharge from the army air forces, in which he served as a gunner on a bomber in the European theater. Schuetz, from Wheeling, W. Va., is one of three freshmen linemen.

The third freshman starter in the line is Bob Piros, 182 pounder from St. Louis, who moved up to the center position in last week's Wisconsin game following the navy transfer of Ray Miller.

IRISH CRIPPLES RETURN

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special]—The Notre Dame football varsity, still feeling the wear and tear of the 48 to 0 defeat by Army on Saturday, worked on pass defense today, as the Irish prepared to meet Northwestern Saturday in Dyche stadium, Evanston.

All of the injured regulars—Phil Colella and Elmer Angsman, half backs; Frank Ruggerio, full back; Pete Berezney, tackle, and Bob Skoglund, end—were on hand, and Coach Hugh Devore expects they'll be ready to play against the Wildcats.

Gophers Back at Work Again After 'Holiday'

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 (AP)—The University of Minnesota football squad, with only injured members missing, went thru a workout today with no indications that wholesale absences from yesterday's drill were other than the result of a misunderstanding over the Armistice day holiday.

Absence of 11 first stringers without excuses yesterday after Coach Bernie Bierman had characterized the team as lazy and spiritless gave rise to reports that dissension had split the squad and that some members were in revolt.

The only first stringers missing from today's drill were Tom Cates, half back, who has an injured side, and Bob Hanzlik, guard, who suffered a shoulder injury in Saturday's 49 to 0 walloping by Indiana.

Bierman's only reply to questions by newsmen concerning the dissension reports, as he pointed to the squad at work, was: "They're here, aren't they?"

Judd Ringer, varsity end, termed the reports of friction ridiculous and said the absences resulted from a misunderstanding over the Armistice day holiday. Other players refused to comment.

Frank McCormick, athletic director, who said he visited the practice to "see what all this talk is about" added that he thought the players were a little irked at the reports. "It may be a good thing, at that," he said. "They really were in there pitching today."

Dodgers Send Peacock to New Orleans as Manager

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the sale of Johnny Peacock to New Orleans where the veteran catcher will be signed as player-manager of the Southern association Pelicans. Peacock will succeed Fresco Thompson who resigned as New Orleans manager to rejoin the Brooklyn organization as a scout.

THEY'LL BE IN THICK OF N. U.-IRISH FRACAS

Charles Hagmann, sturdy N. U. tackle, will be one of Wildcats' mainstays against Notre Dame Saturday. It's traditional game for both teams.

One of chief problems faced by Northwestern line in Dyche stadium battle will be stopping plunges of Frank Ruggerio, Notre Dame full back.

The other tackle position on the Wildcats' line is capably handled by Westi Hansen.

DUDLEY AGAIN CHOSEN BY P. G. A.

Portland, Ore., Awarded 1946 Tourney

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Ed Dudley, the tall and amiable Georgian who now registers from the Atlantic City [N. J.] Country club, yesterday received an anniversary gift in the form of his unanimous re-election as president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America in the annual meeting in the Basmarck hotel.

Joe Novak

It was just five years and a day ago yesterday when the smooth swinging native of Brunswick, Ga., first assumed the presidency of the pros' organization.

Maguire Is Reëlected, Too

Since then Dudley has led the P. G. A. thru a war time span which might have stymied many another official, but which now has been proved the most successful presidential tenure in the history of the association off its work in golfing rehabilitation of hospitalized service men if on no other count.

Also reëlected unanimously was Treasurer Willie Maguire, the Bostonian who has served 37 consecutive years as professional at the Houston [Tex.] Country club. Only change in the official personnel was in the secretaryship, where Joe Novak of Los Angeles was elected, succeeding Frank Sprogell of Blythefield, Mich. Novak, a native of Montana, has spent 27 years of his professional career in California, the last 17 as professional at Los Angeles' Bel Air club.

Appoint District Chiefs

Beyond the election, most important news of the day was the award of the 1946 National P. G. A. championship tournament to the Portland [Ore.] Golf club. This marks the second time the big man-to-man show has gone to the Pacific northwest, the other having been held in 1943 in Spokane, Wash., where Bob Hamilton upset Byron Nelson in the title match.

Three new district vice presidents also were elected yesterday. They were: District 4—George Hall, University Golf club, Ithaca, N. Y.; district 8—Gordon Richards, Broadmoor Golf club, Seattle, Wash., and district 9—George Schneiter, Broadmoor Country club, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Sugar Robinson to Fight in Victory Bond Bout

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Ray [Sugar] Robinson, outstanding welterweight, agreed today to fight in a victory bond 10 round bout Dec. 17 in the San Francisco auditorium. Gus Wilson, here on behalf of Bill Kyne, head of a San Francisco committee, said Robinson was guaranteed $12,500 to meet the winner of the Nov. 20 Chester Slider-Paulie Peters bout in Oakland.

Coutre Latest Name on Prep Stars' Roster

BY DAVID CONDON

It now is no secret that Larry [Red] Coutre, captain and high scoring half back of the St. George High school eleven, is the talk of prep football, with his name on the tongue of every fan who follows the activities of the Catholic league.

Things were different, however, at the start of the season, when Coutre was only a name on the St. George roster. Larry was a substitute on the 1943 St. George team which won the Kelly bowl championship, and spent his 1944 career on the bench, waiting for a leg injury to heal.

He Convinces Coach

Came the start of the 1945 season and it still didn't look like Coutre would set the Catholic league aflame. The leg injury still required a bandage, and he had missed a year of valuable experience. Two practice sessions, however, were enough to convince the St. George coach, Max Burnell, former Notre Dame back field star.

"I watched Larry in two practices," said Burnell, "and then I knew we had a back as great as any I've ever seen. He is a born leader and has great speed. Maybe I was slow catching on, because all the boys liked Larry and some of them told me he'd make the Catholic league forget such players as Bob Kelly and Steve Juzwik."

To back up his enthusiasm on the 17 year old star, Burnell kept a special set of statistics. To date, these records reveal that Red has carried the ball 98 times for 1,369

GEESE FLY HIGH IN 'V' FORMATION

Canadian Honkers Seek Feeding Grounds

BY BOB BECKER

Canada geese and their more conspicuous relatives, the blue and snow geese, have been using the flyways over Illinois during the last few weeks to put on a thrilling show for city dwellers.

Most of the Canadian honkers headed for the Horseshoe lake refuge near Cairo, Ill., but a few of them are enjoying free meals of grain along the Illinois river. Last week when we were near the Chautauqua lake wildlife refuge outside of Havana, Ill., there were more than 1,000 blues and snows hanging around.

No Increase in Number

Altho the 1945 flight has given the impression that we have more geese this fall than in former years, Paul Smith, game management agent of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service of Anna, Ill., who checks the migration into Horseshoe lake, said yesterday that there were only about 30,000 Canadian honkers down there and he believed that most of the birds due to check in at the refuge had arrived.

In 1944 some 35,000 parked at Horseshoe and flew around the surrounding hunting fields until more than 6,000 got shot. During the fall of 1943 the goose flight over Illinois to the Cairo district was a big one for approximately 48,000 birds congregated at Horseshoe lake.

They're Spectacular in Flight

Smith hopes that 35,000 honkers again will occupy the refuge this fall, but he points out that the size of this central flyway flock has been going down in recent years.

No waterfowl makes a more spectacular migration than the Canadian honker. The goose is a big bird and he looks that way in the sky. The birds seem to believe in order so a flock gets organized with a pacemaker to lead the way which accounts for their V formations. Having no fear of predators when flying, the honkers "talk" a lot while on the wing, as if they wanted everybody to see them on their migration.

Because they are not as numerous as a few years ago the season for hunting them around Horseshoe lake has been held up until noon next Saturday.

WELDEN SMITH ELECTED HEAD OF YACHT CLUB

Welden R. Smith, owner-skipper of the racing-cruising cutter Valiant, was elected commodore of the Jackson Park Yacht club last night at the annual meeting held in the clubhouse at outer Jackson Park harbor. Smith succeeds Edwin G. Daniels.

John L. Ruzich, skipper of Star class sloop Starlight, was made vice commodore, and John McInnis, owner of the cruising ketch Chinook, was elected rear commodore. Hans Hjermsted, skipper of Star boat Jennie, was chosen secretary to succeed Herbert Gaetjens. L. E. Rickard, son of former Commodore Fay Rickard, was named treasurer.

BIG 10 STUDIES RESTORING ITS FRESHMAN RULE

Leaders Disagree on Restriction

BY WILFRID SMITH

When the directors of athletics and members of the faculty committee of the Western conference meet in Chicago early in December they will discuss repeal of the war time permission for freshmen to participate in sports. H. O. [Fritz] Crisler, Michigan's coach and director, already has gone on public record as favoring return to pre-war eligibility restrictions.

Speaking in New York after Michigan's game with Army, Crisler built his arguments on the sound basis of a required period for orientation of incoming students and the barrier to recruiting imposed by the rule prohibiting freshman competition.

In subsequent visits to conference universities we have found no coach or director who completely indorses Crisler's proposal for immediate restoration of pre-war eligibility rules. Several said that the Western conference should not take any action until the government announces its post-war draft program. Maj. Eddie Anderson, who will return next fall as head football coach at Iowa, said emphatically that, in his opinion, Iowa could not have a football team if freshmen were barred from playing.

Deferred Only for Semester

Requirement of a year's residence before beginning competition probably is result of a belief that members of the current freshman class will remain in the universities yet no such assurance has been given. As the matter now stands, university freshmen are deferred until they complete the present quarter or semester. Such conference stars as Walt Teninga of Michigan, George Taliaferro of Indiana, Bob DeMoss of Purdue, Don Whan of Northwestern and many others, presumably will be in military service next fall.

Several of the present group of freshmen football stars narrowly missed the draft early in September, just before the order was issued delaying induction until completion of one scholastic term. Indiana, undefeated leader of the conference, for example, had eight freshmen ordered for pre-induction physical examinations two weeks before the opening game with Michigan. If these players had been lost, the Hoosiers today would not be one step from their first Big Nine championship.

Can't Count on Veterans

The supposition that returning veterans will supply talent for 1946 football is incorrect on two counts. Three universities, Michigan, Northwestern, and Purdue, which have had navy programs that originally held veteran players for the 1942 and 1943 seasons, will not benefit to any marked degree. Many of their better players have completed the normal three years of competition.

Other universities falsely assume that, after four years, all of their players will return and the record this year challenges the supposition that veterans will take up intercollegiate sports with the same eagerness or that they will have their former skill.

FULL MILITARY RITES ACCORDED SWEDE LARSON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—Col. Emery Ellsworth [Swede] Larson was buried today with full military honors in Arlington cemetery.

Three of Larson's teammates of the undefeated Quantico marine football team of 1922, Brig. Gen. Elmer E. Hall, Col. E. W. Skinner, and Col. John W. Beckett, were present as were Swede's friends over the years among football coaches, including Bog Higgins, Penn State, and Johnny Wilson, United States Naval academy.

The Larson family party included Mrs. Larson and three children, Mary Alice, Emery Jr., a marine lieutenant, and Theodore, Annapolis plebe.

Col. Larson played center for the navy in 1919, 1920, and 1921, and coached the Middies in 1939, 1940, and 1941.

La Motta Knocks Out Miller in Third Round

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Jack La Motta, New York middleweight contender, knocked out Coolidge Miller of Brooklyn in the third round of the Park arena's feature 10 round bout tonight.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

MAN power troubles apparently are not limited to industry. . . . Sport, too, is having its share. . . . Eleven players refused to report for football practice at Minnesota Monday and the Ohio State squad has been restive all season. . . . Minnesota and Ohio State are citadels of college football and if men are tiring of the game there, it is safe to assume that they are growing weary elsewhere. . . . Ringleaders in the revolt at both universities are returned service men who don't respond to the rah-rah spirit as they did before they went away to war. . . . Many of them are tired of taking orders. . . . They had enough of it in army camps. . . . A few days ago this department observed that college coaches would be better off to rely on incoming talent rather than on men coming back from the battle fronts. . . . That doesn't mean that football competition should be denied veterans. . . . Some of them will have as much spirit as when they left the campus. . . . Even if they lack the old fire, they are entitled to engage in football as a beneficial exercise, but coaches should not move them into regular jobs over younger men who have proved their merit. . . . They again should be required to establish their right to a varsity position. . . . The spirit of unrest is not restricted to undergraduate football. . . . Pro teams are having problems, too. . . . All was not well with the Chicago Bears for a few weeks in midseason and the Cleveland Rams, despite their lofty position in the National league race, have threatened sitdown strikes. . . . The trouble is not altogether with the players. . . . Some coaches have been slow in adjusting their technique to the changed situation. . . . They should know they can't deal with a 25 year old war veteran in the same manner they do with a boy fresh from high school.

Other lovely little scandals are simmering and unless leaders both in pro and college football wake up to the dangers the sport may find itself in serious difficulties in the not too distant future. . . . The pros must be more vigorous in curbing gambling by players. . . . If the alarming competition for college athletes is not restricted, it may be for the best if colleges go openly into the market for football students, sign them to contracts with certain mild academic obligations and present their fall spectacles on a cleancut, unqualified professional basis. . . . One of the salubrious effects would be the elimination of suspicions, strife, and subterfuge. . . . Besides, the present arrangement is economically cockeyed. . . . Why should a half back at Alabama, for example, be worth board, room, tuition, and incidentals, while an equally good half back at Illinois be worth only his tuition? . . . What is the CIO going to do about these inequalities? . . . This department not long ago had a call from a college coach who complained that one of his old boys now in service who still had collegiate eligibility had signed to play with a professional team for $4,500 a year. . . . He said his school couldn't meet that kind of competition.

Every one who reads this column knows its proprietor yields to nobody in his support of football. . . . We for years have boosted the college game because we believe in its advantages to the participant, the spectator and the nation. . . . We feel, too, there is a place for professional football. . . . It has arrived as a full fledged activity, despite all the obstacles in its path. . . . It is becoming increasingly difficult, however, to determine whether or not there is amateur football above the high school grade.

Choosing the Better Part

How often would we smooth the path that lies
Outstretched before our too unwilling feet,
Instead of seeking a far greater prize
In fortitude that makes triumph complete.

So frequently we shun the sterner task
And miss the inner sanction only won
By those in search of guidance who but ask
For strength to match the duty to be done.

Not by choice of favored circumstance,
But by the kindly graces daily sown,
May we possess the riches that enhance
The heart's true realm that we may call our own.

No One Wins

War took the boy I loved away from me
And shattered him in body and in mind;
He was the flower of society
And now behold him mutilated, blind!
A mind that used to scintillate is dead,
A countenance, once handsome, shocks the sight,
A youthful heart is filled with fear and dread
That once shone bright with youthfulness and light.

When shall we learn that war brings only pain,
That no one wins when everything is scored,
There is a triple loss for every gain—
Man was not made to perish by the sword;
Behold the snow white crosses row on row

SPORTSMAN'S PARK LEADER SEEKS RECORD

19 Year Old Needs 35 More

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Job Dean Jessop, the nation's leading jockey, rode four more winners yesterday at Sportsman's Park, duplicating his feat of Monday and raising his total for the meeting to 53, and his score for the year to 267.

Job D. Jessop

The 19 year old lad from Nibley, Utah, still has more than a month and a half of the season remaining in which to crack the modern record of 301 winners set by Jackie Westrope back in 1933.

Jessop was aboard favorites in his winning efforts Monday, but yesterday he brought in a pair of outsiders, along with two well backed thorobreds. One, Bert Bagley's Bengal Boy, returned $24.40 and another, C. E. Davison's Infinity G., paid $19.40. His other winners, owned by Earl Burton, were Prahs, which paid $4.20, and Hollyam, which returned $6.40.

His Horse Fails in Big Race

Jessop accepted mounts in all eight races and finished out of the money twice and third, twice. His followers, however, had quite a shock in the $1,800 Danny Thomas purse when he had the leg up on John Q. Public, a 1 to 3 favorite, and was unable to do better than third behind Hall and Fetzer's Tin Pan Alley and W. Gher's Compatriot. Tin Pan Alley, ridden by Earl Henson, paid $36.20.

The Utah lad has dominated every meeting in which he has been a full time participant in a season shortened greatly by the war time ban on the sport from January to May. He led at New Orleans, four winners in two days, before the government stepped in; showed the way during both spring and fall meetings at Fairmount Park, winning 50 and 21; scored 52 times at Omaha, and had 62 winners at Dade Park. Altho a late arrival at Hawthorne, he won 25 races.

Goes to Oaklawn Park

Westrope was the first jockey to hit the 300 mark since Vince Powers scored with 324 in 1908 after Walter Miller had won 388 in 1906 and 334 in 1907.

Jessop will continue at Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs next Monday and then will move to Gulfstream Park in Florida.

Yesterday's eight race card attracted 5,562 customers and $556,931 was wagered.

There will be nine races this afternoon, with the post time for the first being moved up to 12:45 o'clock.

Illini Bolster Defense for Buckeye Test

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special]—The Illinois football squad, preparing for its game Saturday in Columbus against Ohio State, went thru a spirited drill on defense today.

Coach Ray Eliot, seeking a means of snapping Buckeye domination over Illinois, drilled his squad on individual and team defense. Illinois is pointing to Saturday's game as a means of avenging the 1943 extra inning defeat, when the Illini were called from their dressing room to return to the field for one more play, which was a field goal that cost them the game.

BUCKEYES SHUFFLE ENDS

FOOTBALL VETS REPLAY GAMES AT ANNUAL FEED

Jim Conzelman, former Chicago Cardinal coach and described by Toastmaster Herb Graffis as king of the hard roll circuit, told 500 guests at the Old Time Football Players' association's annual dinner last night that he would like to see a broadening of the nation's sports program so that the mediocre athlete would have a chance to engage in competition.

This was virtually the only serious note in the night-long get-together of the old geezers who used to bump noggins on the sandlots of Chicago. The program was held in the Terrace casino of the Morrison hotel.

The past and present of Chicago's gridiron fraternity was there.

It was a rendezvous for Chicago Cardinal players of two decades ago. Included were Duke Slater, Paddy Driscoll, Capt. Bill Whalen, who lost a hand in Europe in the late war; Chris O'Brien, original owner of the team; Fred Gillies, Willis Brennan, Nick McInerney, Amby McGurk, and Wilfrid Smith.

GARNER TO TEST SATTERFIELD IN BOUT TONIGHT

Meet in Ashland Ring in 8 Round Attraction

Robert Satterfield, 1941 city Golden Gloves welterweight champion, who has scored eight knockouts in his last 10 fights as a light heavyweight, is expected to receive the strongest test of his career in an eight round bout against Bob Garner of Louisville tonight in Ashland auditorium, Ashland blvd. and Van Buren st.

Satterfield survived two knockdowns before flooring Charley Polk for the count in the second round in the Ashland arena three weeks ago.

Garner appeared against Hubert Hood in his last two Chicago starts, beating Hood in the first meeting and losing a decision in the rematch. Previously Bob scored a third round knockout over Polk in Marigold Gardens. Supporting matches:

Talmadge Bussy, Detroit, vs. Dan Robinson [8], 145.
Paul Darry, Detroit, vs. Charles Williams [5], 155.
Willie Moore vs. Curtis Filer, St. Louis [5], 175.
Curtis Smith, St. Louis, vs. Terry Smith, Detroit [4], 147.
Hank Okura, Coulon gym, vs. Joe Nelson, Detroit [4], 130.

More than 100 entrants in the 15th Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament have been ordered to report for qualifying tests in C. Y. O. center gymnasium tonight. It will be the occasion of the first medical examinations and successful entrants will qualify for the opening preliminaries in the C. Y. O. gymnasium Nov. 26. Finals will be held in the Coliseum Dec. 18. Deadline for entries is Nov. 21.

The first of a series of wrestling shows will be presented in Ashland auditorium Nov. 23 under the sponsorship of Karl Pojello and Joe Detloff. . . . Municipal Judge William V. Daly yesterday continued until Friday a hearing on a motion for a new trial for Ray [Sugar] Robinson on a $5,000 judgment awarded to Fred Irvin, New York promoter.

STADIUM BASKET DOUBLE HEADERS WILL OPEN DEC. 21

The series of Stadium basketball double headers will open on Friday night, Dec. 21, with De Paul university playing Oregon State and Northwestern university meeting Western Michigan.

Twelve double headers have been scheduled for the 1945-'46 season, the longest in the history of the series.

Preceding the opening of the regular college double headers, a three day intercollegiate invitational tourney will be held under the sponsorship of De Paul university. The meet will open on Dec. 12 and end on the 15th. The teams that have been entered in the tourney are Oregon, Washington, Bowling Green, Hamlin, Indiana State, Terre Haute, Ind., and the host team, De Paul.

NEW BLACKHAWK FORWARD STRING GETS WORKOUT

The newly formed Blackhawk forward string of Joe Cooper at right wing, Wingy Johnston at center, and Alex Kaleta at left wing got a full hour's attention of Manager Johnny Gottselig yesterday afternoon on the Chicago Stadium ice. Clint Smith, who has been working between Kaleta and Johnston, will replace Don Grosso who suffered a collar bone injury in Toronto last Saturday.

Two Morton High Players Signed by Soccer Club

Bob Swanson and Ken Houdek, 17 year old Morton High school athletes, have been signed by Sam Reda, manager of the John Rago brothers soccer team. The boys will make their debut Sunday, Dec. 2, when the Ragos play the Italians in an Illinois state first round cup match in Hanson park stadium, Fullerton and Central avs.

REDSKINS RIPE FOR UPSET, BEAR COACH ASSERTS

Johnsos Says His Club or Cards Will Win

BY EDWARD PRELL

The Cardinals will play the Cleveland Rams in Comiskey park Sunday; Bears will meet the Washington Redskins on the same afternoon in Griffith stadium.

"One of the Chicago teams will win," said Luke Johnsos yesterday. It remained only half a prediction, tho, when the Bears' co-coach couldn't be wheedled into revealing whether he was thinking about his own team or the Cardinals.

Redskins Win Five Straight

"Washington is ripe for an upset," he said. "They've won five straight since losing their first game to Boston. They have a fine team, fast backs, good passing by Baugh and Filchock, and a strong line. We might need a break or two, something we haven't had all season, and this could be enough for us to win."

Johnsos is one of several National Football league coaches who believes the Philadelphia Eagles will win the eastern division championship, even tho they have lost twice to Washington's one defeat. Obviously if the Bears whip the Redskins Sunday and the Eagles win from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia will move into a tie with Washington. This would give the Eagles a chance to go in front by beating the Redskins on Nov. 25 in Philadelphia.

Bears Weak on Defense

Yesterday, Alexis Thompson, owner of the Eagles, said he had turned down a suggestion from Washington's owner, George Marshall, that the Nov. 25 game be shifted from Shibe park to huge Municipal stadium.

The Bears have scored 87 points in their last four games, enough to normally win three of them. But they have yielded 116 points. The fault obviously is with their defense and especially an inability to stop an enemy passing attack.

Cards' First Home Game

The Cardinals will be playing their first home game Sunday, but in a previous Chicago appearance they won their only game of the year. That was against the Bears in Wrigley field. The Cards' first home game, against Detroit, was shifted to Milwaukee because Sox park wasn't available.

The Rams will be trying for a sweep against the Cards, whom they beat earlier in the season in Cleveland, 21 to 0. Cleveland already has hung double defeats on the Bears and Packers.

'Great John L' Gains Draw with Critics

BY FRANK MASTRO

"The Great John L.," depicting the life of John L. Sullivan, the famed Boston strong boy, earned a draw with sports writers and radio announcers who attended a preview of the Bing Crosby movie in the screening room in the Variety club of the Blackstone hotel last night.

The film, which tends to show the rise of Sullivan to the bare knuckle championship and his subsequent loss of the title to James J. Corbett in the first fight with padded gloves in 1892, will have its Chicago premiere in the Oriental theater tomorrow.

Really K. O.'d Ryan

The movie shows how Sullivan, portrayed by Greg McClure, wins his right to a match with Paddy Ryan, claimant of the bare knckles belt, by knocking out Steve Taylor in two rounds and John Flood in eight in 1891. The real Sullivan knocked out Ryan in the ninth round in Mississippi on Feb. 7, 1892, but this achievement was not shown.

Neither were the 21 victories he scored before losing the championship to Corbett on a knockout in the 21st round in New Orleans Sept. 7, 1892.

Picture Has a Moral

The moral of the movie is: Don't drink to excess.

Sullivan, the excessive drinker, became a teetotaler after he lost the title and preached the evils of drink before he died in Abington, Mass., Feb. 2, 1918.

GRAND JURORS INDICT M'PHAIL ON 3 CHARGES

Bel Air, Md., Nov. 13 (AP)—State's Atty. D. Paul McNabb of Harford county said that President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees was indicted today by the November grand jury on two assault charges and one of disorderly conduct.

MacPhail was arrested Oct. 8 on three warrants sworn out after an Oct. 5 disturbance in the Bel Air telephone exchange over his inability to place a long distance call from his stock farm near Bel Air.

PURDUE DRILLS ON ITS OFFENSE FOR MICHIGAN

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special]—Gearing up Purdue's offense, rated second in Western conference competition, to meet the challenge of Michigan's strong defense, occupied the main attention in today's practice. The Boilermakers meet the Wolverines in Ann Arbor Saturday in a contest that will determine which of the two rivals is to remain in title contention.

Cecil Isbell, Purdue coach, working without the services of his assistant, Mel Taube, who was called to Detroit last night by the death of his father, pointed out that the Wolverines have yielded only three touchdowns in four conference games. A rehearsal of blocking assignments to meet Michigan's shifting defense provided the highlight of the drill.

Injuries Worry Isbell

Isbell is worried over injuries among the guards and ends. Three out of the four guards who have been drawing starting assignments in recent weeks, Marvin Crowe, Bill Horvath, and Harold Holz, are sidelined due to injuries and illness. Norman [Ned] Maloney and Bob Heck, regular ends, who were unable to play against Miami because of injuries, have failed to respond as rapidly to treatment as was expected.

Taube, who scouted Michigan against Navy, is expected to rejoin the squad in Jackson, Mich., on Friday.

MICHIGAN WORKS ON OFFENSE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special]—Michigan worked on its offensive weapons today for Saturday's game with Purdue.

The Wolverines' back field alignments have been thrown somewhat out of balance from injuries to Quarter Back Howard Yerges and Half Back Wally Teninga. Both are expected to play Saturday but there is some doubt whether they will be at peak effectiveness.

"We have a lot of respect for that Purdue line," Coach Fritz Crisler said today. "It looks like our offense will have to be at best if we take this one."

Jack Weisenburger worked at two positions today, full back and left half back. Weisenburger also will call signals when Yerges is not in the lineup.

Buddy Bomar, Joe Wilman Open 2 Day Feud Saturday

Buddy Bomar and Joe Wilman will bowl a 28 game home and home individual match Saturday and Sunday. Competition will open Saturday afternoon in the Dearborn-Jackson recreation in the loop. On Sunday the rivals will shift to Faetz's recreation, 5961 N. Ridge av. Games are scheduled for 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock each day.

Coutre Joins Prep Gridiron Hall of Fame yards, and has scored 16 touchdowns and four extra points.

He's a Threat Every Time

The touchdowns scored lend emphasis to Red's speed. Not one has been scored from inside the 10 yard line. In nine games Coutre has broke loose for dashes of 40, 70, 40, 19, 60, 35, 20, 65, 67, 77, 65, 80, 24, 10, 65, and 80 yards. Last Sunday, against St. Rita, he scored 19 of 20 points made by the Dragons.

One of the extra points made by Coutre came on a rushing play. The other three came in five attempts from placement. It has been only in the last three games that Coutre has been attempting to kick the points after touchdowns.

Larry has tried only two passes. The first he threw was good for 35 yards and was caught by Jim Conley, who ran on to score the touchdown which gained a draw with Fenwick and enabled the Dragons to tie the Friars for the Catholic league south section title. The two teams meet again Sunday in Soldiers' field to decide the secction championship and select an opponent for St. Ignatius, north section winner, for the league crown.

Punts Average 41 Yards

Burnell believes that it is Red's outstanding kicking, as much as his running, that has kept the opposition in trouble. Coutre has punted 12 times with an average of 41.1 yards per try.

Larry lives at 5919 N. Washtenaw av., weighs 170 pounds, is 5 feet 8 inches tall, and a senior at St. George. His name has been on the honor roll continuously since he enrolled at St. George. There are two sisters and six brothers in Larry's family. Larry's father, Ted, once was on the Chicago Cubs' role of pitchers, but suffered an arm injury.

Larry has played on several championship softball teams. He played basketball last year on the St. George junior varsity and is fond of ice skating. His hobby is fishing at the Coutre summer home in Wisconsin. He drinks lots of milk, likes dancing, sports clothes, and his commerce courses at St. George. He wants to follow commerce in college and become an accountant.

"An accountant!" Burnell snorts. "He should have to keep track of his own statistics!"

Zivic Loses 10 Round Decision to Joe Curcio

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 13 (AP)—Joe Curcio, Newark southpaw, withstood a strong start and a desperate finish by Corp. Fritzie Zivic to outpoint the veteran Pittsburgh battler in the feature 10 round bout at the Elizabeth armory tonight.

CHANGE BUILDING PLAN

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13 [AP]—The Springfield school board plans to build a $125,000 high school sports stadium seating 5,000 persons, instead of a $260,000 structure seating 9,600 as originally proposed.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 [AP]—Frank Jenkins, left end, today was named to captain Pennsylvania against unbeaten Army, No. 1 football team in the nation, in their meeting Saturday on Franklin field.

M'MAHON JOINS TOLEDO CLUB

Toledo O., Nov. 13 [AP]—Thomas J. McMahon, 32, of New Haven, Conn., today was appointed assistant business manager of the Toledo baseball club of the American association.

BADGERS NAME MEAD AS CAPTAIN AGAINST MIDDIES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13—[Special]—Jack Mead, University of Wisconsin right end, will be acting captain of the Badgers when they tackle the powerful Navy eleven Saturday in Baltimore, Coach Harry Stuhldreher said today.

Mead suffered an elbow injury in the Northwestern game Saturday, but is expected to be in shape for a starting assignment. He has been a standout offensively and defensively for the Badgers all season.

Guard Against Injuries

The only other Badger cripple, Wray George, guard, is recuperating and will be ready for the Middies. Among newcomers showing improvement are Bob Hanley, an end; Bob Shea, tackle, from Waukegan, and Dan Orlick, left half.

The Badgers drilled on a muddy field. Stuhldreher, fearing more injuries to his already thin layer of regulars, is keeping contact work to a minimum.

The Badgers will leave here Thursday morning, holding their last home drill late Wednesday afternoon. They will work out in Baltimore on Friday afternoon.

NAVY STARTS DRILLS

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 13 [Special]—While the annual battle against West Point Cadets is uppermost in the minds of every one connected with football at Annapolis, the Navy's contest Saturday in Baltimore against the University of Wisconsin is not being overlooked.

When the Middies resumed workouts today, the program was devoted largely to pointing up a defense against the style play employed by the Badgers, who will be playing Navy for the first time.

HOOSIERS STUDY T

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special]—Pittsburgh's diversified T attack, different than any other T formation Indiana has met this year, again occupied the Hoosiers' attention today as they got ready to play the Panthers at Pittsburgh Saturday.

Charles [Automatic] Armstrong, star Indiana place-kicker who booted 7 consecutive extra points against Minnesota, is back working at a second string tackle spot. Armstrong did no playing against the Gophers except for kicking points after getting a wrenched ankle against Cornell college a week ago.

There is a grassy knoll at Milne bay
Where our comrades valiant led.
Now only birds and breezes sing
A requiem for the dead.
There are small white crosses row on row,
Some bear a name, some none.
Our flag unfurled flies proudly there,
Thy will, O Lord, was done.
O, grant them peace, O Lord, our God,
There is no compensation,
And may we ever carry on,
Their only consolation.

BOWLES FLAYS ALLEGED AUTO PRICE 'LOBBY'

Ceilings to Compel Cost Absorption

Tire Output Lags

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Civilian passenger tire output is running about 35 per cent behind needs, failing by 2,100,000 units to reach monthly capacity estimated by the industry as 6 million casings, the Rubber Manufacturers' association said today. The organization said one of the chief limiting factors was man power and at least 7,000 workers were needed at once.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP)—Price Administrator Bowles accused auto dealers today of a high pressure lobby campaign to gain exemptions from the OPA policy which requires retail merchants to absorb part of higher production costs.

He announced that the dealers' demands are being rejected. He added that price ceilings for new automobiles, to be announced Thursday, would permit dealers to make a higher profit than before the war.

Bowles contended that a dealer could make a $200 profit on a $1,000 car, whereas before the war he would have made only $115 on the same deal after taking into consideration losses on trade-ins.

Resists "Government by Presure"

Testifying before the house small business committee, which is considering dealers' complaints, Bowles reported that auto dealers had organized the most intensive telegraph-telephone lobby he ever had seen in a campaign, but that OPA was resisting "government by pressure." He said telegrams arrived at the rate of almost one a minute at OPA headquarters and the telephone switchboards were blocked by a flood of calls.

"Setting aside the fact that this flood of nearly identical telegrams delayed the receipt of many important communications, one cannot help but respect the efficiency with which this part of the campaign was organized," Bowles commented.

Several members of the committee disagreed with Bowles that such incidents are "alarming." Rep. Hall [R., N. Y.] commented that "it is sometimes healthy to get expressions of opinion from these little fellows." Rep. Robinson [D., Utah] said he thought Bowles was overemphasizing the "lobby."

TERM OPA PLAN UNFAIR

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special]—Auto dealers have been forced to use high pressure methods to resist the OPA's "inequitable and unfair" policy of requiring them to absorb part of higher production costs, Paul T. Graves, secretary of the Detroit Automobile Dealers association, said in a statement tonight.

"We think it is inequitable and unfair to disturb dealers' discounts [margins of profit] of long standing in the industry," Graves said. "To reduce them is to remove the profit possibilities and consequently put many dealers out of business.

Ford Opposes Margin Cut

"Price Administrator Bowles says we will recoup the loss by volume sales. How does he know how many cars will be manufactured? Our survey shows we will get comparatively few before spring."

In a letter to 7,000 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln dealers, J. R. Davis, director of sales of the Ford Motor company, said the company is opposed to a reduction of the dealer's profit margin and had "done everything possible" to prevent it.

It should be recognized that the dealers have a definite reconversion expense resulting from deterioration of plant facilities, Davis said, necessitating modernization and redecorating. They also have to earn the cost of supplies, parts, wages and general operating expenses, he said.

FEW CARS AVAILABLE

When Bowles announces automobile prices tomorrow there will be only about 730 new automobiles in the Chicago metropolitan district, and a large part of these will be held in dealer display rooms for show purposes. New cars are divided among dealers as follows: Buick, 33; Cadillac, 16; Chevrolet, 40; Pontiac, 330; Oldsmobile, 42; Ford, about 260, with more available almost at a moment's notice; and the Willys Jeep, 6. Cars are not yet on display by dealers of the Chrysler line, Hudson, Nash, Packard, and Studebaker.

National Tea Four Week Sales Increase 19 Pct.

National Tea company yesterday reported sales of $9,116,429 in the four weeks ended Nov. 3, compared with $7,656,733 a year earlier, an increase of 19.06 per cent. Total 1945 sales to Nov. 3 were $86,127,144, the highest in 10 years, against $83,728,202 a year earlier. The number of stores in operation decreased from 839 to 768.

Sloan Expects Rapid Rise in Car Deliveries

Shipments of General Motors corporation automobiles to dealers, begun in limited quantities early this month, should increase rapidly unless additional production delays develop, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, said yesterday in a message to stockholders. Physical reconversion of manufacturing facilities to peace time output in more than 100 plants is well under way and proceeding satisfactorily, altho material shortages and work interruptions in the third quarter slowed production.

"With the start made, production should be built to full capacity as rapidly as possible," Sloan said.

Faces Uncertainties

"The rate of production will depend upon the ability of the corporation to continue uninterrupted operations and the ability of its suppliers to continue to produce the essential supplies, materials, and parts. It should be recognized that the whole situation is filled with uncertainties."

Production in one G. M. division during September was reduced about 60 per cent below scheduled volume by strikes in the plants of outside suppliers of parts and equipment, 11 of which were closed all or part of the time during the month. Other divisions experienced similar difficulties, Sloan said.

Strikes Curtail Production

Sporadic strikes in some General Motors plants also were retarding factors. One at the Packard Electric division, which manufactures electrical wiring for G. M. autos and refrigerators, slowed production and curtailed employment in other divisions.

"General Motors is a highly integrated organization," Sloan said. "Production interruptions in a single plant or even in a single operation often result in production stoppages and unemployment in many other plants. Uninterrupted operation of all plants within the organization is essential to an expanding high level of employment."

FIBRE COMPANY NOTES, COMMON SHARES OFFERED

Union Securities corporation, E. H. Rollins & Sons, and associated underwriters today will offer 3½ million dollars of 15 year 4¼ per cent sinking fund debentures and 400,220 shares of $1 par common stock of the National Vulcanized Fibre company.

The debentures will be priced at 102½ per cent, and the stock at $15 a share. The sale marks the transition of the company from private to public ownership. The purposes of the financing were not announced.

A syndicate headed by Floyd D. Cerf company, Chicago, will offer at $5 a share 498,500 shares of class A common of Universal Camera corporation. Two hundred thousand shares are new financing, the balance holdings of officers and directors.

PERSONAL NEED HELD BIG FACTOR IN BOND CASHING

Current cashing of United States savings bonds appears to be almost solely for personal needs, a 15 day survey by the Industrial National bank of Chicago showed yesterday.

More than 63 per cent of those cashing bonds gave current expenses as the reason. This suggests job changes and labor difficulties as the principal cause, said Frank Anger, vice president.

World's Largest Private Building Is Sold

Sale of world's largest private office building was completed with transfer of title to the Merchandise Mart from Marshall Field & Co. to interests headed by Joseph P. Kennedy. Left to right, John J. Reynolds, New York broker, reported to have received $500,000 commission; George B. Skiffington, representing Kennedy; Holman D. Pettibone, president of Chicago Title and Trust company, in whose office transfer was effected; Hughston M. McBain, Field president, and John C. Goodall, who remains general manager of the Mart. Sale of Mart to Kennedy by Field Effected

BY AL CHASE

Sale of the Merchandise Mart by Marshall Field & Co. to interests headed by Joseph P. Kennedy of Boston, former ambassador to Great Britain, was completed yesterday in the offices of the Chicago Title & Trust company. Revenue stamps on the deed indicated the price was 16 million dollars. Title was conveyed by Hughston M. McBain, president of Field's, to George B. Skiffington of Jersey City, N. J., representing Kennedy.

Filed simultaneously with the deed was a 12½ million dollar, 4¾ per cent mortgage, secured by the Mart and to run 20 years. It was signed by Skiffington and made with the Equitable Life Assurance society. The amount of cash paid by the Kennedy group was not announced.

Management Staff Retained

The new owner has retained the present management and operating staff, headed by John C. Goodall as general manager. The building was reported to be nearly 100 per cent occupied, with more than 900 tenants and a daily working population of about 20,000 persons.

McBain announced that Field last Wednesday retired the $9,350,000 of 3 per cent first mortgage serial bonds secured by the Mart and due from 1945 to 1954, and that the remaining funded debt of the company, secured by the State st. store properties and due from 1946 to 1964, would be redeemed Friday with interest paid to Sunday. These 3.6 per cent bonds total 9.4 millions. The retirements will leave the company free of funded debt for the first time since 1925, he said.

Net Loss Put at 2½ Million

"The transaction, the largest real estate deal in Chicago in recent years, produces several benefits for the company," said McBain. "The management will be able to devote more time to its widespread retailing and manufacturing activities, and the retirement of the funded debt will greatly simplify and strengthen its financial structure. Also, the company's investment in fixed assets will be reduced from $52,300,000 to $31,600,000."

After federal tax allowances, which he did not estimate, McBain said the transaction involved a loss to the company of about 2½ million dollars. This loss will be charged to the 6 million contingency reserve created in prior years, and the company will remain in a strong cash position, he said.

Original Cost 31¼ Millions

Construction of the Mart, the world's largest privately owned office and business building, was completed in 1930 at a cost in land, air rights, and building of 31¼ million dollars. At the end of 1944 the property was carried on the company's books at depreciated cost of 21⅛ millions.

Kennedy entered into a purchase contract with Field's on July 21. John J. Reynolds, New York real estate broker who represented Kennedy, said the property will be operated along the same lines as in the past.

Winston, Strawn & Shaw was attorney for the buyer, and Wilson & McIlvaine for Field's. Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt and Herbert Becker were attorneys for Equitable Life.

ELECTRONIC DEVICE MAKES ANALYSIS OF METAL IN 40 SECONDS

Midland, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP)—An electronic device that converts the light of rainbows into electricity was announced today by the Dow Chemical company.

This new instrument, a spectrometer, reads the rainbow made from an electric spark generated on a piece of metal. This reading tells in 40 seconds the exact percentage of each alloy present in the metal.

The meter is a shortcut in use of the spectrograph in steel making and production of alloys. The spectrograph was borrowed a few years ago from physics and astronomy, in which it is used to identify atoms by the different color of light that each kind emits. It requires 15 to 30 minutes to analyze steel and alloys and replaced the former method of chemical analysis, requiring one to several hours.

The company said a high school graduate can be trained in one day to operate the spectrometer.

Power, Realty Stocks Spurt, but List Falls

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—A burst of speculative buying in low quoted utility and realty stocks today made market volume the second largest in six months, but late selling of rails and pivotal industrials pushed prices lower.

A reaction in commodities and Wall street belief that recent leadership—by "penny" issues—was of a questionable character inspired substantial profit cashing. Accounts also were trimmed on the idea that the climb to peaks for almost nine years called for a substantial technical correction. Inflation psychology, pressure of idle cash, dividends, and expectations of a business boom bolstered buying.

Trading quickened in the final hour as offerings cut down a number of pivotals 1 to 3 points. Transfers of 2,500,000 shares compared with 1,830,000 Friday and were the largest since June 28. Volume of 2,350,000 shares on the Curb against 1,360,000 on Friday was the largest since the 1929 crash when a record of 7,096,300 was established.

MISSOURI PACIFIC LIENS UP

New York, Nov. 13—(AP)—Medium priced rails led by an active list of Missouri Pacific issues advanced fractions to more than 2 points in the bond market today, but prices generally were mixed and some carriers lost a point or more. Missouri Pacific 5s of 1965, 1977, 1978, 1980, and 1981 all advanced 2 to 2½ points, but the general 4s slid off ⅞.

MARGIN ON RYE HIKED AGAIN TO CHECK UPSWING

Prices Bound, Then Dip in Big Trade

The minimum initial margin on rye futures transactions other than hedging or spreading were increased 10 cents to 35 cents a bushel yesterday by the directors of the Chicago Board of Trade in an effort to check the recent big advance in that grain. This is the second boost in margin requirements in the last two weeks during which December rye has advanced 29½ cents. The new margins will be effective today.

The Chicago action followed an increase by the council of the Winnipeg exchange which set new margin needs at 75 cents a bushel and ruled that fluctuations in futures, effective today, would be limited to 1 cent above or below the preceding close.

Rye Bounds and Slumps

December and May rye advanced the limit of 5 cents a bushel in the early trading, but reversed their action later. Winnipeg broke 10 cents a bushel from the top and unsettled other markets. Chicago December, after establishing a new 25 year high at $1.90½, broke to $1.84½, and finished at an average price of $1.85¼, up only ⅛ cent from Saturday. May rye ended 1⅞ cents lower.

July and September rye held at the ceiling of $1.44½. All deliveries of corn and December and May wheat held at the maximum. The distant wheat futures eased with rye, closing ⅝ to ¾ lower.

Heavy profit taking turned oats prices downward from new season peaks. Prices broke 4⅞ to 6¼ from the high and closed 3⅝ to 4⅜ lower, figured on the average closing price yesterday and Saturday, Barley was ¾ higher to ¼ lower.

Cash rye held at a big premium

Pullman Asks Approval for Sale to Roads

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—Pullman, Inc., today asked a special expediting court to approve sale of its sleeping car subsidiary, the Pullman company, to a group of 27 railroads for approximately 75 million dollars. The roads also filed a petition for court approval.

A hearing on the proposal will be held in United States District court Dec. 10, when three other would-be purchasers will be permitted to attack the proposed transaction.

Required by Monopoly Ruling

The sale was required under a court ruling that Pullman, Inc., held a monopoly in both building and operating sleeping cars.

Otis & Co., Cleveland banking firm associated with Robert R. Young, rail financier, and the states of California, Colorado, and Georgia, attacked the railroad proposal at a special hearing Nov. 5 and 6, contending the roads lacked initiative in effecting required modernization.

Besides the railroads, those seeking to purchase the sleepers were Otis & Co., Glore, Forgan & Co., Chicago investment banking firm, and Standard Steel Spring company of Coraopolis, Pa.

Take "Pullman's Own Terms"

George Wharton Pepper, Pullman counsel, said the roads withdrew a bid asking added depreciation credits and accepted "Pullman's own terms," offered in May, before any bids were submitted.

Major points in the railroad proposal were that competition would be furthered and rates reduced because each railroad would own and operate its own sleepers and try to outdo others in equipment and modernization.

QUIT UNSOUND GENERALIZING, WALLACE TOLD

Promotes Discord, Says Union Head

BY THOMAS FURLONG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13—Commerce Secretary Wallace was advised today by a labor union official to stop promoting industrial discord by making "unsound generalizations about wages and prices."

The admonition to Wallace, who is supporting the current wage demands of the CIO unions, came from Walter W. Cenerazzo, national president of the American Watch Makers union, an independent labor organization representing 8,000 employes of the Waltham, Hamilton, and Elgin National Watch companies.

Cenerazzo will appear as a witness tomorrow in the public hearing in connection with the national labor-management conference. The hearing was arranged to get the views of independent labor and business interests not represented at the conference.

Advised to Run Own Office

"The President of the United States should tell Mr. Wallace to start running the department of commerce and to take care of his facts and figures and to stop promoting industrial strife," Cenerazzo

114 STOCKS RATED "BUY"

Who Is STANDARD & POOR'S

Ever since 1860, this organization has assembled, analyzed, interpreted and published financial and investment information.

This vital material is used by virtually all large banks, security dealers, and increasing thousands of corporate and individual investors.

Since we cover continually thousands of widely held securities, we undertake a vast amount of fact-finding, research, statistical compilation and analysis.

We maintain groups of highly trained experts, each member being carefully chosen for background and knowledge of the industry to which he is assigned. We employ field investigators from coast to coast.

Corporate executives are interviewed regularly.

We secure important information of a type that never appears in newspapers or corporate statements.

Our own conclusions concerning every significant company are checked constantly with the men in closest touch with the problems we are investigating. In short . . .

Standard & Poor's is The Largest Statistical and Investment Advisory Organization in the World.

You can have this company's confidential list of 114 stocks rated BUY as a part of the special offer below.

We have literally put thousands of securities through the analytical sieve, discarding all but those which we consider outstandingly attractive. Recent prices of these 114 stocks showed: 9 selling under 20—44 between 20 and 50—61 above 50.

This Is Your Opportunity

We will send you this confidential "buy" list of 114 common stocks with a 3-months' trial subscription to THE OUTLOOK, a Service for Investors. It keeps you informed of important investment trends and developments and enables you to invest with added safety. It brings you definite advice . . .

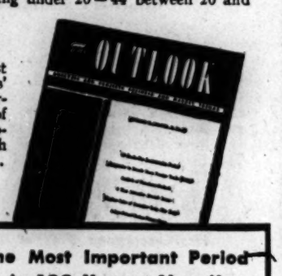
Reinvestment advice.



This Special Offer Brings You

in addition to THE OUTLOOK:

1. Standard & Poor's confidential Buy list of 114 common stocks.
2. A copy of S & P's Stock Guide which gives you valuable information and definite market opinions on well over 3,200 stocks—the most important issues listed on exchanges throughout the country and sold over the counter.
3. A Security Record for your stocks and other security holdings so that you can have at all times a complete and comprehensive picture of your holdings.

The Most Important Period in 100 Years—Ahead!

We have ahead of us in this country probably the most important period in 100 years . . . a "Good Times" era.

This period will witness a great industrial boom that will sweep us on to a higher standard of living than we have yet experienced. World trade will revive. New products will attain mass production. Venture capital will come out of hiding.

Corporate profits will rise to new peaks. Dividends will advance more sharply. Money rates will remain low.

All of this makes for a strong stock market. Indeed, we may witness buying and selling of securities on a scale that has not been approached since the days of pyramided margin accounts.

Why Prompt Action Should Enable You to Profit in the Second Phase of the Bull Market Which Appears Ahead

There are tremendous forces in existence which will spur this country into peacetime prosperity.

Anticipated buying power and demand of the American people will be translated into terms of corporation earnings which, in turn, are reflected in higher stock prices. Wise investors will appreciate this and lay the foundation now for future profits from common stocks.

What different kinds of assets will make up your estate?

Will your estate consist largely of stock in a closely held corporation? Or real estate? Interest in a partnership? A sole proprietorship? Or perhaps several of these different classes of assets?

Will there be enough money or liquid assets to pay expenses, and Federal estate and State inheritance taxes?

Will it be necessary or advisable to sell part, or all, of some assets—for tax or business or investment reasons?

Must management be provided to carry on in certain instances?

URGES FURTHER CUT IN TAX LOAD OF CORPORATION

Stiles Outlines Business Group's Proposals

A plea for further reduction of corporation taxes was made yesterday by James F. Stiles Jr., president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce and a member of the federal tax committee of the National Association of State Chambers of Commerce. He spoke at an economic conference sponsored by the Chicago chapter of Chartered Life Underwriters in the La Salle hotel.

The national association plan proposed that the combined surtax and normal corporate rate be reduced to 32 per cent. For corporations earning less than $40,000 yearly, it said the rate should be related to the individual income tax by imposing starting rates on the corporation and individual incomes at the same level.

Defeats Distributive Function

"I have said that I thought a corporation had only two principal purposes, the first being to provide the mechanism by which economic values are created and distributed, and the second to redistribute economic purchasing power in the form of wages and dividends," Stiles said. "Naturally, any added burden that comes between those two functions reduces the effectiveness of the corporation."

The best thinking of business men at this time indicates that 32 per cent is the maximum tax that may be imposed on corporations in a peace time economy, he said, and asked for further reduction later "to remove as many restraints as possible from the producing source of our national income."

Stiles also advocated alleviation of the effects of double taxation of dividends. When the seller has practically no competition and a market for all he can produce, such as existed during the war, it can be rightly argued that the big share of the federal income tax was passed on to the ultimate consumer, he said.

Little of Tax Enters Price

In a peace time market where competition is free and the buyer controls the price and quantity of the merchandise he wants, very little of the income tax is passed on.

For that reason the national association suggested that "after computing taxes on one's personal income, including taxable dividends received from domestic corporations subject to the income tax, shareholders should be allowed to deduct from the taxes a credit of 16 per cent of such dividends." This is the rate of the basic tax on individual income proposed in its program.

CONVERTIBLE PREFERRED

Please tell me what conversion privilege pertains to Carrier corporation preferred stock.—A. O.

Holders of Carrier corporation's $2.25 cumulative preferred stock [$50 par] are entitled to convert it into common stock at the rate of one common share for each $20 par value of preferred—that is: 2½ common shares for 1. After Oct. 31, 1949, the rate is reduced to 2 common shares for 1 preferred. The conversion right ends after Oct. 31, 1954, or on the redemption date if the stock is called earlier for redemption.

The issue is redeemable at $54 a share thru Nov. 1, 1946, and at lower prices thereafter. Of the 70,000 preferred shares originally sold in 1944, 3,850 shares had been converted as of last Aug. 31.

This year's rise in the market price to above 76 is based on the conversion privilege, and accordingly the stock is at a speculative level. The dividend yield at those prices was less than 3 per cent. The rise in the preferred reflected the upswing in the common. Common share earnings of this air conditioning equipment maker increased from 5 cents in 1939 to $1.73 in 1943 and $2.83 in 1944 [for fiscal years ended Oct. 31]. The 1944 profit was subject to possible renegotiation refund.

GRAIN FUTURES END IRREGULAR IN BROAD TRADE

Rye Bounds, Slumps with Winnipeg

over cash wheat, 19½ cents at New York and as much as 24 cents at Minneapolis, with the demand reported slow. A lake ship with 101,000 bushels of Canadian rye arrived at Chicago Saturday presumably for shipment to distillers. Buying for distillers has been the larger part of the outlet for cash rye recently, being used in place of unobtainable corn and grain sorghum.

Oats futures sold within 1¾ cents of the ceiling early when offerings were light, but later Minneapolis started to break as the result of purchases of 1½ million bushels or more cash oats for deferred shipment from the country and the market was in no condition to withstand the increased pressure.

La Salle National Reports Large Deposit Increase

The La Salle National bank will complete five years of operation in the Field building today. Deposits have increased sevenfold, well above the national average, said C. Ray Phillips, president. Total customers have increased threefold, and commercial customers fourfold. The bank recently set aside $200,000 from earnings to increase surplus to $600,000, equal to its capital.

CEASE UNSOUND GENERALIZING, WALLACE TOLD

said in an interview. "The policy preached by Wallace that industry can afford substantial wage increases without higher prices can only bring discord.

"No national policy on wages can be established that will cover all industries or all plants. Collective bargaining will obtain for the workers their fair share of the profit as it has in the past, provided the union leadership has been elected by democratic methods and has the support of the members."

Proposes New Federation

Cenerazzo also had some advice for the CIO and AFL which he said represent only one-fifth of the nation's workers and cannot speak for all labor. He proposed that a third national labor federation be formed by the independent unions and that all unions agree to bar from their ranks members of the Communist party who are dedicated to the overthrow of the government.

Five independent organizations, including Cenerazzo's, will be heard from in the hearings beginning tomorrow. Results of these hearings will be transmitted to the executive committee of the conference before any program is voted upon.

Dr. George W. Taylor, conference secretary, reported today progress was being made by the committees working on various phases of the agenda. He said some of the committees may be ready to report later in the week.

No Stand on Murray Plan

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and a management delegate, said that the management group has not yet taken a formal stand on the resolution offered last week by CIO President Philip Murray asking for a declaration on wage policy. This issue is expected to be threshed out by the executive committee in the next 48 hours.

LAUD PIONEERS FOR AIDING AUTO INDUSTRY'S RISE

Pioneer automobile racing car drivers, designers, and builders were praised for their contributions to the automotive industry at a dinner of the Chicago section of the Society of Automotive Engineers last night in the Knickerbocker hotel commemorating the 50th anniversary of the first auto race in the United States—from Jackson park to Evanston in 1895.

Fred E. Moskovics, industrial consultant of the A. O. Smith corporation of Milwaukee and former president of the Stutz Motor Car company, mentioned Henry Ford as an early racing car driver, Charles Schmidt, designer of one of the first Packard motor cars, and J. Frank Duryea, winner of the Chicago race.

PRICES OF LIVE STOCK FIRM; HOG SUPPLIES BIGGER

Markets for all classes of meat animals were firm yesterday as fewer cattle and lambs and more hogs were sent to market. Broad demand kept hog prices at the ceilings.

Brisk bidding held nearly all choice steers and heifers at the $18 ceiling. Steady to strong prices prevailed for beef cows, canners, cutters, calves, and bulls.

The lamb supply sold at steady prices in a lively trade.

WARNS FACTORY TO ABATE FUMES OR SHUT DOWN

Judge Gives Concern a Week to Change

Judge Francis Borrelli of the Municipal court yesterday warned H. Kramer & Co., 1359 W. 21st st., producers of brass and bronze ingots, to abate an alleged fumes nuisance as far as possible within the next week or to close down.

The case was continued to next Tuesday pending the return of Carl Thieme, company vice president, who is in New York on government business as a member of the war department's overseas advisory board for scrap.

150 Press Complaints

About 150 neighborhood residents were in court to press an information charging the company with contaminating the air with zinc oxide fumes. No actual trial was held, but about 20 testified informally without taking oath. In general, they asserted the fumes menaced their children's health. A druggist declared the fumes caused many respiratory ailments. Assistant State's Atty. John Phillips charged that the zinc dust killed gardens and trees.

The H. Kramer & Co. plant

The company sought a month's continuance, but Judge Borrelli cut it to a week and directed that in that time the fumes problem must be abated.

Would Make 310 Idle

The company protested that this could not be done in a week whereupon Judge Borrelli retorted, "Then close the place up!"

The judge's remark was construed as meaning a shutdown, which would throw 310 persons, including 25 returned war veterans, out of jobs. Judge Borrelli last night disclaimed that intent, saying the limit of his jurisdiction would be to impose a fine. His sole intention, he added, was to get the Kramer company to reduce its fume output swiftly.

Charges Hearing Denied

Edward H. Murnane, company lawyer, charged that the company was denied a hearing. He said the only order issued was for a continuance, not for a shutdown. He has so advised the management. Employes will report for work as usual this morning, at which time Earl S. Schwartz and other executives will determine whether or not to remain open.

Murnane and Schwartz said that the fumes are not injurious to health, that the fumes escaping are only a fraction of the entire volume, and that elimination would be complete but for a government denial of additional smoke arresting equipment based on federal findings that the fumes are not harmful.

Gets to Court

Mrs. Theresa Malinowicz with her son, Ronald, 2, in court yesterday. [TRIBUNE Photo]

Mrs. Theresa Malinowicz, 31, of 2216 S. Spaulding av., got to court yesterday despite her husband's threat to break her leg so she couldn't walk, she told Judge Edwin A. Robson in Superior court.

"He said he would fix me so I couldn't walk into court," she said, in response to questioning by Philip L. Howard, her attorney. "He didn't want me to file my separate maintenance suit."

Judge Robson granted $25 a week temporary alimony and child support for Ronald, 2, and Peter, 9. He issued an injunction restraining her husband, Peter, 33, a machinist, from molesting her.

TRIBUNE HELPS TO BRIDGE WAR GAP IN FAMILY

Mrs. Helena Clayton, 5510 Dorchester av., advertising agency employe, yesterday received a letter from her brother, Maj. Michael Mullard, 45, formerly of the Estonian army, of whom she had not heard since 1939.

Maj. Mullard is in a displaced persons camp in Landshut, Bavaria. His letter was forwarded to THE TRIBUNE by Pvt. Robert C. Goldberg of the American military government.

Mrs. Clayton, whose husband, Maj. John, a former Tribune correspondent, is at Fort Dix, N. J., is trying to locate her mother, Katherine, and two other brothers, Roman, 40, and Edward, 42, who were in Tallin, Estonia, before the war.

INVITE TRANSIT BOARD TO ENTER WEST SUBURBS

Officials of four west suburban villages yesterday appeared at an open hearing of the metropolitan transit authority and asked it to do something about the Chicago and West Towns Railway company. They condemned as "deplorable" service given by this street car-bus line operating in 26 suburbs.

Stuart W. Cochran, president of the village of Oak Park; George E. Woods, attorney for River Forest; Earle K. Broberg, mayor of Maywood, and Ben F. Langworthy, attorney for Bellwood, agreed that the suburbs were "thoroly dissatisfied with the service and management" of the lines.

Village Wants Revenue

"Speaking for Oak Park," Cochran said, "I feel that we have two things to accomplish. The first is to get revenue for our village and the second is to get better service. The West Towns company now proposes to substitute a number of buses for street cars, but there is nothing in their proposals saying anything about revenue for the villages.

"We have discussed a separate municipal corporation, under this body [the transit authority] to acquire this property and pay for it out of future operations."

Must Pass Ordinance

Philip Harrington, chairman of the authority, explained that the authority does not have any funds except an interim grant which is supposed to last until the Chicago traction properties it will take over begin to produce revenue, and therefore could not make a thoro engineering study of the West Towns system.

He suggested that first a municipality must vote to join the authority, then it must pass an ordinance granting the authority power to operate lines within its limits.

The meeting was informal and the authority took no definite action on the request, altho Harrington told the suburban spokesmen to "come back any time."

Mother of Two Pleads Guilty of Mail Theft

Mrs. Shirley Jendrey, 23, of 1422 Bosworth av., who said her estranged husband, Chester, has not contributed to the support of her two children in 22 months, pleaded guilty yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker to a charge of stealing a $25.08 relief check from a mail box in her apartment building. She was bound to the federal grand jury and released without bond.

$39,500 FRAUD CASE CONTINUES

Thomas Mulvaney, who said he was 56, of 1200 N. Clark st., and Edward J. Doherty, 57, of 1800 N. Clark st., charged with obtaining $39,500 thru the sale of worthless oil stock in Des Moines, Ia., were granted a continuance to Nov. 27 by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday in their extradition hearing.

No Late Hours

DALE EVANS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP)—Dale Evans, Texas film actress, was granted a divorce today from her composer husband, Robert Butts, on her plea that he kept her up too late.

"Because I am in pictures," she testified, "I have to get up very early—5:30 in the morning. He would get mad because I couldn't go out with him. When I did, he would keep me out too late and I couldn't do my best work at the studio the next day."

They were married in Dallas in 1937.

PARK POLICE STUDY FOR FIGHT ON DELINQUENCY

The Chicago park district will open a school of instruction in coping with juvenile delinquency for park patrolmen and policewomen this morning in the park administration building.

Seven policewomen and 26 patrolmen will attend the first course, which will last six days and deal with all aspects of juvenile delinquency and its prevention. Sgt. William Szarat of the police staff said a youth bureau would be established eventually to train all policemen to handle youth problems.

Blaine Hoover, superintendent of employment, said establishment of the school is the first step in a program to use all park facilities to combat juvenile delinquency.

2 Park District Heroes Cited and Awarded $50

Two park district laborers, Charles Murray, 54, of 844 W. 51st pl., and John Rushala, 58, of 4554 S. Francisco av., were cited by the park board yesterday for "an act of bravery far beyond their line of duty" in rescuing a woman who attempted suicide Oct. 27 in Washington park lagoon. The board also voted Murray and Rushala a $50 honorarium.

MERCHANTS ASK CAPITOL AID TO GET NAVY PIER

An appeal to the Illinois delegation in congress to lend its assistance in prevailing upon the navy to vacate Navy pier at a date earlier than is now scheduled was made yesterday by the business firms comprising the Chicago Convention bureau.

The appeal was made so that Chicago's rapidly increasing schedule of big trade shows may not be put into jeopardy.

Sherman J. Sexton, food firm executive and president of the bureau, set before the Illinois delegation a statement citing what continued navy tenancy at the pier means to the city in loss of business and employment. He was acting on a unanimous recommendation by the organization's board of directors.

Dates Set for Trade Shows

"When hostilities with Japan ended, it had been expected that the navy radio technician school at the pier would be terminated in approximately six months," Sexton said.

"On that understanding, several big trade shows laid plans to hold their exhibits here in 1946. Latest reports from the navy department that it will not close the school for another 12 months may force many of these trade shows to transfer their exhibits to other cities."

Four of the biggest shows whose engagements are being made doubtful are the American Road Builders, Dairy Industries Supply associations, Automotive Service Industries, and the National Machine Tool Builders.

Boost for Chicago Business

If held here as originally planned, these four events are expected to attract a combined out-of-the-city attendance of more than 115,000 persons, the bureau said.

From a cash register point of view, they will enrich Chicago business and pay rolls by 90 million dollars.

Copies of the convention bureau's arguments will be presented to Mayor Kelly and the city council. The mayor has been endeavoring for some time to prevail on navy officials to set an early closing date for their pier activities.

The contention of the business firms in the bureau is that the need for any expansive radio training program is a thing of the past, and the navy could operate its school in one of its own properties without any detriment to its program.

The navy pays $60,000 rent annually for the pier. It trains naval radio operators and aviation machinists mates in the school. More than 5,000 students are in training at present, the navy said.

RADIO, COAT, SHOES STOLEN

Burglars stole a radio, trench coat, and a pair of shoes, valued at $50, from the apartment of Richard Adams, 5235 Greenwood av., Adams complained to police yesterday.

1,600 CITY GARBAGE CANS GIVEN FREE TO COMBAT RAT PERIL

Distribution of 1,600 new garbage cans was begun yesterday in an area bounded by Division st., Pershing rd., the lake, and Halsted st. The cans, given by the city, were the first allotment of 30,000 purchased at a cost of $113,000. The rest of the 32 gallon cans are expected next month. The purpose is to determine the efficiency of suitable garbage cans in curbing the rat menace, said Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity. All cans are marked "Property of the City of Chicago."

ASK WAUKEGAN CHIEF'S OUSTER IN BOOK HOLDUP

Mayor Frank G. Wallin of Waukegan was asked by Ald. Walter Tannahill [7th] to demand the resignation of Chief of Police Bart Tyrrell at last night's city council meeting.

The request grew out of the $10,000 holdup by five gunmen of a handbook at 118 Washington st., Waukegan, last Thursday, which again brought to public notice Waukegan's practice of permitting three handbooks to operate, but subjecting the owner of each to a monthly arrest and $200 fine.

Mayor Wallin made no reply to Tannahill during the council meeting. Later he said that Tyrrell was an efficient chief of police and that he would not ask him to resign.

Ald. Ernest Luke [6th] voiced a demand for a grand jury investigation of gambling in Waukegan, and said that the revenue to the city treasury resulting from the monthly fines could be replaced by a tax of .8 of a mill.

Ald. Frank Hough [6th] also opposed the licensing of gambling by fines.

Five victims of the bookie holdup viewed nine prisoners in a Chicago police showup yesterday without identifying any of them as the bandits. One of the nine was John Joseph Williams, 30, of 5623 S. Mozart st., reputed south side gambling power, acquitted in December, 1943, of slaying Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, another gambling figure.

ROBNETT WINS FIGHT AGAINST SNOOP IN TRIAL

Judge Walter J. La Buy in federal District court yesterday ruled that George Washington Robnett, executive secretary of the Church League of America, need not reveal the names of contributors to the league, but must disclose details of its financial setup.

The ruling was made in Robnett's $100,000 libel suit against E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc., publisher of the book "Under Cover."

Trial of the case entered its second week with Robnett as an adverse witness for the defense being questioned by Lloyd D. Heth, defense attorney. The ruling came after a clash between Heth and Harry S. Ditchburne, Robnett's attorney, on the latitude to be granted to Heth in inquiring into the league's financial affairs. Judge La Buy had excused the jury to hear the argument.

Opposes Snoop Expedition

"I object to the obvious trend of Mr. Heth's questioning," said Ditchburne. "First, this question about income; then, he expects to ask the names of contributors. This is nothing but a fishing expedition into the intimate records of this organization. It is an attempt to pry and snoop into the Church League of America. It is an encroachment into the privacy of men who are trying to do good for the country."

When Judge La Buy indicated that his ruling might favor revelation of contributors to the league, Ditchburne insisted that he be permitted to argue at length and cite cases.

Libel Only Issue, Lawyer Says

"The only issue of facts in this trial," he said, "is whether the charges of quisling and treason on the jacket of this book are true, whether the charges of anti-semitism against my client are true, and how much damage should be assessed against the defendant for publishing false and libelous statements.

"My client has been charged with being anti-semitic. For that reason, he has been subjected to attack and has been injured. If the names of all the contributors to the league are made public, they will be subject to the same attacks and the same injury. Members of the Friends of Democracy and the Anti-Defamation league could and many probably would react unfavorably to these individuals. There is the strong likelihood of boycott in the instance of many."

At the opening of the day's session, Robnett presented an amended schedule of the league's deposits from 1937, when it was founded, to date. Deposits in 1937 were $3,175; in 1938, $4,079.50; in 1939, $3,837.50; in 1940, $8,174; in 1941, $6,685.60; in 1942, $6,107; in 1943, $13,865.05, and in 1944, $13,836.46.

DENIES STEALING BUTTER, CHEESE FOUND IN AUTO

Ernest W. Poole, 32, of 1624 N. Leavitt st., arrested yesterday by federal agents who said they found 1,800 pounds of stolen cheese and several hundred pounds of butter in his car, pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker to a charge of stealing from interstate shipments.

Ernest W. Poole

George R. McSwain, Chicago chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said Poole has been making regular trips to Chicago with cheese and butter stolen from railroad cars in Spring Green, Wis. He said Poole served two years in federal prison on a conviction of interstate theft in Michigan. Poole was released yesterday in bond of $2,500 for trial Nov. 23.

FORMER CAPONE AID SOUGHT IN FORGERY TRIAL

Anthony [Tough Tony] Capezio, alleged gambler and former member of the old Capone gang, is being sought by the state's attorney's office, it was disclosed yesterday, as a witness in the trial of Louis D. Marshall, 30, formerly of 1939 Cleveland av., on a charge of forgery.

Assistant State's Atty. C. Vernon Thompson said one of Marshall's checks, for $2,115, was cashed by Capezio at a bank, and two others—for $1,115 and $1,175—were cashed thru a suspected gambling house with which Capezio is reported to be associated.

Marshall served four years in the Joliet penitentiary on two robbery convictions, and was paroled in 1941 when Erwin Millet, owner of a machine works at 455 N. Artesian av., offered him a job as bookkeeper. When Marshall quit last March, an audit disclosed a shortage of approximately $30,000 in his accounts. His case was continued yesterday to Nov. 19 by Judge Charles E. Byrne in Criminal court.

Swift Offices Picketed in Protest on Dismissal

Eight pickets were placed at the entrance to Swift & Co.'s general office building at 42d st. and Packers av. yesterday by local 28-A of the United Packinghouse Workers [CIO] in protest against the dismissal of Johann Costel, a washroom attendant, who happened to be president of the local. The union contends he was dismissed because of union activity. The company says he was dismissed Sept. 12 for insubordination.

THIEVES TAKE SPARE WHEEL

Edwin Kennelly, 5737 Division st., told police yesterday that thieves took a spare wheel and tire from his automobile in front of 1057 N. Francisco av.

Gentlemen, has the well known question mark "?" appeared before you and you can't shake it off? If there is a question as to why you can't locate your position, give me a chance to help you; erase that confused situation from your mind. You invest 30 minutes of your time, I will educate my services which spells in my business, co-operation. Without that, my friends, that question mark situation will remain with you. Of course, you are the judge as to what you want your future to be.
